GREAT AMERICAN ROMANCE.—This day published,

MANVERS, or, The Child of Crime. By J. C. Mills.

This is the most interesting and exciting work that has ever been written on City Life, and will have a tremendous sale. Send in your orders early to

AKARMAN & ORMSBY, Publishers, s15 3tis No. 102 Nassau-st., cor. Ann.

EPISODES OF INSECT LIFE—INSECTS OF AUTUMN—Will be published WEDNESDAY, Sept. 17.—This is the third and last volume of the series, and completes the work. In a few days thereafter the same will be ready, with the Plates exquisitely colored, and in extra gilt bindings.

"The first series of this publication we read to our great instruction and delight. I was to us the opening of a new world of forts and feelings. During this whole Summer it has been to us an interpreter of Nature, and has given us a new sense of the worth of the insect tribes that sport in every field and garden. The present series carries out faithfully the promise of its predecessor, alike in point of illustration, text and sentiment. The whole work will be a valuable addition to our books of natural theology as well as of natural history. It is just such reading as must charm every earnest young mind, and it deserves a place in every family library in the land. It is written, we understand, by a lady. Blessings on her for her good service, and may The Home Circle, that charge so wisely and pleasantly for others, never cease his merry music for her own dwelling."

VAGAMUNDO; or, THE ATTACHE IN SPAIN—including a Brief Excursion into the Empire of Morocco. By JOHN E. WARREN.—1 vol. 12m.

"The Book is full of incidents, told in rather a lively manner, and with the sensibility to the romantic scenery, as well as to the romantic history of Spain."—N. Y. Eve. Post.

"A series of most instructive chapters written in the flowing, graceful style which characterizes all the productions of his pen." (Daily Times.

"This volume, written in a happy vein, and under circumstances which enabled Mr. Warren to find access to the best society, its author seems, while in the prosecution of other duties, to have been in search of adventure, and his descriptions are graphic and interesting."—Phila. Ev. Journ.

"The History of Spain is almost one continued romance, and its people in their customs and manners still present to the traveler a series of the most curious and entertaining pictures. Mr. Warren has sketched these with graphic pictures." [Troy Post.

"Endowed with a buoyant spirit, he entered with keen relish into the enjoyment of Spanish amusements and Spanish scenery—he uses pen as a pencil with exceedingly graceful ease, and his sketches are pretty pictures, which afford a fair specimen of what Spain is." [Philadelphia Presbyterian.

KENNETH: A ROMANCE of the HIGHLANDS. By G. W. M. Reynolds, with numerous Engravings.

There has never been a more successful laborer in the fruitful field of Scottish Romance, than our author. The wild and fearful superstitions of the Highlands are depicted with terrible force, yet clothed in all the fascination and attractiveness of Reynolds's unrivaled style.—Spectator.

"The Legends of Scotland have never found a more powerful delineator than our author, and 'Kenneth,' which in style is worthy of "Sir Walter Scott," and in incident and interest rivals the celebrated "Scottish Chiefs," will take first rank in the library of Scottish romance.
