

THE STAR'S DAILY PICTORIAL PAGE

THE EVENING STAR, WASHINGTON, D. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1922.

Lincoln Highway bridge hurled into the Hackensack river, between Jersey City and Newark, when the steamer Glendardel ran into the bulkhead of the span. The unusual accident occurred when the steering gear of the steamer went wrong. Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

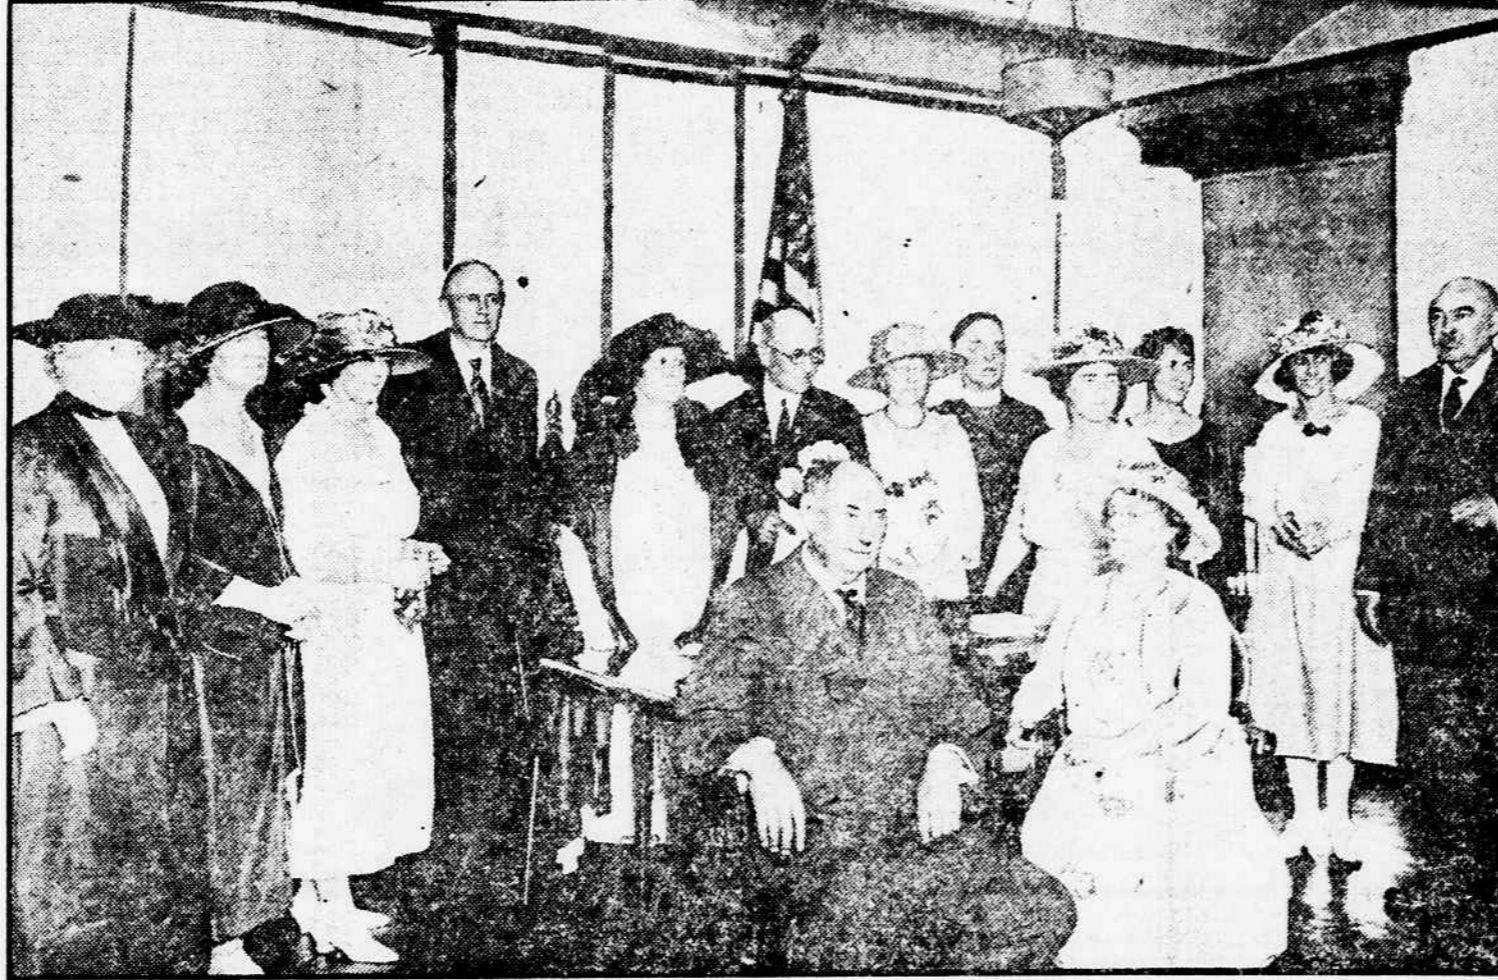

Judge J. Sabath of Chicago, who suffered a nervous breakdown from hearing divorce cases, but has not lost faith in the great institution of marriage. Photo taken in New York, where the judge and Mrs. Sabath are spending a vacation. Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

An American medal for Verdun, presented by United States Ambassador Herrick. Soon after the presentation the ambassador and M. Poincare visited the military cemetery nearby, where this picture was taken. Copyright by Keystone.

Laden with Parisian fashions and carrying a walking stick, Gloria Swanson, star of the movies, has returned to Hollywood, Calif., from a vacation in Paris. This particular new fashion is of gray crepe de chine, a Callot model. Note the long skirt. Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

Last meeting of Washington branch of the Near East Relief, held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Cabot Stevens, retiring director of the relief (in center with Dr. Wiley), was the guest of honor at the reception, at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Stevens has collected $519,800 for the work. National Photo.

John Wanamaker (left) and Secretary of War Weeks at commencement of Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa., where they received honorary degrees. In his address Secretary Weeks took an emphatic stand on the prohibition issue, declaring for light wines and beer. Copyright by Keystone.

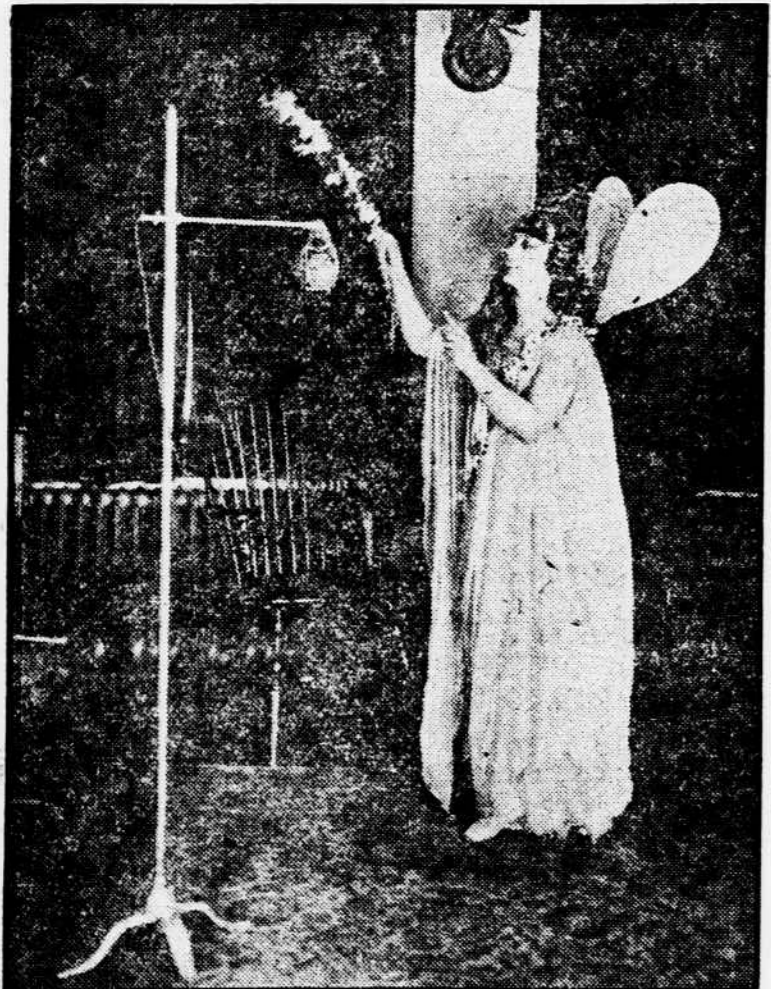

E. E. Wood of Chicago (left) and Alfred H. Retler of Washington present Present Harding with his portrait printed on twenty-four carat gold. Copyright by Harris & Ewing.

Admiral Niblack, an interested spectator at base ball game at Stamford Bridge, England, when a team from the United States battleship Utah played the London Americans. Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

South Dakota's memorial stone is unveiled in the Washington Monument. The stone is located 300 feet from the base, where the exercises were held yesterday afternoon. Presentation by Gov. W. H. McMaster and acceptance by Secretary Weeks. Miss Nellie Norbeck unveiled the stone. Copyright by Harris & Ewing.

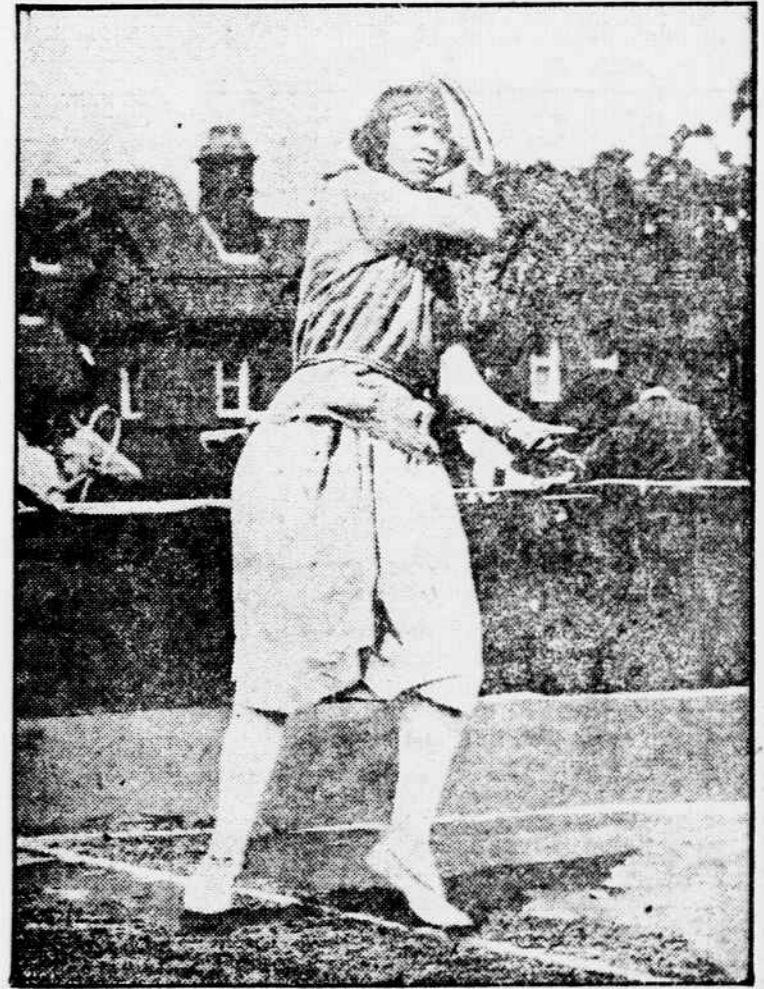

Miss Anna Raymond of New York is known as the "Radio Fairy," reciting from her child's health book for the entertainment and instruction of thousands of children all over America. She broadcasts at the bedtime hour. Wide World Photo.

Amid solemn ceremonies the colors of the disbanded southern Irish regiments are taken into King George's keeping. Photo shows flags going through gates of Windsor Castle, while hundreds watched the soldiers march by. Copyright by Keystone.

British "skirmishers" who have played a large part in recent Irish troubles. Photo snapped during a lull in the firing along the Ulster border—and the lulls have been few and far between. Copyright by Keystone.

Tennis followers in America and England are showing a great interest in the probable match between Molla Bjurstedt Mallory of the United States and Mlle. Lenglen of France. This photo was taken when Mrs. Mallory played in the ladies' singles at Beckenham. Wide World Photo.