

TWO MILLION WILL BE SPENT IN TRIAL OF THE McNAMARAS

Los Angeles Officials Give Estimate of Expected Outlay.

McMANIGAL KEEPS A SULLEN SILENCE

Trouble Is Feared Tonight When Labor Mass Meeting Is Held.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 1.—That the trial of the men charged with complicity in the destruction with dynamite of the Los Angeles Times will cost approximately $2,000,000, was the statement by attorneys at the district attorney's office today. Each side it was pointed out, stands ready to spend unlimited sums in the prosecution and defense of the two McNamaras and McManigal. The court costs will run up in the thousands of dollars expended in bringing witnesses and evidence here, and in other necessary expenses.

Already detectives hired by the unions have been sent to watch the detectives of the Burns Agency and of the city. It is understood that this will be continued until the trial begins, and longer if found expedient.

With the arrival of Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union, who is expected here tomorrow morning, definite plans for the defense will be begun. It is understood that, despite reports to the contrary, District Attorney Fredricks will not attempt to arraign the men in the morning, but should he do so, attorneys for the defense will ask for delay.

The accused men spent a quiet Sunday in their cells at the Los Angeles Jail. They showed any desire to attend any of the several religious services held in the building, and no attempt was made to suggest them to leave the jail. McManigal amused himself through the long hours by playing solitaire with a pack of cards provided by the jailer. McManigal's usual newspaper, the Los Angeles Times, was not even to the attendant who brought his meals.

Labor Leader Cheerful. John J. McNamara alone appeared cheerful. His day was occupied with reading. He sent out for several magazines. Among them was a technical magazine containing an account of the effects of a recent dynamite explosion in Wisconsin. Over this the labor leader spent much of the morning, evidently much interested in the details of the article. He asked for and ate a hearty dinner.

The Burns men today began working with detectives of the district attorney's office in an effort to discover the boy who saw the Times wreckers in that building the night of the explosion. It was not until McManigal made his confession here that it was known the boy encountered any one on their errand of death. Now it is thought that they met an old watchman who was known to both of these, but so far the detectives have met with no success, and the opinion is being expressed that neither of them were destroyed in the explosion and fire.

The witnesses will be called here by the district attorney's office in an effort still further to identify James McManigal as James B. Bryce. More than twenty persons who are believed to have been summoned, and it is probable that many of them will arrive here in the morning.

Fear a Demonstration. Fear of May Day demonstrations stirred the authorities to take unusual precautions this morning. The city being filled up with union men yesterday, and the crowd that has been hanging about the neighborhood of the jail increased to such proportions that additional police reserves were called upon by the police.

The crisis will come tonight, when a mass meeting, arranged for by the Burns leaders, but declared to be independent of the unions, will assemble at the Labor Temple. Its ostensible object is to formulate plans for raising funds for the defense and denouncing the "kidnaping" of John J. McNamara.

It is understood that Frederick Wheeler, a carpenter and the socialist candidate for mayor at the recent election, will be the chief speaker at the meeting. He is a fiery talker, and it is believed, is preparing a bitter attack on the prosecution.

Nationwide Strike Planned as Protest By Leaders of Labor

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—A general strike, which shall include every worker in every industry in the United States who can be induced to join was proposed by William D. Haywood, formerly treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, at a socialist meeting in the headquarters of the Central Trades and Labor Union, to be launched as a protest by the workers against what the socialists call the "capitalist conspiracy" against John J. McNamara, accused of complicity in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times plant with dynamite.

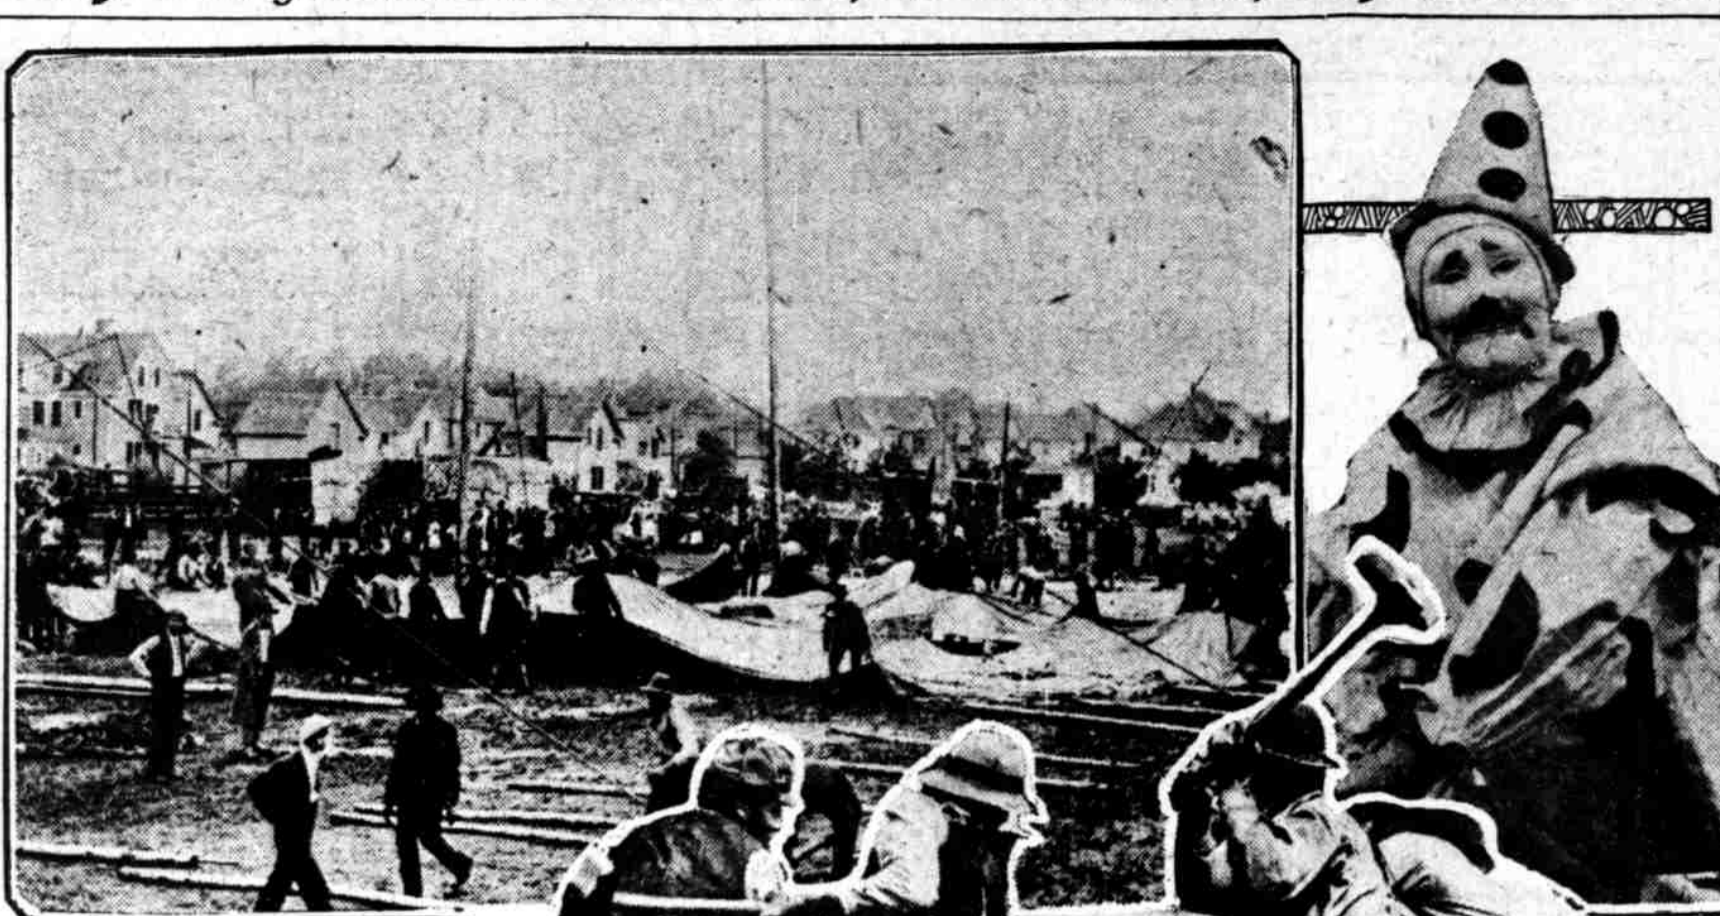

The suggestion met with an enthusiastic response, and, following Haywood's address, the meeting immediately resolved to carry out the plan to carry the strike propaganda to the workers of St. Louis. The day set for McNamara's trial is to be the day of the strike.

The meeting was the first public occasion for the announcement of the plan, but it is not absolutely new in socialist and labor circles. Haywood said, as the Industrial Workers of the World, in their organization in Chicago, are already at work on the scheme.

Haywood attained his greatest prominence as an officer of the Western Federation of Miners and was launched as a defendant in the murder case brought against him, Pettibone, and Meyer growing out of the killing of Governor Stearnmont Auxiliary To Aid Consumptives

The ladies of Stearnmont Auxiliary will give a benefit theater party in aid of consumptives at the Columbia Theater on the evening of Tuesday, May 15. Tickets are on sale at Reeves, 1209 F street northwest; Gude Bros, 1214 F street, and Ramsey's, 1521 F street.

Early Morning Scenes on Circus Grounds, and Sadie Stevens, Only Woman Clown

SPREADING THE BIG ROUND TOP.

LACK OF SIGNALS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF JERSEY WRECK

Track Repairers Said to Have Failed to Warn Approaching Train.

EARTON, Pa., May 1.—Failure of a section foreman to place a green flag to warn the engineer to proceed with caution is alleged today to have been the cause of Saturday's fatal railroad wreck at Martins Creek, N. J., in which eleven lives were lost. The section hands were repairing the track, and while some say that the regular signal of caution was shown, others, including Fireman Parsons, of the train, insist no signal was set.

The wreck was caused by the heavy train spreading the rails. Statistics gathered today have increased the known number of dead from six to eleven. Five of these have been positively identified. Others were so badly burned or mutilated when the train plunged from the rails on a curve that even their sex may never be determined.

From reports on conditions of the injured who are being cared for in Easton Hospital, it is said today that three, and probably four or five, may die of their terrible hurts or burns before the day is over. The revised list of identified dead made today follows: HENRY WILMER, baggage master, Trenton.

CHARLES M. PEARSON, conductor, Stroudsburg, Pa. GEORGE PARSONS, fireman, Lambertville, N. J. ELMORE RUTHERFORD, Utica, N. J. W. VANCEY, engineer, Trenton, N. J. The unidentified dead are believed to be:

RESSIE WALKER, Utica. LOUISE LINDAMAN, Utica. SISAN SESSONS, Utica. SARA JONES, Utica. MARY ALLEN, Utica. SOPHIA KOEHL, Utica. The missing, probably dead: Joseph B. Ruppel, tourist agent for the Pennsylvania railroad. The probably fatally injured are: Carrie Rutherford, Utica. August E. Leight, New Hartford. The injured who are in the hospital, but will recover: Francis Hall, Waterville, N. Y. Bertha Hall, Waterville, N. Y. Minnie Schwabe, 196 South street, Utica.

Frederick E. Schwabe, 166 South street, Utica. Katherine Baynes, Utica. Mary E. Candon, 89 Lansing street, Utica. Creed Lindaman, Utica. According to Fireman Parsons, the wreck was due to a weak track at the turn. Parsons, when revived for a few minutes, said: "As the engine hit the ties on the curve, I felt them give. Escaping steam as the engine went over scalded me and I lost consciousness for a moment. I am positive that I felt the giving of the ties."

Parsons was too weak this morning to be questioned by investigators of the disaster, but this afternoon an effort will be made to get a fuller statement from him.

Company Not Liable for Overflow Waste Water

Owners of real estate must protect their own lands against overflow of waste water and cannot recover damages against persons owning property from which the water flows, according to a decision today of the District Court of Appeals.

A verdict for $900 Mrs. Mary A. Thomas secured against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for alleged damage to her property is set aside by the Appellate Court, declaring the company is not liable for damages caused by waste water flowing from its right-of-way.

The opinion of Justice Robb says the common law rule imposing a duty upon property owners to care as best they can of overflows upon their land is in force in the District, under an opinion of the United States Supreme Court, written by Justice Brewer.

To Examine Dog That Attacked and Bit Negro

Experts of the Bureau of Animal Industry will be called on to examine a bull terrier dog that attacked a negro, Henry Plunkett, at Thirteenth and Wallace streets yesterday, and died a few minutes later. The negro was bitten on the leg. The dog was the property of August Fluerg, of 180 Thirteenth street northwest.

GANG DRIVING THE FIRST STAKE.

VETERAN AIDS GIRL "MAN OF THE HOUSE"

Soldiers' Home Inmate Sends Dollar to Eva Sewell, 1213 Eleventh Street Southeast, Who Still Has Faith in Deserting Father.

By SELENE ARMSTRONG. Is it ten-year-old Eva Sewell—the man of the house—you're looking for again today?

Then push open the big wooden door next to the bakery and you find yourself in the dark little alley that is the entrance to Eva's home at 1213 Eleventh street southeast. Mount the rickety stairs leading to the second floor back, and you have now reached a still more rickety balcony which is not the place to quote "Romeo, Romeo," but to ask for Eva Sewell.

Her grandmother will request you to be seated until Eva comes in from an errand, for a ten-year-old girl who keeps the family together while her father deserts, must run numerous errands, of course. And now, see the home which frail little Eva Sewell, with the body of the will of the wisest, and the heart of a strong man, is determined to keep together. It consists of three dingy rooms into which none of the spring sunshine finds its way. The breakfast table, unsteady on its legs, has not been cleared of its empty plates, some remaining hunks of bread, and a few battered spoons.

Scene of Destitution. A small cook stove, unused because the price of coal is not within reach of a family whose husband and father has deserted, stands in one corner of the room, and in the other a dilapidated lounge with an old quilt for covering, adds another hideous note of destitution to the squalid scene.

Which is why the old grandmother thinks she's a queer child—always a hunk. "Eva hasn't done her usual house-keeping today," explains the infirm grandmother in apology for the disorder and uncleanness of the place. "And her mother?" "Hush-sh-sh-sh!" says the old woman in a sort of frenzy of fear. "If Eva should hear you! You see, her mother's out today looking for a home to put her in, and we don't want her to know it till the last minute. She's a queer sort o' child, dreamy like, and always hopin'."

"Let's Hold Out Together." "Now, her father's been gone well-nigh onto five weeks, and she still says he's coming back. That's why she goes out on errands with such a good heart, and why her courage hasn't given out once in all this time. She believes he's coming back, and she keeps on a saying to her mother: "Let's hold together, ma, let's hold together."

"She thinks she can be the man of the house until my daughter's husband gets back and she don't seem to be able to realize what a deserter he is."

Why, of course not! For at that very moment, a light step was heard on the rickety stairs, and while the grandmother was still lifted in a warning for silence, the flower-like face of Eva Sewell appeared at the door. "I'm too little to get very much work," she explained to me, "but I guess you've heard it said that every little bit makes a little bit more. I'm sure my papa must have just got tired and gone off to rest, for it ain't any easy job, is it, the staking care of a family?"

Believes No Wrong of Father. And, seating herself quite primly on the remaining shaky and uncertain chair, Eva Sewell proceeded to deliver a preachment on the many virtues of her runaway father, whom she adores, and of whom she will believe no evil.

"I'm sure he's coming back," she says, with a pathetic smile, "though it does seem a long time waiting. You see, he always had a homin'!" muttered the old grandmother again. And little Eva's hope was justified today—to some extent, at least. An

BRASS BANDS AND CIRCUS PAGEANTRY STIR JUVENILE JOY

Ringlings' Big Parade Toots Its Way Through Streets of Capital.

Even the small boy who could not hope to go to the circus this afternoon was in his element this morning, for the circus came to him. Promptly at 10 o'clock the first big gilt band wagon rolled out of the Ringling Brothers' circus grounds at Fifteenth and H streets northeast. The drum major twirled his baton, cornets shrilled, big bass horns tooted in echo, and the parade was on.

And it was some parade. There was three miles of it, and when the steam callope, with its whistled tunes, at the end of the procession, was turning from Fifteenth street into the Avenue by the Treasury, the drum major was just entering the Capitol grounds. There were gilt wagons galore, and so many bands that one became mixed up on the lines. There were many wild animal cages, also, and acrobats astride of wonderful trick horses.

The small boy missed none of the parade. The line of march extended from the circus grounds out Maryland avenue to B street northwest, to New Jersey avenue, to Massachusetts avenue, to K, passing out west to Twenty-second street, then back on Pennsylvania avenue to F street, to Maryland avenue and back to the tents.

The Treasury steps and Lafayette Park were the popular places for the crowd to gather, although as a matter of fact, some of the youngsters followed the parade all the way.

The circus grounds were crowded all day yesterday with a curious crowd. In the afternoon, when the animals in the big menagerie tent were fed, all the children accompanied by their parents were admitted free of charge, and the round of the cages was made with interest.

When the doors opened at 1 o'clock an immense throng was on hand for the opening performance, which began promptly at 2 o'clock. This evening the doors will open at 7 o'clock and the performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

Bankers, in Convention, Debate Aldrich Scheme

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 1.—Leading bankers from all the big cities in the country assembled here today to attend the spring meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers' Association, which plans to consider the Aldrich plan for monetary reform.

Today's sessions were devoted to closing up the routine business in order that the remainder of the week might be utilized for thorough discussion of suggested amendments to the Aldrich plan prepared by the currency committee of the association.

Tonight J. P. Forgan, the Chicago banker, will open the discussion on the Aldrich plan.

J. F. Greiner, Retired Broker, Dies in Hospital

John F. Greiner, a retired stock broker, seventy years old, died yesterday afternoon in the Emergency Hospital. Death was due to senility.

Mr. Greiner for many years had been a familiar figure around the National Hotel, where he lived. He was personally acquainted with many prominent men of this city, and had lived in Richmond twenty-five years ago.

The reason Mr. Greiner gave for living in Washington was that he liked to read in the Library of Congress. He was a daily visitor there.

Dewey Is Celebrating Manila Bay Anniversary

Admiral Dewey today received congratulatory messages from friends and naval officers all over the world upon the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Manila Bay.

Tonight he will entertain at dinner according to his custom, all the officers who were with him at Manila who are now in or near Washington.

I. T. BURDEN, JR., WILL WED MISS SHEEDY JUNE SEVENTEENTH

Missouri Catholic Bishop to Officiate at Wedding of Millionaire's Daughter.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The marriage of Florence Sheedy, daughter of Dennis Sheedy, the multi-millionaire of Denver, and I. Townsend Burden, jr., of New York, will take place Saturday, June 17.

The ceremony will be performed at the Sheedy mansion in Denver, Bishop M. F. Burke, of the diocese of Missouri, a noted prelate in the Roman Catholic faith and a great uncle of the bride-to-be, officiating.

Mr. Burden is a non-Catholic, and, therefore, no nuptial mass will be sung in a church. He has, however, agreed to the laws of the church regarding marriage, and the wedding will take place at the home of the bride. The details of the wedding as yet have not been completed.

Florence Sheedy is noted for her beauty. She is tall, graceful, and possessed of that invigorating charm peculiar to Western girls. She will start for home about the middle of May.

Ruptured People—Try This for Relief and Cure

Here is something you can try without having to risk a single cent of your money—which has cured—in the last twenty-three years—thousands of ruptured people.

Something so strengthening to the ruptured parts that you can work right along while being cured—If you don't find yourself getting better after trying a Cluthe Truss—If you don't think it's doing you a lot of good—making a new man of you—Then we don't want a penny.

Try It At Our Risk This is more than a truss—more than a device to hold your rupture in place. It gives you protection we guarantee in writing that a Cluthe Truss will at all times keep your rupture from coming out when you are working, exerting, or when you are lying, taking a bath (this truss is water-proof)—every minute—every day. If it doesn't, it won't cost you a cent.

You see this truss—unlike all others—is self-adjusting, self-regulating. The support it gives automatically increases when there is any sudden movement or strain—as in working—so no strain can force your rupture out.

And, in addition, a Cluthe Truss provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture. While relieving the weak ruptured muscles of all strain, this Truss is constantly strengthening the ruptured parts.

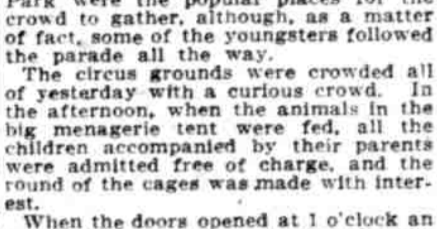

Does that by automatically massaging them—the soothing, healing massage does for these parts what exercise does for a weak arm—soon restores their lost strength—soon makes them so strong that a truss is no longer needed.

POSTAL RATE BODY WILL CONFER WITH TAFT LATE TODAY

The first meeting of the Postal Rate Commission, composed of Mr. Justice Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court; President Lowell, of Harvard University, and Lawrence Maxwell, a lawyer of Cincinnati, will be held at the White House this afternoon. The President was on hand.

While this meeting was called for the purpose of organizing, the most important matter to come before it was the eligibility of Mr. Maxwell to sit as a member. His qualifications have been seriously questioned, and most of the time of this initial session will be spent in discussing this matter.

The commission was created by an act of Congress to inquire into the differences between the Postoffice Department, and the magazine publishers of the country over the second class mail rates. Not only are the magazine publishers interested in the findings of this commission, but a vast number of other interests are involved. This is especially true of the express companies.

The health of your family is every day entrusted to your "ice-box". Is it worthy of your confidence?

McCRAY Refrigerators

are sweet, clean and wholesome. Being properly constructed, they keep things fresh, with so great economy of ice that in two or three seasons the saving in ice bills will pay for the refrigerator.

Come in and let us show you. McCray Refrigerator Co. 611 F St. N. W.

Dewey Is Celebrating Manila Bay Anniversary

Admiral Dewey today received congratulatory messages from friends and naval officers all over the world upon the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Manila Bay.

Tonight he will entertain at dinner according to his custom, all the officers who were with him at Manila who are now in or near Washington.

Free Book Tells All About It

So that you can judge for yourself, we want to send you a free book we have written on the Cluthe Truss. Even physicians who have read it say it's the best book ever written on Rupture.

Remember that we ask you to take no chances—We'll make a truss especially for your case and let you try it at our risk. It fails to prevent protrusion, fails to bring improvement in your condition, we'll be the losers, not you.

With Reilly's Paints This Spring

We warrant our paints to withstand all kinds of weather. Our line of paints, stains, enamels, etc. is complete. If you want to brighten up around the house we have the article. Your old furniture puts on a bright look if you use Reilly's Furniture Polish.

15c and 25c Bottles. HUGH REILLY CO. Paints, Oils, Glass, 1334 N. Y. Ave. N. W.

POSTAL RATE BODY WILL CONFER WITH TAFT LATE TODAY

Eligibility of Attorney Maxwell to Membership to Be Discussed.

The first meeting of the Postal Rate Commission, composed of Mr. Justice Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court; President Lowell, of Harvard University, and Lawrence Maxwell, a lawyer of Cincinnati, will be held at the White House this afternoon. The President was on hand.

While this meeting was called for the purpose of organizing, the most important matter to come before it was the eligibility of Mr. Maxwell to sit as a member. His qualifications have been seriously questioned, and most of the time of this initial session will be spent in discussing this matter.

The commission was created by an act of Congress to inquire into the differences between the Postoffice Department, and the magazine publishers of the country over the second class mail rates. Not only are the magazine publishers interested in the findings of this commission, but a vast number of other interests are involved. This is especially true of the express companies.

The health of your family is every day entrusted to your "ice-box". Is it worthy of your confidence?

McCRAY Refrigerators

are sweet, clean and wholesome. Being properly constructed, they keep things fresh, with so great economy of ice that in two or three seasons the saving in ice bills will pay for the refrigerator.

Come in and let us show you. McCray Refrigerator Co. 611 F St. N. W.

Dewey Is Celebrating Manila Bay Anniversary

Admiral Dewey today received congratulatory messages from friends and naval officers all over the world upon the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Manila Bay.

Tonight he will entertain at dinner according to his custom, all the officers who were with him at Manila who are now in or near Washington.

Free Book Tells All About It

With Reilly's Paints This Spring

We warrant our paints to withstand all kinds of weather. Our line of paints, stains, enamels, etc. is complete. If you want to brighten up around the house we have the article. Your old furniture puts on a bright look if you use Reilly's Furniture Polish.

15c and 25c Bottles. HUGH REILLY CO. Paints, Oils, Glass, 1334 N. Y. Ave. N. W.

The Velvet Kind ICE CREAM

For Sale Almost Everywhere in Washington. CHAPIN-SACKS MFG. CO. "It Pays to Come From Any Distance" Ney & Co. Pa. Ave. & 8th St. S. E.