

OUR LATE WAR IN SPAIN

How Yankee Ingenuity, Aided By Electr. City, Triumphed Over the Squadron of the Allied Powers and Saved the City.

It was no surprise when the Spanish minister demanded his passports. The crisis had been regarded as inevitable for more than a week previous.

The interview between the Secretary of State and the minister's representative from the legation was short and business-like. The minister desired to know of his personal esteem and consideration conveyed to the Secretary.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

The Secretary's reply was equally courteous and businesslike. However much he might regret the unpleasant situation that had so long existed between the United States and the government of his most gracious majesty, the Queen Regent.

be fighting had, even at heavy odds, just outside the Hook.

When the yellow rocket had flared up from the French admiral's flagship a strange hull that had been creeping in out of the vacant blackness that filled the horizon glided slowly into view.

The signal party on the dismantled battery at Sandy Hook flashed the news to the city of hostile smoke on the horizon.

For weeks the work had been pushed on the Hook, and the batteries were ready for the attack from the sea, and the good as had been the work of the Zaisliski guns in practice, there was no doubt of their absolute inability to defend the channel against a vigorous and concerted attack of ironclads.

More than that, work had been pushed day and night at the Brooklyn yard on the immense need whaleback contrivance that was more of a mystery than was the Monitor when Ericsson first planned the little fighting machine that was to turn the tide of war and of naval history in Virginia waters.

The Green Old Warships. The New York and the Massachusetts had been ordered into the bay at the first rumour of the attack from the sea, and the grim old Parian, finished just in time after three decades of waiting, showed her teeth to the crowds at the Battery.

The Indiana had been ordered to New York, but she had not yet arrived, and when the dark hulls of the enemy's fleet began to gather in the offing there were many shakings of heads and grave fears expressed that she would run into the visitors off shore in an attempt to make the port.

The enemy knew the dynamite guns were there, but the musketed works were indistinguishable from the seaward, and the batteries crept on in a narrow crescent, planting shells now or less at random, and leaving a trail of splintered wood, which they could not find their mark, and emboldened by the silence, pressed in, in hopes of drawing the musketed fire.

The Projectiles' Mark. Then the Spanish flagship made a feint of steering full speed for the entrance of the bay. From the crest of the hills inland thousands of eyes behind strong field glasses watched the bold maneuver.

Then from the sand spit there rose a whiff of vapor, and a black, fishlike projectile darted into the air. Rising high above the water, it skimmed along swiftly, but not too swiftly to be followed in its flight, and descending in a gentle curve, flashed behind the smoke of the battle.

But with the Indians in port, every effort was only postponed. All the next morning the warships lay in the offing, awaiting repairs and waiting for night-fall, to attempt another attack.

Each individual inherits a potential longevity and should live out its full span, but the nature of the life is a matter of choice. It is not a matter of chance, but of choice.

Steady and Industrious and Has a Good Position With the Armours. Every morning except Sunday a tall, well-built, sturdy-looking man, with a smooth face and clear, sparkling eyes, mounts a bicycle in front of a modest little house on the corner of 34th and 5th streets.

Every morning except Sunday a tall, well-built, sturdy-looking man, with a smooth face and clear, sparkling eyes, mounts a bicycle in front of a modest little house on the corner of 34th and 5th streets.

Every morning except Sunday a tall, well-built, sturdy-looking man, with a smooth face and clear, sparkling eyes, mounts a bicycle in front of a modest little house on the corner of 34th and 5th streets.

Every morning except Sunday a tall, well-built, sturdy-looking man, with a smooth face and clear, sparkling eyes, mounts a bicycle in front of a modest little house on the corner of 34th and 5th streets.

The cracking and snapping of the liberated current could be heard in a dull, hissing, tongue-like flame leaped and danced in the darkness.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

The whaleback also swerved, and when within a hundred yards of her victim a great number of shells from the battleship were fired at her.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

Then the destroyer started forward, and under a hail of machine-gun fire, ran down upon the ironclad. The battleship ported her helm, and jockeyed to avoid ramming, but she had another force to deal with.

HOW WITH ART STUDENTS

How Work is Carried on at the Great Corean School.

NO LAGGARDS FOUND THERE

Teacher and Pupil Too Much in Earnest for Sensitiveness to Criticism—The Good Model Also an Artist in Her Way—Inspiration From Painting and Song.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

This was the exclamation of the young artist, Marie Baskirteff, whose work in the past few years ago. To the many it was a fact of the moment; to the few it became a perpetual inspiration.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

There is nothing in the world to be compared to art.

HOPE FOR GENTIS IN NEED

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

There is one glorious thing about the art school. It is absolutely free. There is not another school in America that gives this opportunity to the talented poor.

POSTOFFICE NOTICE

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.

Should be read daily by all interested, as changes may occur at any time.