What Comes Next?

Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune. Boston, April 20.—Sunday evening, the 19th, when the lights suddenly flashed out of the steeple and belfry of the Old Christ Church...

had brought out a good many eight-seeing stragglers; but it remained for the evening display in the old steeple and belfry of the Old Christ Church to lead into anything like enjoyment...

Long and long before the time that the exercises within the church that evening were announced to begin, floor and galleries were completely filled with the crowd...

Never saw such weather in April! "Wish some of those old fellows would bequeath us their 10th-of-April weather!" were some of the grumbling remarks that the blue-nosed, shivering celebrators were constantly perpetrating...

During the day, through all the speeches, making the most of the weather, we had the sun for a friendly ally; but, in the evening, what rheumatic limbs to the other ones, what nervous epaulets to the younger, did not that the sun was behind a cloud...

It was a man in a blue frock, with a white cravat, and a white necktie, and a white waistcoat, and a white waistcoat, and a white waistcoat, and a white waistcoat...

Concord had the best of it in her ball-dollings; and a good many people thought she had the best of it in her ball-dollings; and a good many people thought she had the best of it in her ball-dollings...

and so, with this ball, the Centennial came to a close. It was a most successful and enjoyable affair, and we all enjoyed it very much...

COUNCIL BLUFFS.

The Union Pacific Transfer—Exchange Club—Shooting and Flinging.

Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune. Council Bluffs, Ia. April 21.—In this correspondence, last winter, I gave a full history—as full as I could make it to one letter—of the UNION PACIFIC TRANSFER INDROGUE...

The view I took of it was, that the public at large were more interested in a speedy settlement of the terms of the transfer than either Council Bluffs or Omaha. I have watched with peculiar interest the travel over the trunk lines of Iowa to this point, within the past few weeks...

The season has come when emigrants form the large majority of those who use the Union Pacific and the Iowa railroads for travel. Recently, in two days, 1,000 emigrants went westward from this point. It is, they were loaded, with their baggage, on this side of the river, transferred to the cars and carried across, deposited in the emigrant-house of the Union Pacific Railroad Company...

The actual point on its mandate to compel the Union Pacific to operate its road to this side of the river as one continuous line. Under the act of March 3, 1874, the transfer from the United States Circuit Court to the United States Supreme Court, no appeal can be taken where the amount in controversy does not exceed the sum of $5,000...

In the same spirit as the "Exchange Club" welcome those who visit Council Bluffs. It is free from the bustle and rage of ordinary hotel-life. You can put your feet on the fence and see the river and the town, and the town and the river, and the town and the river...

This correspondence is no "Shooting Club," but one in which the most successful and enjoyable part of the game is in the playing of the game. The game is in the playing of the game, and the game is in the playing of the game...

Our Western live streams are turgid. The fact of the matter is that the water in the live streams is not of the flavor of those living in the mountains. The fact is, indiscriminate slaughter by dragging is making fish scarce, and the State Legislature has taken steps to protect the streams from hatching-beds...

MAN AND WOMAN. Man was saying: "How can we, in our little boats, do the work of the great steamship?" Woman in reply: "How! I will outdo you in a flash!"
