

Left—To the victor belongs the — congratulations of the fair sex. Sir Thomas Lipton and Miss Evelyn Law in a joyous close-up after the Shamrock's victory in the second race. Miss Law is a dancer from Brooklyn, who was pronounced by Sir Thomas "the most wonderful dancer I've seen." Underwood

MIXED BATHING

Photo by A. Elliott, Cape Town, S. A. (c) W. T. Crespinel, Prizma Inc.

Left—To the victor belongs the — congratulations of the fair sex. Sir Thomas Lipton and Miss Evelyn Law in a joyous close-up after the Shamrock's victory in the second race. Miss Law is a dancer from Brooklyn, who was pronounced by Sir Thomas "the most wonderful dancer I've seen." Underwood

"Ladies and gentlemen," megaphones the sightseeing bus driver of the Euphrates Valley. "you now see before you the Garden of Eden, where stood the 'Tree of Knowledge,' treasured by the Moslems as the original tree from which the serpent tempted Eve. It was recently destroyed by British Tommies and in its place a $1,750 mosque is to be erected." Underwood

Right — Attention, Women's Rights Society! Generous husbands of Algiers permit their women folk to leave their homes but once a week—on Friday—and this holiday is spent in the cemetery with their dead relatives. Most any Friday a Sir Oliver Lodge-like group of forms may be seen in silent meditation among the tombstones. Gillman

The children at the Catholic Orphan Asylum have ample reason to be interested in "Babe" Ruth's batting average, for when the Nemours Trading Corporation offered him a pair of shoes for every home run he knocked, "Babe" decided to donate them to the orphans. Here's the celebrated "King of Swat" and "the Missis" surrounded by a grateful group of kiddies at the Grand Central Palace. Underwood

