

Harding Given 700,000 Margin In Pennsylvania

Senator Appears Far Ahead in Louisville, Where Republican Registration Exceeds Democrats 9,500

Johnson on Tour To-day

Coolidge's Special Train to Leave Capital Oct. 17; Borah and Miller Confer

Republican National Committee headquarters was informed from Philadelphia yesterday that the Republican managers have made a preliminary survey of the state and that the indications are that Harding and Coolidge will carry the state by a plurality of at least 700,000. The city of Reading, which ordinarily is Democratic by about 2,000, shows a Republican registration this year of 5,000 in excess of the Democratic registration. In Louisville, Ky., 56,000 Republican men and women have registered, this figure exceeding the Democratic registration by 5,000. For every hundred Republican men registered there are eighty-seven Republican women registered. In 1916 there were only 28,000 Republican votes cast for Hughes in Jefferson County, which includes Louisville and its suburbs.

Colonel Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the national campaign committee yesterday that Senator Hiram W. Johnson will arrive in San Francisco to-day on his first speaking campaign for the Republican ticket. Governor Coolidge's special train carrying the candidate for Vice-President, Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Job E. Hedges of New York, will leave Washington October 17. The following two days the train will be in Kentucky; October 20, Tennessee; October 21, in North Carolina; October 22, in Virginia; October 23, in West Virginia and Maryland. The trip will end in Baltimore October 24.

Senator Borah was in town yesterday in conference with Mr. Miller. The Senator will speak at Manchester, N. H., October 13, and Nashua, N. H., October 14. Upon his return he will speak at the Morris High School, 105th Street and Boston Road, the Bronx, October 15, and at the Bronx County Republican Committee. Arrangements are in charge of Richard W. Lawrence, chairman. Senator Borah said that he would remain in the East until the following two days, when he will have a conference with Senator New in Chicago next Tuesday, would cover the Western territory. If this is arranged the speakers' bureau will send Senator Borah into Northern New Jersey, Western Maryland and West Virginia.

A partial list of Democrats who have pledged themselves to vote the Republican national ticket and who have allied themselves with the Harding Democratic League was announced yesterday as follows:

- Richard Waldo, former Police Commissioner; Eugene H. Outerbridge, former president of the Chamber of Commerce; Gerald Hull Grey, one-time Tammany candidate for Congress; Morton W. Smith, automobile manufacturer of Fairfield, Conn.; Samuel Miceli, Robert Sedgewick, insurance broker; Samuel J. Waestaf, lawyer; Samuel Baum, silk merchant; David Banks, law book publisher; Leo S. Sal, Baun, rabbi of Congregation Beth Israel, and his assistant, the Rev. M. Tabenhaus; Mark L. Abraham, clothing manufacturer; Leo F. Barzman, ice cream importer; Walter F. Hobbs, New Haven, Conn.; John P. Davis, John A. Griffin, vice-president of the American Bonding Company; Samuel B. Griggs, Michael J. Horan, James P. Farrell, trust officer of the Fidelity Deposit Company; Rupert Kavanaugh, Killian Van Rensselaer, Charles C. Pettiford, Colonel W. E. Davis, Samuel Lawrence, Moahan, Lloyd D. Willis, John T. Cronin, James A. C. Bond, Major John Maher, Lyman W. Redington, A. H. Eastmond, Sidney Harris, John F. Barry, James P. Brown, Edwin C. Bascio, Robert Bascio, Fred M. Smith, George F. Palmer, Cassidy Cook, Theodore S. Slauoh, Edward J. Carroll and Lawrence Gross, secretary of the Thruway Democratic Club of New York.

277 Indicted in Whisky Cases at Atlantic City

Investigation Was Conducted by State Authorities Under a Rarely Used Law

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 8.—The October Grand Jury today handed down 277 indictments against saloon owners and proprietors charging them with the illicit selling of whisky, following an investigation by County Prosecutor E. G. Gaskett, and by private detectives obtained from other cities. Bench warrants were immediately issued by County Judge Ingersoll, and a round-up of prisoners followed. Neither the investigation nor subsequent indictments of today was participated in by Federal agents seeking violation of the Volstead act, but was conducted by state authorities under the New Jersey statute which prohibits the sale of any liquor without a license. For many years this law has been considered obsolete and has rarely been enforced.

Wilson Plea Discredited, Says Harding

War veterans was revealed in Senator Harding's statement: "I want to say to you service men present that I want this government to show you the gratitude of the American people in the most substantial way. I am in favor of generous treatment of America's defenders. America never failed to take care of her defenders. I want to see first the wounded and needy of American defenders receive a generous payment of our obligations. Then, just as quickly as financial plans permit, I want the government to show the same gratitude to all its defenders as the men at home received."

"There was another deafening cheer when Senator Harding mentioned Senator James Reed, Democratic opponent of the League of Nations. "Senator Reed is a Democrat," he said. "Yells of 'No! No!' came from the floor and gallery. 'And I am a Republican,' the Senator continued, 'but I want to say this country owes a debt it never can measure to Jim Reed before he is a partisan.' Many of the audience rose in their seats to cheer this statement.

Discussing the high cost of living, Senator Harding said: "One of the ways to lower prices for the American people is to refuse to buy when they think the profiteers have conspired against them. Repeal of the excess profits tax and assurance of economy in government affairs were promised by the nominee as measures of relief."

"I want the present high standard of wages to abide," he said, and a man far back in the hall yelled shrill approval, whereat the crowd laughed. "And I want them to abide only on condition that the American wage earner gives 100 per cent efficiency," finished Senator Harding. Expressing his hopes for a great American merchant marine, Senator Harding referred to the Jones shipping bill and said that when he is President, "we are either going to enforce the law, or call Congress into session and tell them why."

not believe in one-man government in the United States or anywhere else in the world. "I want to say to you now," said the nominee at another point in his speech, "the Democratic nominee, in accord with the President, is in favor of accepting the Paris covenant for a League of Nations, and says he is. I am not."

"I don't mean by that that I, as President, will never submit a league or an association of nations for its full part in contributing to the uplift of humanity and maintaining world civilization. We could not hold aloof from the world under modern conditions if we chose. But I mean by that that I am opposed to mortgaging the United States of America to Europe.

"I mean by that that I, as President, will never submit a league or an association of nations for its full part in contributing to the uplift of humanity and maintaining world civilization. We could not hold aloof from the world under modern conditions if we chose. But I mean by that that I am opposed to mortgaging the United States of America to Europe.

"I believe, my countrymen, it is inevitable that there will be some association of nations for the promotion and preservation of peace. I think it likely, nay, more, I think it is desirable. But I want it based on justice rather than on force.

"What does the league do? It does not do a thing—mark you, 'the' league, 'that' league, the league that we are 'that' going to have my countrymen. It league creates a military alliance made up chiefly of the five great powers of the world, which are interested in existing conditions brought about at the Peace Conference in Paris, and then says: 'We will maintain this situation for all time to come.'"

"I was after a triumphal automobile ride through the streets of St. Joseph, crowded with eager Missourians anxious to see the next President and anxious for the Senator to know they were going to vote for him, that the candidate declared he wants a League of Nations that will be based on justice rather than force. When he said he was opposed to going into the Versailles League the entire gathering rose to its feet and yelled its approval. They also yelled with wild yahoos when he said 'I don't believe in one-man government.'"

No Separate Peace, White's Latest Slogan

Democratic National Chairman Announces Issue Has Been Well Defined by Senator Harding

Says People Will Awaken

Republicans Willing to Print League Covenant With Lodge Reservations

George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, last night announced that the new slogan of the Democrats of the nation, for the remainder of the campaign, would be: "No separate peace with Germany."

"The speech of Senator Harding in Des Moines verified the proposal in his speech of acceptance and his vote on the Knox resolution in favor of a separate peace with Germany," he said. "We are for the Treaty of Versailles, which includes the covenant of the League of Nations, and the Republicans are committed to a separate peace, deserting our allies and permitting the Germans to escape all the obligations which defeat laid upon them. In the next three weeks you will see this country realize the obloquy of such a stand by the party of Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt."

"The first prominent Republican to resent it publicly, I learn, is Herbert Parsons, former New York Representative in Congress. He has decided to support the league by the only practical means. This does credit to his patriotism and convictions. We welcome him, fighting with us for a cause beyond partisanship. There will be many more."

Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, defeated for the leadership of his own state by Colonel William J. Bryan, who was at Democratic headquarters yesterday said that the speech by Senator Harding at Des Moines means that if Harding is elected the United States would not enter the league, while the election of Cox would mean the contrary.

Chairman White said yesterday that he had received an answer from Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, to his request that the Republicans join with him in requesting the newspapers to print the full text of the covenant of the League of Nations, but, he said, he could not exactly make out whether he has agreed to or rejected the suggestion.

Chairman White last night sent a letter to Chairman Hays thanking him for his courteous and prompt reply to his suggestion. His letter is, in part, as follows: "In your reply you made several counter proposals, but as I finally interpret your letter, after several readings, you do not directly accede to or reject my request. You do suggest that we appeal for publication of the text of the covenant with the Senate reservations, but doubtless when you read that you were not aware that Senator Harding at Des Moines had accepted these reservations—turned his back on them—come out flatly for the rejection of the covenant and all that went with it. This announcement manifestly takes the reservations out of the issue."

"The issue turns on the text of the covenant, with the reservations suggested by Governor Cox in his speech at acceptance. We are for it as amended. Your candidate is against it. Will you not, therefore, accede to my original request, or, if you prefer we can add the Cox reservations to the text desired to be published, and your candidate has come out directly against them?"

Woman Dry Agent Loses Post in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Glad K. Warburton, holding a temporary appointment as Federal Prohibition Supervisor for California, was relieved of her position to-day through a telegram sent her by Commissioner of Internal Revenue William M. Williams. Mrs. Warburton's removal followed the presentation of evidence to the Federal grand jury yesterday that a conspiracy of former whisky brokers and others had been formed here for the purpose of illegally withdrawing liquor stocks from bonded warehouses. Mrs. Warburton denied knowledge of such operations.

Mrs. Crosby Bolts Cox; Will Work for Republican Ticket

Pioneer Leader of Women Democrats of State Takes Presidency of Harding and Wadsworth League

Mrs. John Sherwin Crosby, pioneer leader among the women Democrats of New York, has bolted the Democratic ticket and will support Harding and Coolidge, according to announcement from the headquarters of the Harding Democratic League last night. Mrs. Crosby has accepted the presidency of the Harding and Wadsworth League of Democratic Women Voters, which is to have its headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria. In a statement Mrs. Crosby said:

"I am, as I have always been, a Democrat, but I intend to support and to work for Senator Harding, Senator Wadsworth and their associates on the Republican ticket if only as a protest against conditions on the Cox side which are intolerable to women voters of independence, intelligence and, I may say, self-respect. Senator Harding appeals strongly to the support of women voters, and the other Republican candidates do, too, not excepting Senator Wadsworth."

"Mr. Wadsworth voted in the Senate against the woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution. His vote was in conformity with the Republican national platform of 1916, which declared in favor of permitting the people to pass upon this question for themselves. He took the position, which every Democrat should agree to, that the people themselves, in the several states, should not be deprived of the privilege of settling the matter by their own votes, and he would not deny to the people of any state these rights which should be preserved to the people of New York. Senator Wadsworth sought in this to preserve the rights which they enjoy under their state Constitution, and for this reason voted against the amendment. The amendment has since passed Congress and has been ratified by the states. It is a part of the law of the land, and intelligent women in this state have quarrel with Senator Wadsworth and will be found next month among his most active supporters."
