CUBA'S FRIENDS ACTIVE

Call Signers to Discuss the Mass Meeting Friday Night.

DATE THEN TO BE DECIDED

The Committee of Arrangements Will Also Outline the Scope of the Resolutions, Announce the Speakers, and Perfect the Plans—Adherents in This Country Biding Their Time.

The committee of arrangements for the Cuban mass meeting will confer on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock on the stage of Metzerott Hall.

All those lovers of freedom who have signed the call constitute this committee. This gathering will decide the date on which the meeting shall be held, the scope of the resolutions, the arrangements for speakers, and what shall be done with the organized bodies who will be invited to send delegates.

This action will be forced on the committee in the most practical way, for already several organizations have taken steps toward being represented. They met after The Times had published the call and without losing any time decided to be represented at the meeting. All organized bodies will be invited to attend. They will be expected to bring their banners and their bands, if they so choose. It is expected that the hall will be alive with fluttering banners and brave mottoes.

No one will be turned away from this gathering. All will be welcomed and every one is expected to come. Organized labor will receive an especially warm invitation, as it was among the first to urge the issuance of the call. They will turn out in force.

The friends of Cuban patriots in the city are keeping very quiet just now, and for a good reason. They hope that this Government may take some action looking to the recognition of the belligerent rights of the struggling insurrectionists. They have received no intimation even that such is to be the policy of the Administration, but they hope, and hope strongly.

They refuse to make known the grounds on which their hopes rest, but they are assuredly hopeful. They think the matter will all be straightened out after the elections, and the elections are only a couple of weeks off.

WANT A STEAMER.

The Cubans do not ask a great deal. They only want a chance. They say if they could get hold of a fast steamer, small though it might be, they would be in clover. All the armament desired would be two rapid-fire guns, and they promise to make things hum all around the island. They would make things so lively for the Spaniards that reinforcements could not be hurried over from Spain fast enough. They can get all these things if they are given a little chance.

So filled with the hope of post-election expectations the Washington friends of the struggle are keeping up a bold front. But they have not ceased working by any means. They will be out in force at the meeting. The local leaders are in communication with Cubans in New York and keep in touch with everything that arrives from Cuba. They will have something interesting to say when the meeting is held.

The general opinion seems to be that the meeting should be held October 31. The idea is meeting with approval here, but the committee will decide the time Friday night. The Chicago sympathizers in the movement have issued an appeal to citizens throughout the Union asking that sympathetic mass meetings be held October 31. They think the movement would derive great benefit from such simultaneous action.

Many Washingtonians have been in Cuba in the past years and are acquainted with the state of affairs there. A number of these gentlemen are signers to the call. They did not hesitate to add their names and were glad to do so. They said they were glad and told why. Among these gentlemen was Mr. Edward D. Easton, president of the Columbia Phonograph Company. When Mr. Easton signed the call he said:

WHAT A WASHINGTONIAN SAW.

"I am heartily in favor of freedom, and I can't get my name to this call any too quick. I was down there last winter, and saw enough to satisfy me that a change was needed. I think Cuba is the worst governed island in the world. At least, it is the worst governed that I know anything about."

"What struck you most forcibly, Mr. Easton?"

"Two things—taxes and the robberies of the minor officials. The Spanish government taxes is everything. No man has a chance. If a business man wants to put out a sign, he is taxed. The amount of the tax depends on the length of his name. The government charges so much a letter. You see but few signs and but few street numbers as a consequence.

"Then the minor officials must come in for a share. They simply rob the poor tax payers. What the government is unable to get these men seize. They have no pity, and everything goes. I could see all this in the short time I was there. That was last winter."

"Was the uprising being discussed?"

"Yes, there were rumors, but you could not depend on anything. The censorship of the government over the telegraph, post and press is so severe that one can scarcely believe anything he sees. Then news travels slowly. Whispers of the impending struggle were heard, and in Havana even, when they felt sure they were safe, many business men expressed hope for the success of the movement. I shall be glad to help the mass-meeting along after what I have seen."

Senor Gerardio Forrester, of New York, one of the organizers for Cuban freedom, is in the city. He is greatly interested in the meeting which is to be held here, and will be present with other New Yorkers interested in the movement.

Senor Forrester is a member of Partido Revolucianario Cubano, with headquarters at No. 66 Broadway, New York. The Partido is the supreme Cuban organization in the United States. Senors Tomas Estrada, Gonzalo de Quesado and Benjamin J. Guerra, the delegates recently chosen by the organization, have been duly recognized by Maximo Gomez, the general-in-chief of the Cuban army.

You will miss many a good thing if you don't read The Evening Times.

A KNIFE in the hand of a Surgeon gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting.

The Triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that

RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

TUMORS, Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the perils of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large. Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

MOTHERS

and those soon to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its tortures, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

MRS. DORA A. CUTHRIE, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, or at least it proved so with me. I never suffered so little with any of my children as I did with my last."

Nervous Disorders.

All about us every day we see men who are on the verge of nervous breakdown.

There is a gradual failure of the memory, occasional wandering of the mind, especially at night, slow, dragging, imperfect speech, with use of the wrong word at times, loss of energy and ambition, unsteady walking and dizziness. Often too, things fall out of the hands, the invalid is drowsy and full of sleep, yet cannot sleep; he has a slow pulse, his legs are cold and numb. He is sent away for a rest by his anxious family and after a time returns in better condition, only to break down again in a short while and become much worse than before. Paralysis comes on slowly, and if the disease is not checked, he is soon a hopeless wreck.

What is needed? Simply the searching diagnosis and skillful treatment of the specialist at the proper time. All the dire consequences can be averted by Dr. Walker's treatment. One month may save your life or from a worse fate than sudden death.

MRS. ANNIE J. YOUNG RELEASED.

Those Victimized by Her Requested District Attorney to Do So.

District Attorney A. A. Birney yesterday nolle prossed the case against Mrs. Annie J. Young, confined in the jail on the charge of false pretenses, and she was released from custody. Mr. Birney said that he took that action at the earnest solicitation of most, if not all, of the merchants and business men whom Mrs. Young was reported to have victimized.

The full story of Mrs. Young's transactions and her arrest, on August 1, was told in The Times. She is a tall, refined and handsome woman of about fifty, who claimed to have come from New York, and said that she had but two alternatives before her, to steal or beg. She chose the former, she said at the time.

About July 17 she was alleged to have passed a check for $17, drawn on the Garfield National Bank, of New York, on Mr. Mason C. Grasty, of No. 1519 Seventh street northwest. The check was worthless.

Subsequently she is said to have got various sums from a number of persons, among whom were the following: James A. Donovan, No. 12 Riggs Market, $6.50; Henry Thomas, Riggs Market, $8.50; Thomas G. Hoover, No. 123 Fifth street northwest, $5.50; James T. Kengla, Center Market, $5; Charles H. Burgess, No. 1341 Eighth street northwest, $12.50.

Detectives were placed on the case, and after a few days Mrs. Young was arrested at No. 312 C street northwest, just as she was getting ready to leave for New York. She admitted all of her shady transactions and said she was forced to steal or beg.

It was believed that Mrs. Young had been the possessor of a handsome estate which was rapidly run through with after the death of her husband. She was seized at the time of her arrest that she had been playing the races heavily and that was the immediate cause of the circumstances to which she was reduced. She lived here three years ago, she claimed.

In attempting to clean the machinery while in motion a towel he had wrapped about his arm was drawn into the rollers, pulling his arm with it. As a result he lost his right hand.

The jury decided that he had contributed to his misfortune by his own negligence.

ROTHSCHILD'S CASE.

Steps to Find Status of American Citizens in Germany.

Bath, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Hon. J. F. Parkhurst, counsel for Morris Rothschild, of this village, received word from Secretary Olney yesterday that instructions have been given to the United States ambassador to Germany to lay Rothschild's case before the imperial government, at Berlin.

Mr. Rothschild left the United States in May for Germany to visit his father, taking with him his naturalization papers and a regular United States passport signed by Secretary Gresham. Shortly after his arrival he was arrested and imprisoned as a deserter from the German army.

After two days in jail he was brought before the military court and allowed to pay a fine of $75 and give bail, pending the decision of the master by the military officials at Berlin.

He did not wait for the decision, but left Germany. Later the German authorities remitted his proposed imprisonment of six weeks, but retained the fine, thus asserting their claim upon a United States citizen to serve in the German army.

WEARY OF THE CONTENTION

Great Britain Anxious to Bring the Venezuelan Matter to an End.

Good Offices of the United States to Be Accepted and a Crisis Averted.

There are indications now that an amicable adjustment of the strained relations between Great Britain and Venezuela may yet be effected and that at no distant date.

If this result be reached it will be due wholly to the influence of the United States and to the persistent tender of its good offices to both countries.

That Great Britain is weary of her contention with the South American republic is a fact too obvious for dispute; that Lord Salisbury realizes that a continuance of the contention may bring the United States into the affair and thus cause trouble between the two great English speaking nations, is also well known.

The British premier has not been unmindful of the attitude of the American press with reference on this matter and it is now believed that he will make some concession to public sentiment here.

Under these circumstances, it is said, the British government may consent to arbitrate the question of title to a portion of the territory now claimed on behalf of British Guiana and contested by Venezuela. If this result has been obtained it will have been brought about by the good offices of the United States, but not as the result of any ultimatum.

It is the understanding that the territory which is to be submitted to arbitration includes the greater part of the rich mining district of the Yuruari, embracing some 33,000 square miles, claim to which was first advanced by British Guiana between 1885 and 1887.

It is presumed that Great Britain will still insist upon the so-called "Schomburgk line," to which she has made claim since 1840, but may submit all other territory to arbitration.

Lord Salisbury, once before, in 1890, offered through Minister Robert T. Lincoln to arbitrate all territorial acquisitions west of the Schomburgk line, but he then insisted that Venezuela must first acknowledge the justice of Great Britain's claim to everything east of that line. Whether this demand has since been in any way modified will probably be only definitely known when the correspondence is made public on the assembling of Congress.

COMING TO THE THEATERS

As Robert Gordon in "Government Acceptance," Stuart Robson has a character which gives him wonderful opportunities for clever work, and it is needless to say that Mr. Robson makes the most of them. Theater goers remember with pleasure the occasional peeps he has given them of his power in sentiment and his rapid transition from grave to gay, but in none of his characters of recent years has he had the current of pathos which he can manage so artistically.

In this new play ample opportunity is given him for this style of work. Heretofore his seriousness has only peeped through his comedy; now his comedy peeps through his seriousness. His wit is genuine. Wit is always more brilliant when it glistens through a tear drop, as it does in the character of Robert Gordon. No play of Mr. Robson's was ever staged so magnificently, nor was his supporting company ever so strong, and that is asserting much for this actor, who has ever done his stage picturing with artistic and lavish hand.

The scene of the play is laid in Washington, and in Act I, in the reception scene, the ladies of the cast have an opportunity to wear magnificent gowns, which they do. In fact, magnificent gowns are worn in every act, and with appropriateness, for the action of the play takes place in the best circles of society.

On Monday evening next, at the Lafayette Square Opera House, Mr. Robson will present this new drama to our theater goers, who may certainly expect a treat in witnessing this new feature in the hands of so sterling a comedian. On Saturday evening Mr. Robson will appear as Rob Acres in "The Rivals," this being the only representation of the sterling comedy.

At Convention Hall next week will be Nate Salsbury's great big colored entertainment, "Black America," which has been running at the Madison Square Garden, New York, to such phenomenal business. There are 300 colored men and women in this enterprise, which is the biggest amusement organization ever launched in this country. It is, in fact, on too large a scale to be accommodated in any of our theaters, and Convention Hall is the only place in the city where the exhibition can be given to advantage.

"Black America" has received the most enthusiastic praise from the New York papers, and Gothamites have been flocking to see the entertainment. To those who may have an idea that it is a huge minstrel show it should be stated that it is nothing of the sort. There is nothing approaching minstrelsy in the whole programme. It is a true representation of life on the Southern plantation. The musical effects produced by the big black chorus is said to be astonishing. They sing the happy, tuneful melodies of their plantation homes and the harmony is simply grand. The sound can only be compared with the peals of a giant church organ.

There are many features besides the singing, among which is the "Ole Virginny" cake walk. This is one of the funniest and most interesting things imaginable. It is a walk for a cake by colored men and women who know what a real "cake walk" means.

Bill Nye, the genial humorist, whose name is so widely known, possesses one of the kindliest natures. It is probably this characteristic that makes his humor so popular. It is always genial and sunshiny. There is nothing of the wasp's sting about it. He laughs with you; never at you. It is as though he took you into his confidence in a matter that caused him much merriment.

The people have discovered that although his writings are very humorous when in cold type, when supported by his inimitably droll manner upon the platform his fun is simply irresistible. Bill Nye is now associated with Bert Poole, the genius who has produced so many happy illustrations and cartoons for the Boston papers, as well as Harper's Weekly, Illustrated American, Once a Week and other publications.

These two gentlemen will appear at Metzerott Hall on Saturday evening, October 26, when they will give a most unique and novel entertainment, being the first illustrated humorous entertainment to be given in America. The sale of reserved seats will begin on Monday, October 21 in view of the crowds that are invariably unable to obtain seats when Nye appears, it will be well to secure them early.

There are few attractions on the mimic stage to-day that have stood so long alone in character as Sam. T. Jack's Creole Company, which will appear at Kernan's Lyceum Theater. Mr. Jack conceived his idea, let it mature, and then launched out with a new departure, which has remained a novelty and retained its popularity. It is sent out every season direct from Sam. T. Jack's Opera House, Chicago, Ill., where it undergoes thorough rehearsal, and traveling in its own $15,000 palace hotel car, it is a distinctive organization, incapable of being confounded with any other. It has invariably given satisfaction, and left behind a record which insures on its return a cordial welcome. That Mr. Jack appreciates the liberal patronage showered upon this attraction is evidenced by his unceasing efforts to present something new. This season there is a fresh importation of artists, native belles, merry mestee maidens, comedians, and Southern specialty stars, all of whom have attained high rank.

On next Monday night at the Academy of Music William Haworth's great American play, "On the Mississippi," will begin a week's engagement. This is the second visit to Washington of this immense melodramatic production, which embraces in its performance sensationalism, romance, comedy, and spectacular features. Mr. Haworth's play is truly American and the most successful ever written. The principal events are taken from those two eventful years immediately after the war, when the South, where the scene of action is laid, was in such a feverish and unsettled condition. The dreaded Ku-Klux ruled the South, and from their deeds is taken an important part of the story.

As can be imagined, these incidents are wonderfully thrilling, for the respective parts are played by ladies and gentlemen of sterling ability, working the climaxes to the highest possible pitch of dramatic effect. That showy spectacle, the New Orleans Mardi Gras, furnishes highly colored scenic effect, and is also a large factor in the piece. Abundantly interwoven throughout the piece are humorous sketches by the quaint characters found around the streets and docks of New Orleans, including dancing, singing, and music by the twenty-five darkeys employed in the cast. Notable among these is the Pickaninny band especially engaged for "On the Mississippi." The three hours devoted to each performance of this show is a continuous show of facts, fancies, and comicalities. Never before has a melodrama been produced on such a magnificent scale and so complete in detail.

Any play from the pen of Charles H. Hoyt will enlist the prompt attention of playgoers, and in "A Black Sheep," which is announced for a return engagement at the New National Theater, for the coming week, Mr. Hoyt has achieved one of his most signal successes.

"A Black Sheep" was indorsed by Washington last season and packed this popular theater for a week; it comes this year rewritten, with several new characters, by its gifted author, who has a happy faculty of presenting characterizations that are not only natural, but timely.

The company, which is, of course, headed by that clever comedian, Otis Harlan, is stronger even than last season, and includes "Big Bill" Devere, Ada Dare, the queen of burlesquers; Will Mack, Paula Edwards and Josie Sutherland.

SUGAR MEN'S TRIAL.

Broker Chapman's Test Case to Be Heard in November.

Whatever surmises there may have been, and the impression has been widespread that the so-called recalcitrant Senate investigation committee witnesses would not be brought to trial, have been allayed by District Attorney A. A. Birney, who is now making active preparations for the prosecution of the cases.

"The test case of Mr. Elverton R. Chapman, a broker of the firm of Moore & Schley," said he to The Times reporter yesterday, "will come up on the 7th of next month. His counsel, Judge Jere Wilson and Senator Edmunds, have long since been so notified, and it is my intention to call the case on that date. I presume, of course, they have prepared their defense sufficiently to go on with the trial."

There are seven persons whose fate will depend mainly on the outcome of Broker Chapman's trial. In addition to Mr. Chapman are Messrs. John W. Macarty, Allen Lewis Symour, John E. Searles, and Henry O. Havemeyer, brokers, and Mr. Elisha J. Edwards, a correspondent under the nom de plume of "Holland" for the Philadelphia Press, and Mr. John S. Shriver, correspondent of the New York Mail and Express.
