NEW SOCIAL ORDER PLANNED IN COLONY

Labor Leaders and Educators Establish Centre of Learning in Westchester.

THEY WEAR MOCCASINS

Bobbed Hair and Short Skirts Supply the Usual Note of Revolt Against Things.

In an upper room of a rambling frame building of Colonial design at the end of a winding dirt road about a mile and a half out of the village of Katonah, Westchester county, a group of labor leaders and lesser known educators yesterday began plans for a new social order, the objective of which, according to announcement, is the substitution of education for violence in radical movements.

The utmost secrecy was maintained concerning the exact nature of the proceedings and the identity of those participating. The building in which the conference is being held is known as the Brookwood School and was founded about two years ago by Dr. William M. Finck, formerly a Presbyterian clergyman. He was pastor of the Greenwich Presbyterian Church, in West Thirtieth street, but was forced to resign in May, 1917, after his congregation refused to condone certain alleged pacifist utterances, including declarations that he could not pray for success of the allied arms.

Yesterday when a reporter for THE NEW YORK HERALD attempted to get some news of the result of the day's proceedings he was met with a polite but emphatic refusal of any sort of information. When the reporter appeared at the school a long haired youth in a worn army uniform scurried upstairs. A woman, whom the reporter later learned was Mrs. Finck and who wore an outing costume with moccasins, appeared in answer to the youth's summons. She announced that she was in charge of the situation and demanded to know what the inquisitive intruder wanted.

When this was explained she said that there was no information to be given out about the movement until to-day.

Sounds of typewriters clicking came from an adjoining room and perhaps half a score of young men and women, the latter with bobbed hair and all wearing short skirts and moccasins or sandals, peered inquisitively from doorways opening into the hall.

Among those who were to participate in the meeting were John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who was chairman of the national committee for organizing iron and steel workers which conducted the steel strike; William Z. Foster, leader of the 1919 steel strike; James Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor; Jay G. Brown of Seattle, president of the International Timber Workers; A. J. Muste, executive secretary of the Amalgamated Textile Workers; Joseph Schlossberg, secretary of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; John Brophy of the United Mine Workers and Edward Neukies, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

As far as could be learned no known member of the American Federation of Labor was at the conference, nor was this body represented. This fact was brought to the attention of H. T. Brougham, one of the conferees, who seemed to be handling what publicity was indulged in, but he refused to comment on this phase of the situation, although he insisted that the movement involves the founding of a new school to be supported by organized labor. The plans, he said, are based on four fundamental tenets: "First, that a new social order is needed and is coming—in fact, that it is already on the way.

"Second, that education will not only

LUMBER PUT ON FREE LIST IN NEW HOUSE TARIFF BILL

Only Exceptions Are Wood Products From Canada—Decision Removes Menace of High Canadian Export Duty on Woodpulp.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 31.

An agreement to put lumber, with a few exceptions, on the free list in the new tariff bill which the House Ways and Means Committee is now writing was reached to-day by one of the subcommittees.

The lumber section of the new bill will be similar to that of the Payne-Aldrich act. Representative Fordney, Michigan, chairman of the committee, said. The exceptions from the free list deal in general with importations of lumber from Canada, which has similar tariff on the importation of American lumber. These place duties on shingles and other wood products which come into competition with those made in the American mills.

Representatives of the lumber industry in general recommend to the Ways and Means Committee that lumber, with some exceptions, be kept on the free list.

hasten its coming, but will reduce to a minimum and perhaps do away entirely with a resort to violent methods.

"Third, that the workers are the ones who will usher in this new order.

"Fourth, that there is immediate need for a workers' colleges with a broad curriculum, located amidst healthy country surroundings where the students can completely apply themselves to the task in hand."

U. S. AGENTS AND THUGS CALLED TO TENNESSEE

Will Testify in Theft of Government Platinum.

Thirty special agents of the Department of Justice were sent from the New York office last night to Nashville, Tenn., to attend the trial of H. B. Crone, former Government chemist at the Old Hickory Powder Plant; Robert E. Carter, former traffic manager of the plant, and Abe Roth and Flo Weller on charges of having conspired to rob the Government of $500,000 worth of platinum.

It was said that perhaps a score of New York gunmen have been called to testify in the case, some for the Government and some for the defendants.

During the war $2,000,000 worth of platinum at the plant was sprayed on opium salts and converted into a form ready for the making of sulphuric acid. When the armistice was signed the Government changed it back to sponge form and $300,000 worth was missing, the bottles being filled with mud and nicotine.

BOOTLEGGERS' BULLETS LAME WELCH FOR LIFE

Grape Juice Man's Son Still Suffers From Wounds.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald

RUFFALO, March 31.—William Welch, a deputy sheriff of Chautauque county and son of the president of a grape juice company, probably will be lame for the rest of his life from the effects of the five bullet wounds which he received Tuesday night in a chase after automobile bandits and bootleggers through the country roads near Westfield.

Physicians believed at first that none of the wounds would be troublesome, but the one through the fleshy part of Welch's hip has taken a serious turn and is causing some worry. Probing has failed to locate the bullet. Welch continues to suffer considerable pain.

INSISTS ON JURIES FOR LIQUOR TRIALS

Anderson Hits at Banton, Who Wants Dry Bill Changed

William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, issued a statement last night attacking Assistant District Attorney Job H. Banton, who has advocated an amendment to the State prohibition enforcement measures so as to facilitate the handling of liquor cases in the local courts.

On Wednesday Mr. Anderson criticized the District Attorney's office for inactivity in regard to liquor violations during the last year and asserted that an amendment was advocated only as an evasion. To this Mr. Banton replied accusing Mr. Anderson of being ignorant of the facts and court procedure.

Under the proposed law Magistrates would have the power to issue warrants and hold accused persons in jail for the Grand Jury. If indicted the alleged offenders would be tried in the Court of General Sessions by a jury. Mr. Banton and some other local law officers want Gov. Miller to have the Mullin-Gage enforcement bill amended so as to have the cases tried in the Court of Special Sessions whereby no juries are required.

DECLINE IN INSANITY TRACED TO DRY LAW

Hospital Commission Reports Shortage of Help.

ALBANY, March 31.—A reduction of new cases of insanity in New York State for 1920 was principally due to the decline in cases of alcoholic insanity, the State Hospital Commission made known in its annual report submitted to the Legislature to-day.

First admissions to hospitals in 1917 was at the rate of 49 per 100,000 State residents, while in 1920 the rate fell to 63.3. In 1917 there were 594 first admissions diagnosed as cases due to alcoholism, and in 1920 there were only 122 cases in this group.

A shortage of physicians, nurses and attendants was shown by the report. At the end of the fiscal year there were sixty-seven vacancies on the medical staffs of the State hospitals and 1,288 vacancies of nurses and attendants.

LOCKWOOD JURY DISMISSED.

Judge John C. Knox in the Federal District Court dismissed yesterday the special Grand Jury which considered the evidence taken before the Lockwood committee in its housing and building material inquiry.

BAKER SCORED FOR PLIGHT OF DISABLED

American Legion Commander Says Former Secretary of War Was Heartless.

MEETING AT TOWN HALL

Weeks's Assistant Promises to Stimulate Process of Care of Injured.

Col. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., commander of the American Legion, used blunt language to denounce former Secretary of War Baker for "heartless" treatment of disabled service men in his address at a mass meeting in Town Hall last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of the National Security League to protest the treatment which disabled soldiers and sailors have received from Government bureaus charged with their care and rehabilitation.

Speaking after J. Mayhew Wainwright, Assistant Secretary of War, had given a pledge to "stimulate the processes of Government" in so far as he could, Col. Galbraith commended the prospect of this proffered aid and said: "I am thoroughly satisfied that he has expressed in a considerate and careful way the exact sentiment of the Secretary of War. It was an outrageous, damnable thing that the disabled men have suffered at the hands of the former Secretary of War. And I come from Ohio! Why the heartlessness I don't know, when there were camps with base hospitals, doors locked and guards posted outside, because it was contrary to the policy of the War Department.

"Thank God for the few intelligent, promising statements from you, sir," he added, turning to Assistant Secretary Wainwright.

"There are 27,000 disabled men in hospitals of the country to-night. Fifty-four per cent are in Government owned or leased hospitals, while the other 45 per cent are 'farmed out' in 1,300 private hospitals, and no man knows what his position is."

Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson read a personal letter from President Harbord which was a reply to the communication submitted by Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore and herself as women representatives of the Republican National Committee, in which the President reiterated the announcement he made in Washington that every consideration would be shown the soldiers.

Resolutions rebuking delay and calling upon Congress to give preference to the rehabilitation measures sponsored by the American Legion were presented by Louis W. Stotesbury, former State Adjutant-General, and unanimously carried.

NEGROES KILLED BY TORNADO.

Among the buildings wrecked by the storm were the plant of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, the Albany Box Factory and the grand stand at the ball park.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN INDORSED.

Senator Lodge and Ex-Gov. McCall Send Approval.

Indorsements of the campaign of the American Committee for Relief in Ireland were made public from the committee headquarters yesterday from United States Senator Lodge and Samuel McCall, former Governor of Massachusetts. The Connecticut subscriptions now amount to $175,000, although the quota was only $100,000.

Messages appreciative of the efforts of Americans to lend aid were received from James G. Douglas, a Dublin Quaker, who was one of the organizers of the Irish White Cross. "I have had some heartbreaking cases of people driven from homes, their homes burned and everything lost," he wrote. "As is usual in war of all kinds, the innocent suffer most."
