

symptoms that congestion and inflammation of the bronchial and tracheal tubes were acute.

Professor Marchisava then repeated in a more energetic manner the absolute necessity of the Pope being kept completely quiet, even without speaking. The physician pointed out that just before he arrived in the sickroom the Pope, contrary to the doctor's wishes, was taking great interest in the celebration of the jubilee of Emperor Constantine on Sunday in the Church of St. John Lateran, where Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli will pontificate as papal legate, conducting this most important ceremony with the assistance of the cardinals and the papal court.

In fact, His Holiness would have liked to see Cardinal Vannutelli in order to give him last instructions. It is believed that he would have even overcome the resistance of his entourage if, in the meanwhile, the chills had not supervened.

Physician's Plain Talk.

When Professor Marchisava left the bedroom of the Pope he had a long conversation with the Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Merry del Val, the physician plain saying that he would not take upon himself responsibility for the treatment of the Pope unless he was certain that his orders would be carried out. The doctor's principal request was that the patient shall abstain from any physical or mental exertion, not only for a few days but for a long period.

Although the general public was shocked to hear that Pope Pius had suffered a new relapse, it cannot be said that this turn for the worse caused much surprise, as His Holiness was allowed too soon to do things which would have tried the constitution of a much younger man.

It must be remembered that the Pope, after having been ill during the whole of last month, suffered a relapse on Monday with the gravest symptoms. It was then said that only a miracle could save him. The miracle evidently occurred, as two days later the fever stopped, all traces of the condition of albuminuria, which usually accompanies influenza, went, and all other dangerous symptoms disappeared.

Notwithstanding this, Professor Ettore Marchisava, the Pope's chief physician, was not deceived. He constantly repeated to the Vatican attendants that the Holy Father could only live by following the strictest regimen, consisting of taking extreme care and having constant rest.

Received Four Bishops.

Instead of adhering to the physician's advice the Pontiff was allowed to rise from his bed and even to leave the bedroom, thus exposing himself to a change of temperature. Besides this he received four bishops yesterday morning, with consequent excitement.

The Pontiff, who had been allowed to read for a certain time each day, spent some time yesterday afternoon with his niece reading and answering a letter from his brother, Angelo, who was prevented coming to Rome by his gradually declining health.

The Pope was heard to say "Angelo" (who is a country postman) "is as obstinate as a mule. Why will he not give up work and come here? He is an old man now"—quite ignoring the fact that there are only a few years between them.

Pilgrims to Pray for Him.

About the time the relapse occurred nearly one thousand pilgrims from the diocese of Treviso, led by their bishop, were received, like those of yesterday, by the Papal Secretary of State, Bishop Longhin, in presenting the pilgrims, said that they were grieved that their most ardent desire and the chief object of their pilgrimage—to see the Holy Father—was impossible. He begged Cardinal Merry del Val to tell the Pope that seventy priests and nine hundred children of the Treviso church in all the days of their sojourn in Rome had constantly prayed God "to preserve our dear father for many years to the glory of the Church and the affection of the Catholic world."

The Cardinal answered, recalling that in the books of the Apostles it is said that the followers of Saint Peter, when unable to reach his person, must be satisfied with his shadow. He added: "Allow me for the moment to consider myself the shadow of the Pope, and tell you in his name how tenderly he loves you and your families and wishes you all spiritual good."

He urged the pilgrims fervently to pray for the recovery of the Pope in order that he may return to work for the good of the Church and the people. The Cardinal ended by imparting to all the apostolic blessing.

FRIEDMANN GETS FIRST PROFITS IN PROVIDENCE

Results There So Encouraging, Financially, New York May Wait Long.

MANY FROM HERE FOLLOW

Dr. Landesman Leads Party That Returns Jubilant Over Treatment with Turtle Germ Serum.

Like the spies of old, who returned to the wilderness after a sojourn in the promised land, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann's first assistant, Dr. Maurice A. Sturm, returned to this city yesterday with good tidings from Providence, where he and the turtle germ discoverer journeyed last Tuesday in search of a land overflowing with milk and honey. The "first fruits" were far from disappointing, according to Dr. Sturm, who is house physician at the Ansonia, and who told a glowing tale of patients without end and fees in plenty.

"The doctor and the doctor received phenomenally large fees are greatly exaggerated," said the Ansonia house physician. "He did not do so badly, however. He made less than $2,000."

"The doctor meant no discourtesy to the physicians in charge of the government tests at Seton," said Dr. Sturm, and he saw no harm in running up to Providence for a week, where he could make a little money. You know, he has been under very heavy expense since he came to America in February. Everything was going out and nothing coming in."

Law Banned Practice Here.

When Dr. Friedmann arrived in this city he announced his intention of practicing, but was notified by the County Medical Society that he could not follow such a course without violating the medical law of New York State. It was pointed out yesterday that his fees in this city, based on the money he has received in the three or four days he has been treating patients in Providence, would have been enormous.

The Providence hotel which had agreed to permit the germ discoverer to take patients was so overrun with applicants that the proprietors asked Dr. Friedmann to announce that he would take no more patients. "This seemed a good deal of a joke to Dr. Sturm."

"We were put out of the hotel," he announced with great gusto, "because the patients came in such swarms. They were not only consumptive cases, but they wanted to be treated for diabetes, rheumatism and all sorts of complaints."

Dr. Sturm said that the members of the County Medical Society in Providence had made no overtures to his chief. "They had taken no action one way or the other," Dr. Sturm said, and set great store by the fact that they were in Providence at the invitation of the Governor. "And we had a man from the Governor who was always with us to see that nothing happened," added the germ discoverer's assistant.

Dr. Sturm also said with much pride that a bill was pending in the Rhode Island Legislature providing for the payment of the doctor's expenses while in the state.

On the Gridiron in Washington.

Dr. Friedmann has not announced how long he will remain in Providence. He has arranged to see patients at the office of Dr. Dwinell, No. 35 Jackson street, in Providence, where he expects to return on Monday. He left for Washington yesterday to attend the dinner of the Gridiron Club.

Providence is already full of people who have come from this and other cities to be treated by him. Dr. Max Landesman, who says he is the first physician in America to recognize the germ discoverer, took a large delegation of poor East Side consumptives, who were referred to by Dr. Sturm as "Coxey's Army," to the Rhode Island City. The Landesman party received the treatment and returned to this city rejoicing.

According to the Ansonia doctor, a hundred letters have been sent to applicants in various parts of the country, to appear in Providence for treatment.

Meanwhile the fifty patients in Seton Hospital, who were ready for treatment over a week ago, are languishing and wondering when the doctor will get back. There is some feeling that they may never receive the treatment. It is not impossible that the demands on the turtle germ discoverer's time may extend the Providence trip indefinitely, and it has been hinted that Dr. Lavender, who is in charge of the government tests at Seton, may be recalled to Washington, and, except for the few patients treated, the extensive tests originally planned be abandoned entirely.

PROGRESS SLOW FOR FRIEDMANN PATIENT

Pittsburgh Lawyer Treated in Berlin Eleven Weeks Ago Said To Be Far from Cured.

FIRST RESULTS HOPEFUL

Second Inoculation, However, Fails to Produce the Benefits Expected and Third Treatment Is Given.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Pittsburgh, April 12.—Fertilized with the experience of a lawyer, David S. McCann, a typical tubercular victim, who was sent to Berlin, Germany, to receive the tuberculosis serum cure direct from Dr. Friedmann himself, "The Pittsburgh Press" to-morrow will say: "There is yet no conclusive evidence whatever that the Friedmann treatment is worth a penny to any pulmonary consumptive who is seeking an absolute and positive cure."

On January 21, eleven weeks ago, McCann received his first treatment. When the German physician came to America, Professor Schleich took charge of his Berlin patients, including McCann. In all, McCann has received three injections of the serum.

"The Press" further will say: "Results obtained up to the present time in Attorney McCann's case, who has been under treatment for eleven weeks in Berlin, do not bear out all the claims made for Dr. Friedmann's serum."

"The test, although incomplete, has demonstrated that the spreading broadcast of the impression that pulmonary tuberculosis could be completely eradicated in from four to six weeks' treatment by Dr. Friedmann's method is unwarranted, unjustified and misleading."

"Improvement in patients immediately following inoculation is not necessarily an indication of a cure, and cannot be accepted as such. Mr. McCann's condition showed extraordinary improvement for a few weeks, but since his condition has changed very little, if any, and his progress has been extremely slow, Mr. McCann's condition shows improvement, but whether this improvement was caused by the serum injections has not yet been established."

"Hopes of consumptives for a quick cure by the Friedmann treatment are groundless, and inroads upon the patients' money and vitality to take the treatment are unwarranted until a conclusion as to its value has been reached."

The second inoculation of the serum, according to "The Press," did not produce any beneficial results so far as Mr. McCann, or any one who saw and talked with him, observed. About ten days ago a third inoculation was made.

Immediately following the first treatment, the distressing symptoms, such as high fever, night sweats and coughing spasms, for the time disappeared. Increased weight and strength followed. Following the second inoculation, however, the improvement apparently ceased, and Mr. McCann is still far from being cured.

THE KEHILLAH ROUTS VICE

Lower East Side Cleaned Up by Organized Jews.

It was the Kehillah that cleaned up the East Side. As a consequence of its initiative, said Dr. J. L. Magnes, chairman of its executive committee, last night, the Jewish parts of the lower East Side of New York were never freer from vice and crime than they are to-day.

The Kehillah is the organized Jewish community of the city. It is composed of representatives of more than 200 Jewish organizations, and aims to further the cause of Judaism and to represent the Jews of New York City in all matters of local interest. The chairman's statement was made last night before the opening session of its fourth annual convention at the Hebrew Technical School for Girls, Second avenue and 15th street.

As the result of a resolution adopted on July 26 of last year, Dr. Magnes added, the Kehillah organized a welfare committee, which succeeded in closing a large number of gambling dens, houses of prostitution, opium joints and other disreputable places and crushed out horse poisoning.

"The Kehillah can view with satisfaction," said the chairman, "the fact that, as an organization, it stepped into the breach. If similar work is undertaken with the co-operation of the authorities by other organizations in other sections of the city there can be little doubt that this city will be relieved of a large part of the vice and crime under which it staggers."

Referring to the friction apparent in the Kehillah recently between the reformed and orthodox Jews, the chairman declared that the organization's aim was a united, not a uniform, community. He urged the opposing factions to come together and talk over their differences, so that out of them a higher duty might come to Israel.

The executive committee endorsed two bills now before the Legislature, one to incorporate the Kehillah and the other to permit shops which remain closed on Saturday to open on Sunday. It also laid plans for bringing order to Jewish religious and educational systems and for caring for the handicapped classes, especially the more recent acquisitions to the Jewish community, the Jews of the Ottoman empire. Owing to the war in the Balkans, said Dr. Magnes, the immigration of Ottoman Jews to this country was increasing rapidly.

SULZER SEES MURPHY

Governor and Leader Meet at Jefferson Dinner.

Governor Sulzer came down from Albany last night to attend the Jefferson dinner of the National Democratic Club, at which he was one of the speakers. It was expected he would hold several political conferences while in the city. Charles E. Murphy, of Tammany Hall, was at the dinner. Neither the Governor nor Mr. Murphy would say whether they intended to "talk matters over" while the Governor was in the city.

GOVERNOR'S PRIMARY PLAN PUT IN SHAPE

Sulzer's Committee of Nine Drafts Tentative Measure Embodying His Recommendations for a State-Wide Direct System.

Albany, April 12.—The committee of nine appointed by Governor Sulzer at a conference in the Executive Chamber yesterday to frame legislation embodying the Governor's recommendations for a state-wide direct primary law, including the abolition of state conventions, completed a tentative draft of the bill to-day.

The provisions were approved by the Governor and turned over to the legislative bill drafting department, to be put in form for introduction in the Legislature, probably next week. It will be known as the Sulzer bill. The principal provisions of the measure follow:

Election districts shall be the unit of representation; all designations for public office and party position shall be by petition; no party emblem or circle shall be placed on the primary ballot; the use of party funds at primary elections shall be prohibited; a state committee, with a membership of 100, or one from each Assembly district, shall be established; the number of names required on a nomination certificate shall be reduced; proper limitations shall be placed on that may be expended by any candidate for the purpose of securing a nomination.

CABARET ON THE ISLAND

Third Vaudeville Show of Series Given for Blackwell's Inmates.

Nearly three thousand of the city's poor were entertained at a cabaret in the chapel on Blackwell's Island yesterday afternoon. The entertainment was the third of a series arranged by Mrs. Michael J. Drummond, wife of the charity commissioner, who hopes to give one each Saturday afternoon until June.

Perhaps the act that pleased most was that of Norman Gershan and Baby Lu, who sing of popular songs, songs, waltzes, and popular songs, and gained vociferous applause. Singing, dancing, comedy sketches, pianists and violinists and almost everything that goes to make a modern vaudeville entertainment were on the programme, which lasted more than three hours.

Among the performers were Luke Rogers and company, Delaney and Lee, Carrie Lilly, Al Clayton and George Kahn, Pinksy Williams, Dipp and Moran, Sam Bron and Edward McLoughlin, Dr. John J. Grant, of the City Hospital staff, was stage manager.

A subscription dinner for former presidents of the Republican Club, at Nos. 54 and 56 West 46th street, was given in the club rooms last night. J. Van Vechten, president of the club, presided, and among those who spoke were former presidents James W. Hawes, Arthur L. Merriam, Chauncey M. Depew, Louis Stern, Robert C. Morris and Seth Low.

The men who were honored, with the years in which they served as president, were: James W. Hawes, 1882-84; Mortimer C. Alderson, 1885; James A. Blanchard, 1887; Edward Wetmore, 1894; Elithu Root, 1895; Arthur L. Merriam, 1897; Chauncey M. Depew, 1898 to 1900; Louis Stern, 1902 to 1905; Charles H. Young, 1907 to 1908; Robert C. FLOOD FUND STILL GROWING

Red Cross Has $550,951.85 and Merchants' Ass'n Total Is $71,174.76.

Jacob A. Schiff, treasurer of the New York Red Cross fund for the relief of the sufferers from the flood disasters in the West, received an addition to the fund yesterday of $3,364.76. This brings the society's total receipts to $560,316.81.

Yesterday some fifty contributions came in from communities and corporations and individuals. The Mayor also received a letter from Miss Wealthley A. Lewis, of No. 118 West 76th street, enclosing $150 for the fund, which she said had been given her by little children in her Sunday school class. Most of the children wanted the money to be sent to "the poor horses," and expressed the sentiment that if he would send $50 to the horses, "six little girls will feel very grateful to their Mayor Gaynor."

The Merchants' Association has received to date $71,174.76.

MARTIN'S HAT AND POCKETBOOK FOUND

bankment and not a bridge, as the bridges are closely patrolled at night. "Detectives on the case, feeling that his friends could take more than they were willing to do, are doing little, for they believe the man committed suicide. These friends must know the motive that actuated the deed, but have evidently not told all they know."

A man answering Mr. Martin's general description was seen leaving St. Pancras station for Edinburgh last night, but the police have not yet completed the work of following the clue, and attach little importance to it, believing that Mr. Martin killed himself.

In "The Weekly Dispatch" it is suggested that the man's disappearance is connected with a bet which Martin made with an amateur detective, a friend of his.

"The London Budget" reports that the workman found the pocketbook on the Thames Embankment, but that detectives found the battered opera hat under a bush in Temple Gardens.

OFFER $12,500 FOR MARTIN

Relatives of Missing Man Raise Amount—Brother to Go Abroad.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)
Memphis, Tenn., April 12.—The relatives of Joseph W. Martin, who has been missing since April 3 in London, to-day cabled to friends in London to offer a reward of $2,500 for the discovery of his whereabouts. Later this reward was increased to $12,500. Hill Martin, brother of the missing man, started for New York to-night, on his way to London.

BRANDT SUIT DISMISSED

Surrogate Blocks Intervention in Accounting of Ziegler Estate.

Surrogate Cohalan dismissed yesterday the application of George W. Brandt, of Chicago, half brother of the late William Ziegler, to intervene in the accounting proceedings brought by William Ziegler, adopted son of the baking powder manufacturer and chief beneficiary under his will.

The Surrogate decided that the application was superfluous, as Brandt, who is claiming a share of the income from the estate which Ziegler seeks to collect, is already a party to the proceedings. Surrogate Cohalan asked for briefs as to the matter of the accounting showing to whom the accumulated income should be paid.

Brandt and Ziegler differ as to the interpretation of the will of the baking powder manufacturer. Ziegler contends that he is entitled to the $4,000,000 of accumulated income on the $14,000,000 estate, while Brandt thinks the money should be added to the estate, in which he has an interest. This is the point which the court is called upon to settle.

SULZER SIGNS NEW LAWS

Statute Against Race Discrimination Made Stringent.

Albany, April 12.—The Levy bill, making more stringent provisions against discrimination on account of race, creed or color in public places, was signed by Governor Sulzer to-day. A place of public accommodations, resort or amusement, within the meaning of this law, is deemed to include any inn, tavern or hotel, whether conducted for the entertainment of transient guests or for the accommodation of those seeking health, recreation or rest, and any restaurant, eating house, public conveyance on land or water, bath house, barber shop, theatre and music hall.

The Governor also signed three bills amending the military law. One permits the appointment of a field officer of field artillery as a member of the state militia council. The others relate to the formation of associations by a squadron of cavalry and to the uniforms of a squadron.

Other bills signed include the Rush bills, appropriating $750,000 for the state's share of repairing highways, and authorizing the State Controller to transfer from the surplus canal funds to the general fund such money as may be needed to meet the expenses incident to the maintenance and repair of canals; the Hammer bill, authorizing the Appellate Division to appoint a successor to the present Commissioner of Jurors for Bronx County at an annual salary of $6,000. This office is now held by John A. Mason, who was secretary to Governor Dix.

FIVE ARRESTED AS ROBBERS

Held, Though Man Locked in Closet Fails to Identify Them.

Detectives from the West 45th street station arrested yesterday in a café in Seventh avenue, near 32d street, five young men, whom they believed to have robbed the Nina Grocers' Association, at No. 81 First avenue, on Friday night. Frederick Walters, manager of the association, who was locked in a closet by the robbers, could identify none of the suspected men.

The police, therefore, held two, Charles C. Thomas, of No. 228 Eighth avenue, and William Bradley, of No. 212 West 29th street, on a charge of violating the Sullivan law, revolvers having been found in their pockets, while the others, Joseph D. Callahan, of No. 174 Third avenue, William Appleton, of No. 34 Division street, and James E. Smith, of No. 12 Chatham Square, were detained as suspicious persons.

Police Headquarters records showed that Thomas was from Chicago and at one time was proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel, in Seventh avenue. Magistrate Campbell, in the West Side Court, placed each of the men under $500 bail for examination on Monday.

Albany, April 12.—The State Board of Claims awarded $18,000 to-day to counsel for former Senator Benn Conger for services and expenses in the prosecution of Conger's charges of bribery against former Senator John P. Aldis, who resigned before the Senate sustained the charges. The claim of Aldis's counsel is still pending.

The individual claims were: James W. Osborne, $5,500; Augustus Van Wyck, $5,000; David W. Van Hoesen, $1,946 68; Edward A. Watson, 1,550, and Nelson P. Bonney, $1,023 42.
