OFF ON MAIDEN TRIP

Steamer Northland Leaves with Hundred Passengers.

PRESIDENT OF LINE ABOARD

Departure of New Ship Watched by Crowd of Spectators on Wharf. Three Late Arrivals Accommodated—Vessel is Handsomely Appointed and Carries Crew of Fifty.

With her colors flying bravely in spite of the rain, the steamer Northland, the new sister ship to the Southland, of the Norfolk and Washington line, last night made her maiden trip to Norfolk. About 100 passengers made the trip, including D. J. Callahan, general manager of the company, and N. G. Coxe, president of the Harlan & Hollingsworth Co., builders of the Northland.

The imposing spectacle made by the Northland as she left the pier was somewhat marred, owing to late arrivals. As the steamer was leaving the dock, three persons, two women and a man, were seen racing from the ticket office.

The second officer had the vessel stopped. After a good deal of backing the gangplank was again brought into position so the late ones could be taken aboard, amid rejoicing on the part of the spectators.

Officers of Company Present.

After the second start, a safe getaway was made, the vessel moving slowly to midstream. The departure was watched by a crowd of spectators attracted to the scene by the news of the maiden trip of the Northland, among whom were seen many of the officers and stockholders of the company. Mr. Callahan was the only officer to make the trip, he was visited by most of the officials of the company, who extended their good wishes.

The Northland is beautifully appointed, the interior being finished in white and gold, trimmed with mahogany. The furniture matches the trimming and is finished in green and leather. About fifty men comprise the crew, who were kept busy in starting the 300-foot ship.

Scented with Flowers.

The interior of the main saloon was scented with the heavy fragrance of a huge bunch of roses, carnations, and lilies, presented yesterday by the sponsor, Miss Elizabeth K. Fulton.

The Southland will be replaced by the Northland, and will be taken to Newport News for repairs, after which she will replace the Newport News, which in turn will be overhauled. The Newport News will be kept at the shipyard as an emergency boat, to be used whenever one of the other vessels is in need of repair.

PLAN TO SEND MAIL ON FREIGHT TRAIN

Postal Officials Will Thus Save on Periodicals.

Beginning the 1st of July next, the Post-office Department will use fast freight lines for the transportation of certain kinds of mail matter instead of mail cars on passenger trains.

Postmaster General Hitchcock believes that there can be a considerable sum saved by the department if it handles periodical mail in this manner, and he will establish special facilities for the handling by freight of mail matter from such publishing centers as Augusta, Boston, Springfield, New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago.

Arrangements will also be made with the publishers for a finer separation in the publishing offices and for an earlier mailing of their matter, so that the slower method of transportation will not materially affect the regularity or promptness of delivery.

POSTAL OFFICIALS CONFER.

Placement of Furniture and Apparatus for City Building Planned. Conferences are being held daily between officials from the post-office and the architects for the new city post-office building, who are completing plans for the arrangement of the furniture to be placed in the building.

The committee from the department, consisting of First Assistant Postmaster General Grandfield, chairman; Postmaster Merritt, and representatives of the New York and Chicago post-offices, is deciding upon the disposition of all the furniture for the new building, including all the apparatus for handling the mails.

PICKFORD RETURNS TO CITY.

Refuses to Discuss Charge of Witness Bribery Against Him.

The case against Thomas H. Pickford, charged with attempting to bribe a witness in the District Supreme Court, probably will be called up this week. Pickford is co-defendant with John H. Walter and William J. Dugan, who are now out on bail.

Pickford arrived in Washington yesterday, after a trip of about a month to Florida. When seen last night, he would make no statement, and said: "I know nothing about the case. I have not consulted with my attorneys, and do not even know the principals involved in the charge. I will not know before tomorrow or Tuesday; until that time any statement must come from my attorneys."

Nothing could be learned from the attorneys, who refused to give out the nature of the defense planned, and would not deny or affirm that a plea of "guilty" would be entered.

SENSATIONAL SERMON STIRS VAST THROG

Enthusiasm Runs Riot—Great Crowd Secures Advantageous Selections While Sultan & Eiseman, 617-619 7th St. N. W., Make Converts.

Preaching the gospel of square dealing, making it right if not right, and of giving real value in men's wearing apparel for the least money, has made the sermon of Sultan & Eiseman, 617 and 619 Seventh Street N. W., well and favorably known to the people of this city.

Hundreds of the men of Washington yesterday found satisfaction in their new clothes, bought last week of this firm at those low prices of $4.85, $2.85, and $1.25 for suits.

Beginning to-day the great pre-Extra congressional sale of men's suits made to sell for $15 will be started with an initial offering of twenty-seven suits at $4.85.

Another lot of fine hand-tailored chevots and worsted suits, in latest style cut, made to please the most fastidious man and to wear right, and intended to sell for $16.50, $18.00, and $20.00, are to be had for the special price of $9.85. Any who feel interested should see them today.

"How's your underwear?" is a question often asked toward the end of winter. A lot of middle and heavy weight underwear, that ordinarily costs 75c to $1, to be had for 39c. Money will be saved making purchases from this stock now.

A neat shaped hat adds to every man's appearance. A hat is somewhat of an index to a man's character. Derby and Soft Hats, of the 1911 spring style, made to sell for $1.50, are being sold this week for 89c. It would seem at this price a man might always have a new hat around the house.

Workers know that Sultan & Eiseman are their friends, and that they carry union-made suits that are tailored fit for a king to wear. For those who want to get a spring suit worth $22.50 or $25.00, at the low price of $12.50, this is the time, and this store the place to do it. "Seeing is believing." Shopping around costs more in time and money than one at first realizes. It is a good idea not to do it, but to go direct to the place you know has the goods you have a need for, and trade there.

Shirts made to sell for 75c, to be bought now for 39c, and silk neckties worth 50c, for 19c, puts these little daily needs within every man and boy's grasp.

The Seventh Street cars pass the door, and within a few feet are the G and Street cars, very few of which every section of the city can conveniently trade at that well-lighted men's clothing store which Sultan & Eiseman have at 617 and 619 Seventh Street N. W., opposite the Patent Office.

SCIENTISTS OBTAIN HOLY INDIAN PACKS

Smithsonian Regards Relics as Choice Treasure.

Officials of the Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution are highly pleased over an addition which they have just made to their collection and which they regard as one of their choicest treasures. This acquisition comprises four sacred bundles or packs of the Osage Indians, very few of which have ever been obtained by scientists, as they are generally buried with their "keepers."

These sacred bundles are just as precious from a religious standpoint to the Indian as they are from a scientific standpoint to the ethnologist, and are extremely hard to obtain. They represent the holiest fetich of a tribe, and so zealously are they guarded from any profanation that they are put in the charge of a special priest or medicine man, who keeps them carefully hidden. At certain periods they are opened and the contents whisked into the most elaborate ceremonies, but even at these times only the chosen men of the tribe are allowed to see the strangely assorted articles that are kept in the bundles.

One of these was opened with much care by Dr. Walter Hough, one of the curators of the National Museum. Dr. Hough found the outside wrapping of sack to be made of a raw Indian animal skin, the inside being made of buffalo. This was bound with a buckskin band decorated with human scalps and the leg of an eagle. Inside this was a buckskin bag and inside that a leather sack made of a material resembling Chinese madding.

In this haversack were a pipe, decorated with scalps; a tobacco bag, a braided band of red woolen fabric, and a bundle of buffalo bladders bound with a thong ornamented with a scalp, and one other bundle, which was the most important of all, for it represented the "holy of holies." This bundle was a buckskin case, to which was bound a buckskin object resembling a head band.

Inside this bundle was found the most sacred object of the pack—the body of a hawk, which had been mummified and then painted a brilliant vermilion and green. Attached to the tail was a circle of human scalps. The body was suspended by a braided band made of woolen fabrics, which evidently had been obtained by the tribe through trade with other Indians.

One of the three other bundles was found to contain the tattooing apparatus and materials used by the Osage Indians all of which are regarded as sacred, as the tattooing is a religious ceremony.

HONEYMOON AT PINEHURST.
 G. C. Drummond and Miss Julia Thomas Married Saturday.
 After an elopement to Richmond Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland Drummond, both of this city, are on their way to Pinehurst, N. C., for their honeymoon. Mrs. Drummond was Miss Julia Thomas, stenographer for the firm of Brock, Becken & Smith, patent attorneys.

Rev. William Meade Clarke, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, in Richmond, performed the ceremony. It is said the bride presented a letter of introduction from the Right Rev. Alfred Hardin, Bishop of Washington.

TAPT'S "PINK EYE" IS BETTER.
 President Will Soon Be Able to Lay Aside Colored Glasses.
 President Taft is rapidly recovering from an attack of the "pink eye," which has caused him a lot of inconvenience for several days. The President has not been out of communication from the world at all, but Friday and Saturday he was able to transact but little business, and had to wear colored glasses that prevented his reading. He was forced also to cut many of his engagements. Saturday, however, the President was permitted to take a long walk with Secretary Norton, and yesterday he had recovered enough to go to church. The eye is still troubling him slightly, but unless there is some unexpected development he will be able to return to his usual eyeglasses once more in a few days.

SANDERS & STAYMAN CO.,

1327 F STREET, announce the

Greatest Value in Player-Pianos

at popular prices to be found anywhere.

Artistic Standards of the Aeolian Company Exemplified in

The New Technola Piano

Price, $450.

Fidelity to the highest artistic ideals—an ability to give the greatest value at a minimum of cost—these are the fundamentals on which the Aeolian Company has built the largest music business in the world.

In this Company's latest achievement—The Technola Piano—these fundamentals are represented in their fullest degree.

The Technola Piano is the first artistic player-piano ever put upon the market at a popular price. Four years were required to build the Technola Piano. The leading experts of nine famous factories have co-operated in its development. All the skill, the experience, and the craftsmanship of the world's greatest musical instrument specialists are embodied in this new instrument.

Lacking the Aeolian Company's almost unlimited facilities, the economies resulting from its enormous manufacturing operations, and its wonderful organization, no manufacturer could begin to produce such an instrument as this and sell it at so low a price.

A Statement from the Technola's Makers

The manufacturers of the Technola Piano are recognized throughout the entire world as the leading specialists in player-construction. They are responsible for such renowned instruments as the Steinway, Weber, Steck, Wheelock, and Stuyvesant Pianola Pianos, the Aeolian Orchestrelle, and the superb Aeolian Pipe Organ.

Based on their practical knowledge of the whole player industry—in Europe as well as in America—they make the unequivocal statement—

That no player-piano at anywhere near the price of the Technola approaches it. And that no player-piano at any price (with the single exception of the Pianola Piano) surpasses the Technola.

The payment of $20 places this superb instrument in your home. Monthly payments of $12 are then charged on the balance. The cost of music for the Technola Piano is slight. A small sum annually gives access to the Aeolian Music Circulating Library—the largest and most complete institution of its kind in existence.

The Technola Piano is made in two styles—one at $450 and another model, playing both 65 and 88 note music rolls, at $525.
