THE TIMES STILL LEADS. Has the Largest Circulation in Washington—The Star Keeps Up Its Misrepresentation.

Again it becomes a duty to expose the misrepresentations of the Star in order to show how easy it is to publish false circulation statements.

Remember that it only costs 50 CENTS A MONTH for the Morning, Evening and Sunday Times, and that the best newspaper in Washington.

Elsewhere will be found a call for a mass meeting which should command the attention of all who sympathize with struggling Cuba.

Those who oppose the recognition of Cuba claim that the insurgents are negroes and that Cubans generally are incapable of self-government.

It is gratifying to note that the deafening silence on the silver question has been broken by a second declaration from Senator McMillan.

Typhoid fever is epidemic in Washington, 600 cases being under treatment. Such a state of affairs argues for sanitary law in the Capital City.

The news of the epidemic expect to be benefited through the expenditure of a large proportion of the amount received for the bonds in the improvement of their suburban property.

The Times publishes this morning a positive denial of the epidemic report by a large number of our most reputable physicians.

General speaking, the sanitary condition of Washington is as good as, if not better than, most other large and growing cities.

DON'T CONDEMN THE LAW. The Butchers and Packers' Magazine is mistaken in its assertion that President Cleveland and his cabinet have referred the investigation of the complaint against the beef trust to the Attorney General of Illinois.

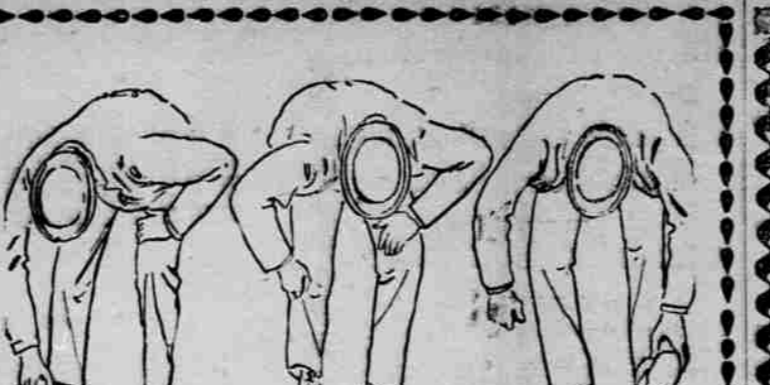

"STRENGTH TO ITS ARM." The use of progressive newspapers by Prof. Lodge, of the Columbian University,

But it is a question if all newspapers will prove proper educational text books. Most newspapers are conducted as money-making enterprises.

A communication from Prof. Lodge published in another column shows that he realizes the need of fearless, independent newspapers to assist in the work of enlightening the minds of students.

Every time a God Goos chirps he is marked as one ought to vote. It is gratifying to note that the deafening silence on the silver question has been broken by a second declaration from Senator McMillan.

There is no epidemic. Following is a specimen of the way Washington is being traduced as a result of the efforts of certain individuals to create a typhoid scare.

$1.98 a pair.

But they're worth $2.75. It's a bargain we picked up from one of our Shoemakers last week.

3 Styles of toe-- Needle point--Globe and French. They're Lace and Congress Shoes, made of solid leather and well made, too.

TIMES AS AN EDUCATOR

Professor Lee Davis Lodge, of Columbian, Recognizes Its Value.

As an Adjunct to the Regular Text-Book in Teaching Political Philosophy It Is Invaluable.

Editor Times: I see in this afternoon's issue of the newspaper a notice of a small innovation which I have introduced into the department of political philosophy over which I have the honor to preside.

Some of the teachers have been sent to the West, and the Editor of the Times has been called upon to fill the place of the great world outside.

Speaking of household notions, "There's Whisky in the Jug" is a companion piece to "Our Old Kentucky Home."

The charming and irresistible Ada Rehan was given a splendid reception by her Washington admirers last evening at Lafayette Square Opera House.

Fay Templeton, the star of the occasion, surpasses Carmenita and Otero in her singing, dancing, and wears the scarlet corset over her shoulder.

The dancing waltz of the little actress, who is looking just as fine on the stage as she does in her private life.

Some of the teachers have been sent to the West, and the Editor of the Times has been called upon to fill the place of the great world outside.

The deplorable state of this wrong case is shown on the comic stage. But there are many other good things and people in the piece with whom every lover of good dancing, extra ordinary waltzing, and roasting humor, can be familiar every night this week.

"Our Old Kentucky" is a play of this Washington audience never saw at the Academy, and which was only limited by the theater.
