Thursday Morning, October 29, 1874.

The Railroad Conductors' Insurance Association seems to be going the way of all co-operative enterprises in America.

The little town of Naperville, in the First Congressional District, has been made a pivotal point of the campaign.

Some instructive reading will be found about this time in the reports of the safe-burglary trial at Washington.

The Committee appointed to congratulate President Grant on behalf of the Union Leagues for his recent Cabinet appointments did its work in a graceful and becoming, though not severely logical, fashion.

The Episcopal General Convention... Report on the proceedings of the church conference.

The admirer of William Cullen Bryant proposes to give him, on his 80th birthday, some testimonial of the order and love which have been awarded by his career as a poet and a public man.

A spectacular performance of unusual indecency was given by Mr. Henry L. Davies in Salem, Mass., night before last.

The inauguration of the President and Chancellor of the Chicago University to-night comes more like the benediction after prayer than the grace before meat.

Chancellor McCraw, of Alabama, who is classed with the respectable Republican element of the South, has voluntarily certified to the good order prevailing in his judicial division.

The Chicago produce markets were stronger yesterday, with more business done. Lard was in good demand and 25c per lb higher.

The Southern "tea-party" which followed that of Boston by nearly a year has been celebrated in Annapolis.

In urgent demand and 2 1/2% higher, closing at 45c for October, and 45c for November. Hogs were quiet and firm at 81c @ 92c.

The Miners' Convention at Cleveland is disposed to imitate the example of the Engineers' Brotherhood, and disregard the advice of its President.

An absurd story has been started in the Third Congressional District to the effect that Mr. Le Moyne is a "Kentucky Copperhead."

A bit of sharp practice quite unworthy of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is exposed this morning by our special correspondent in Harrisburg.

The problem, What becomes of the American voter? is as intricate as the other. What becomes of all the plans?

It is a mournful commentary on the census system that the Republicans of the First Senatorial District are compelled to continue Mr. George A. White as a candidate for the State Senate.

If there is anybody who believes there is nothing in the Third-Term talk, we refer him to the gatherings of one day from miscellaneous sources that bear on this subject.

set fire to himself in the presence of a great multitude of people. The celebration was held both at Annapolis, the old Capital, and Baltimore, the present metropolis.

We are informed that a repeating organization has been formed to operate on election day in the Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, and Thirteenth wards.

The registry of the Eighteenth and Twentieth Wards, on the North Side, and of the Tenth and Eleventh Wards, on the West Side, have already been sprinkled with names, fraudulent and fictitious.

Some of the Western railroads are considering the expediency of cutting down the pay of their engineers. If they decide to do so, there is a probability of a general strike.

It is difficult to decide the justice of the proposed reduction. On the one hand, the railroad managers claim, with justice, that the roads must retrace, and that it is not unfair, under such circumstances, to ask their employees to work for the wages which their fellows receive at the East and on some of the Western lines.

When so much was said on both sides of the question, it is the part of prudence to compromise. If the reduction of pay is really in contemplation, the companies and the engineers will do the best possible thing for their mutual welfare by appointing a conference committee.

Dr. Lyon Playfair, an authority, if there be one, on the subject of sanitary science, has in his address before the Social Science Congress at Glasgow, reduced the whole subject to one word, and that not an unfamiliar one—cleanliness.

in the ancient religions. The epidemics of the middle ages, the spotted plague, the black death, the sweating sickness, the dancing mania, the mowing mania, and the biting mania, had their origin in the neglect of personal cleanliness.

Prof. Playfair did not confine himself to the historical phase of his subject. He threw out practical suggestions which are worthy of consideration everywhere. He reminded his hearers that we allow garbage to be only partially oxidized, and thus save it from being made harmless by natural agents.

At least one religious newspaper has been run to earth in the matter of the corrupt use of its columns to further the sale of railroad bonds.

There are vague suspicions in the public mind that others have been receiving money from the same illegitimate sources, and have devoted one portion of their column to the elucidation of morality, and the other to the interests of Mammon.
