A Word With Our Readers.

To take down, remove, put up again and properly adjust such an elaborate, complicated and ponderous piece of mechanism as one of the latest improved Hoe presses, is a job of no small difficulty and cannot be done in a hurry. It is, therefore, although the removal of our press from Ninth street was commenced about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the superintendent in charge has been unable to get the machine in its new quarters and get it into working order in time for this evening's publication.

A Senator Placated.

The National Republican says this morning that the Administration has formed an "alliance" with Senator Vest. This is very important, if true, since it may indicate a desire on the part of the Administration to be friendly with itself.

Senator Vest, like every other Democratic Senator and member of the House, is part and parcel of the Administration, and must share alike its glory or its obloquy. Mr. Vest, moreover, is farthest removed from the political cyclone. He doesn't howl at his own head. He doesn't lie in wait for anything that is Democratic, or stay up nights to capture his own. Why was it necessary, therefore, to "placate" Senator Vest? True, the Administration would have a sorry time, perchance, without his aggressive earnestness and brilliant eloquence, but there was no danger of losing his services or his friendship so long as Democratic principles remained uppermost at the White House. Aid Democratic principles may not be hopefully involved in the distribution of the offices.

But our esteemed contemporary puts special stress on the fact that Senator Vest has been "placated" by special courtesy from Secretary Bayard. This is certainly a mistake. For if public memory is not treacherous it will recall a young army of Misourians who came here in the springtime of the Administration to secure some of the comfortable berths in "foreign parts," but who, after many weary days of waiting returned without a commission.

If Secretary Bayard or President Cleveland had deemed it necessary to "placate" Senator Vest, that was their opportunity. If Senator Vest had, in the opinion of the Administration, reached that point where only a share of the offices would save his Democracy, there were many instances in which he could have been "placated." That he obtained very little patronage for himself or his friends, particularly from Secretary Bayard, was evidence sufficient that the Administration recognized his Democracy as of that enduring, rock-like kind that is neither bought nor sold.

The fact that Secretary Bayard has been invited by the great State of Missouri to address its citizens next month is only another evidence that Missouri Democracy cherishes no bitterness for having been conspicuously ignored by the State Department.

After a careful review of all the facts, therefore, we may safely assert that the Republican's insinuations are unjust and unfair toward Senator Vest and his powerful constituency, who are Democrats from principle and not for the office.

PEOPLE IN GENERAL.

Mrs. Thomas A. Hendricks left Washington yesterday for Indianapolis, where she will spend the summer. The Vice-President is expected to return through the Northwest this spring and summer.

Dr. Moran of this city, who recently wrote a life of Edgar A. Poe, will be one of the speakers at the unveiling of the Poe Monument in Central Park, New York, to-day.

Mr. Lawrence Barrett's dramatic season will end at Montreal May 23.

The literary societies of the University of Virginia have invited Postmaster-General Vilas to address them at their joint celebration of the centennial of the Declaration of Independence.

The Scandinavian residents of New York tendered a banquet to the newly-appointed Minister to Denmark, Professor Basmus B. Anderson of Chicago, Saturday night.

Charles Francis Adams, Jr., of Massachusetts, and Congressman Frank Hiseock of New York, the latter with his family, are now in the city of Mexico, with the object in view of attending the May festival to-morrow.

Hon. John A. Swope, who was elected to Congress to succeed Mr. Blaine, will be inaugurated in the Nineteenth Pennsylvania District, caused by the death of Mr. Duncan, is more than likely to be elected for the full term of the Forty-ninth Congress.

Colonel G. W. Hollister is collecting materials for a biography of Senator Oakes. He is a brother-in-law of the late Vice-President.

The publishers of the "Barber's Gazette," a weekly newspaper about to be started in New York, are making a valuable acquisition in the person of Mr. Blaine, who has been leased for the same cottage at Bar Harbor which he occupied last summer.

rest had to extinction. If, not severe measures must be adopted to compel acquiescence in the authority of the United States and its judicial tribunals, which is higher than that of the latter Day Salats.

Polygamy had the fullest opportunity to demonstrate its right to survive. It has had the kindest consideration from the courts, beginning with the tribunal of its own Territory and ending with the court of last resort and supreme jurisdiction. It has received the full benefit of legislative leniency, and has been convicted an every point. Now let the hammers of the law be its duty.

The Illinois contingent was re-conferred this morning by the arrival of Judge Lambert Troie of Chicago, who is now regarded as the Senatorial possibility in Illinois. Judge Troie is a strong Democrat, a good politician, and has abundant wealth. Besides, he has expressed a desire to take up his abode in Washington as the representative of his State in place of General Logan.

His arrival led to a great deal of talk, the large body of Illinois statesmen who have for more than a week been conspicuous in the hotel lobbies, and there are all sorts of rumors of agreements, wherein Colonel Morrison's retirement from the race is expressed, and General Black's influence estimated. None of these rumors have, however, been corroborated.

Now that Deacon Oberly has qualified as an Indian Inspector, it is hoped he will see that the red man is clad in least part and more blankets. Journalism has some claims on Colonel Oberly, and it appears to him to be an arrange matters that Congressional jockeying committees will not charge their modestly again shocked while in the territorial duties. But we call Mr. Oberly's special attention to that neglected tribe of Cigar Store Indians. The Government has not seen proper to reward their silent fidelity to civilization, but we feel assured that Mr. Oberly's heart will be touched by their mute appeals. There is a chance for a "coop" here.

In referring from the military yesterday Rev. Dr. Burchard explained that the church "needed a lighter and younger pastor, who could climb any number of stairs and do missionary work." The Republican party thought that Dr. Burchard himself was active enough for all practical purposes, but it will not be displeased with a "lighter" man—one who will be less of a political pie-driver, as it were.

The enterprise of the New York Graphic Company in starting a Sunday morning edition of their admirable newspaper is one to be commended and will no doubt be universally appreciated. Judging by the initial issue of yesterday, with its profuse use of illustrations and excellent literary features, it is an assured success from the start.

The New York World has directed Henry W. Aldrich, managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, to depart at once for London, and there remain as the World's correspondent until the termination of the Anglo-Russian difficulty. Mr. Aldrich is an Englishman and one of the brightest journalists in the West.

The visit of the President and his Cabinet to Gettysburg, gives the region to-day a national aspect that will not be lost on the survivors of that memorable battle.

The President, who is in Gettysburg today, is expected in Washington again at half past nine o'clock this evening. Numerous delegations are lying in wait for him.

The objective point of the Virginia politicians just now appears to be the Richmond postoffice. Not less than three grand attacks have been concerted for its capture.

Professor Mendenhall has calculated that the weight of the earth is six sextillion tons. Does this include Judge David Davis?

THE RICHMOND POSTOFFICE. A Tripartite Contest for the Re-election of the Capital of the Old Dominion is very much excited about their future postmaster, and the contest between the friends of rival candidates has assumed a phase of unusual excitement.

It is a friendly fight, though, between three very popular gentlemen, each claiming the approval of his "backers" or admirers. At the center "Siva Richmond" was in the field, but Messrs. Charles P. Bigger and John M. Higgins having withdrawn, the regular fight narrowed down to a triangular struggle between Colonel William S. Gilman, the well-known Journalist, Mr. William H. Callingsworth and Colonel John H. Cary, two popular business men.

The three delegations arrived in the city this morning and were somewhat disappointed to find the President and most of the Cabinet absent at Gettysburg. They will therefore have to remain over until to-morrow. Mr. Gilman's and Mr. Cary's delegations are quartered at the Metropolitan, while Mr. Callingsworth's is at the National.
