YANKEES CLIMB OUT OF DISMAL CELLAR

Reach the Heights of Seventh Place by Breaking Even with White Sox.

FISHER TURNS THE TRICK

Captures Second Game with Help of Gilhooley After Ford Is Slaughtered in the First.

A red letter page was written in the history of the New York Yankees at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon. For the first time since the season opened the downtrodden minions of Frank L. Chance rose triumphant out of the darkness of the inglorious cellar and perched in seventh place.

"Perch" is hardly the word for their position. It is more in the nature of a toe hold, for one lone point is all that separates them from the lowly St. Louis Browns. The Yankees have won fifty games, as compared with fifty-two for the Browns, but have lost a mere eighty-seven, to ninety-one for their nearest rivals.

The long expected rise of the Yankees was made possible by their victory over the Chicago White Sox in the second game of a double-header by a score of 3 to 2, which was called after seven and one-half innings were played. The opening struggle was won by men from the Windy City and by the most convincing score of 9 to 5 after a deal of bad baseball was spilled all over the park. The Philadelphia Athletics struck a blow for the cause, however, coming from behind to spank the St. Louis Browns by a score of 8 to 4.

In winning the closing struggle the Yankees played ball that gave the rooters much hope for another season. They hit the ball sharply, fielded nicely and ran the bases with exceptional speed and rare judgment. Gilhooley was especially keen in seizing his opportunities and scored two of the three runs counted by his team.

The speedy little Irishman had the crowd by the ears as he darted about the paths on his way to the plate. He showed Jack Collins up in rare style in the second inning, getting all the way to third on a hit which ordinarily would have been a single. Collins lagged in fielding the ball, and like a flash Gilhooley broke for second. He made it, too, and continued on his path when the right fielder made an inaccurate throw to head him off. He scored a moment later on Peckinpaugh's out at first. In the sixth inning he singled, stole second, took third on Peckinpaugh's infield single and tallied on a long fly by Gossett.

Ray Fisher was the man who guided his team out of the darkness of the cellar, and did his work in stylish fashion. He allowed seven hits in the eight innings, and when Silk O'Laughlin finally decided to call a halt on account of darkness he was going quite as strongly and with as much deliberation as when the first man strode to the plate. That Fisher pitched well does not necessarily mean that he prevented the White Sox from bunching a couple of hits now and then. In each scoring inning they got two safeties together, and in each case a double was included. One of these extra base drives was by "Heb" Russell, the Texan who entered as a pinch hitter for Eddie Cicotte in the eighth inning.

The Yankees pounced on the offerings of Cicotte for eight hits, but the speed and alertness of Gilhooley really brought about his undoing. A wild throw by Hal Chase in the opening inning also helped New York.

The first game was a long drawn out nightmare. Russell Ford and Cy Pieh, the recruit from the Central League, worked in turn for the Yankees, and were consistent only in their utter ineffectiveness.

Had Ford been allowed to finish the game the White Sox might have been sending the league in team hitting today. In the seven innings he pitched, or, rather, tried to pitch, the White Sox combed him down for fourteen hits, mostly singles, which were good for five runs. Pieh twirled the eighth and ninth innings. He allowed four hits, uncorked a couple of wild pitches and issued several free tickets to first base, with the result that four more runs were scored by the visitors.

Baseball in all its varying phases was seen by the crowd, which sat in silent dignity throughout the slaughter. There were sharp plays, good catches of hard driven flies and rattling stops of sizzling grounders. In the first game the White Sox ran riot on the paths, pilfering four bassocks and counting one of their runs on a well executed double steal. A perfect squeeze play counted another, with Schalk bunting and Larry Chappell rushing home.

Jim Scott, the miner of Death Valley, worked for the White Sox and had the Yankees about where he wanted them most of the time. With the score 5 to 0 in his favor, Scott let up a bit in the seventh, so that the Yankees hopped on him, scored two runs and were in position to score several more. With three on bases and only one out, Chance sent Caldwell to bat in place of Ford, but Scott turned on the steam and struck him out cleanly, while Gilhooley was forced at the plate on Maisel's tap to the box. In the eighth inning Scott was in more trouble, but pulled out safely.

Whiteman, the recruit from the Houston team of the Texas League, made a remarkable showing at the bat. In the first game he got three two baggers and a base on balls in four trips to the plate, and in the final struggle beat out a drive to third base.

McInnis Injured as the Athletics Beat St. Louis

Carrol Brown, the Pitcher, Also Forced Out of Game.

GIVES KNEE BAD WRENCH

Star First Baseman of Philadelphia Not Likely To Be Out of World's Series.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Batting rallies in the sixth and eighth innings gave Philadelphia a victory over the St. Louis Browns here to-day by a score of 8 to 4.

Branch Rickey, the newly appointed manager, assumed command of the St. Louis team this afternoon. Harry Davis, the veteran first baseman and former manager of the Cleveland Naps, got into the game for the Athletics through an injury to McInnis. Davis drove in the first run for his club and started the rally in the eighth with another single.

Three players were hurt during the afternoon. Clarence Walker, an outfielder of St. Louis, had his forehead split by running into the left field bleachers during practice. It was necessary to take several stitches in his head.

Carrol Brown, the Philadelphia pitcher, wrenched his knee fielding a grounder in the first inning. Brown then threw wildly to first and McInnis, in trying to make a one-hand catch, collided with Pratt. Brown left the field at once, but McInnis, whose left arm was injured, remained in the game until the fourth inning.

Bisland, a shortstop formerly of Atlanta, played his first game with St. Louis, while Tomer, who hails from Kentucky, made his American League debut as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning and fanned.

The injury to McInnis is not considered serious enough to keep him out of the world's series as was the case two years ago, when his arm was broken and Harry Davis took his place.

The case of Brown may be different, and Connie Mack is likely to find his pitching staff even worse off than anticipated for the all important struggle in October.

The score of the game to-day follows:

MATHEY AND PELL WIN FAST DOUBLES MATCH

First Round for West Side Lawn Tennis Title a Treat for Gallery.

Dean Mathey and Theodore Roosevelt Pell treated the gallery to a taste of sizzling doubles in the championship lawn tennis tournament on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, at 238th street and Broadway, yesterday. The former Princeton captain and the former national indoor title holder eliminated Arthur S. Cragin and John C. Tomlinson, jr., in a lively match score at 6–2, 6–0.

From their side of the net Mathey and Pell came in to close quarters in every rally, despite the timely lobbing of the opposing pair. Pell handled the dropping ball in splendid fashion. His smashes were true to court and he always placed the ball deeply. It was at swift cross court shots that Mathey shone, and he was rapid and aggressive all the way to the end.

There were two well fought matches in the Class B doubles in which Groesbeck and Bishop and the pair composed of Blauvelt and Smith won in the limit of three sets. The rallies were stiffly played in the contest in which Groesbeck and Bishop defeated Henshaw and Fox at 6–4, 0–6, 6–3. A peculiar feature of the battle was that the winning pair scored 12 games to 13 for the losing team. Becker and Dunham fell before the steady driving of Blauvelt and Smith at 6–1, 1–6, 6–2.

In the continuation of the championship singles Walter Merrill Hall and Watson M. Washburn, the young Harvard star, arrived in the final round after three slashing sets. Hall defeated G. A. L. Dionne, the captain of the club, at 3–6, 6–3, 6–1. It required the first set for Hall to get his drives in working order, and then he quickly outplayed his opponent who always covered his court in faultless style.

The summary follows:

West Side championship singles (semi-final round)—Walter Merrill Hall defeated G. A. L. Dionne, 3–6, 6–3, 6–1; Watson M. Washburn defeated Frederick C. Inman, 6–3, 2–6, 7–5.

Class B singles (third round)—Harold Swain defeated Dr. J. W. Travell, 7–5, 6–8, 6–1; R. B. Gatcomb defeated Matthew S. Hagar, 6–4, 4–6, 9–7.

Class C single (second round)—Dr. T. B. Barringer defeated Dwight MacDonald, 6–2, 6–1; Samuel W. Merrihew defeated Bruno Huhn, 6–2, 7–5.

Third round—A. R. Dunham defeated Samuel W. Merrihew, 6–0, 6–1.

West Side championship doubles (first round)—Dean Mathey and Theodore Roosevelt Pell defeated Arthur S. Cragin and John C. Tomlinson, jr., 6–2, 6–0.

Class B doubles (first round)—Groesbeck and Bishop defeated Henshaw and Fox, 6–4, 0–6, 6–3; Blauvelt and Smith defeated Becker and Dunham, 6–1, 1–6, 6–2; Newcombe and Ely defeated Tompkins and Butler, 6–3, 6–2; Hevlman and Gatcomb defeated Sparks and Pettigrew, 6–3, 6–2.

Class C doubles (first round)—Miller and Satterlee defeated Valle and Thompson, 6–1, 9–7; Leask and Morris defeated Macdonald and Bostwick, 6–7, 6–4; Earl and O. Smith defeated Lestrade and Mahony, 6–4, 6–2.

FIRST BLOOD TO HARTFORD

Pennant Winner of the Eastern Association Beats Lowell.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 17.—Hartford won the first of the series of games between the pennant winners of the Eastern Association and the New England league here to-day, defeating Lowell by a score of 4 to 2, largely by good batting.

Finneran, who returned from the Philadelphia Nationals to pitch for Lowell in the series, was erratic in the early part of the game and the visitors batted his delivery in a lively manner. He acquired control as the game progressed, but the Lowell players could not hit the ball and Hartford maintained the early lead.

Averett, for the visitors, pitched steady ball throughout the game. Lowell's two runs were made on errors by Reiger and Kauff.

NEWARK TEAM CLINGS TO ITS SMALL LEAD

Defeats Providence. While Rochester Again Downs Toronto Nine.

The Newark Indians retained their game and a half advantage in the International League pennant race yesterday by taking the measure of the Providence Grays by a score of 5 to 1, while their nearest rivals, the Rochester Hustlers, were downing Toronto.

Wyatt Lee did the hurling for the Redskins, while North, sent to the Grays by Detroit, pitched for Providence.

The Indians played a brilliant fielding game, the work of Swacina, Getz and Eddie Zimmerman standing out. North was found for ten timely hits, while the Grays could make only five off Lee. Swacina with three singles led in the hitting for Newark.

NAPS SHUT OUT RED SOX

Falkenberg Holds Boston Down When Hits Are Needed.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Cleveland shut out the Boston Red Sox by a score of 2 to 0 to-day, many brilliant plays being made. The home team was in a position to score on several occasions, but Falkenberg refused to allow the needed hit.

Chapman scored the visitors' first run when he went to second on Yerkes's bad throw in an attempt to make a double play, and crossed the plate on Jackson's double back of third base.

Johnston, who forced Jackson at second, following the latter's single in the sixth inning, scored on a triple to right by Bates.

SENATORS GET SHOCK AS TIGERS WIN TWO

One Good Inning in Each Game Spells Victory for Detroit.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The Detroit Tigers fairly stunned the Senators here to-day by taking both games of a double header from Washington by scores of 5 to 1 and 4 to 2. Bunching of hits in two innings—the fourth in the first game and the first in the second—proved Washington's undoing. Outside of these two innings Detroit failed to score.

Gallia started on the mound for the Senators in the opener, but was replaced by Love in the fourth inning, with one out, after the Tigers had got to him for seven hits, one of them being a triple.

By bunching four of their hits and working the youngster for two bases on balls in the fatal inning the visitors put four runs across the plate. One more was scored on Love, who went in with the bases full.

Detroit jumped on Boehling at the start of the second game. Bush and Bauman hit for singles, Crawford was safe on an error, and Cobb brought them all home with a hit for the circuit. Boehling then settled down and there was no more scoring, but the damage was done.

The scores follow:
