It's Mathewson Day at the Polo Grounds

Matty of Cincinnati Will Be the Whole Show There.

FANS WILL MAKE IT A NEW YORK HOLIDAY

Big Six Will Lead Fight Against Giants, Who Are Making the Last Stand.

By GRANTLAND RICE.

Those who are wondering whether or not there is any sentiment left in baseball are requested to report at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. Then they will wonder no longer.

For this is Matty Day on the old battlefield—a queer title where for the first time in seventeen years the Giants are coming home with the name of Mathewson off the payroll.

Matty leads his Reds against McGraw's Giants, but the ball game is of secondary interest. The main point happens to be that this is the first good chance New York has had to show its appreciation for what the Old Boy has done for the big city through nearly two decades. The wealth of any city is measured only by its happiness. So Matty has added a lot of wealth to this community since 1900 on at least 885 occasions, the span of his victorious starts.

But the tribute to be paid this afternoon to Mathewson isn't a tribute to his victories, for which he was paid. The tribute goes to the skill, courage, brains and clean living that made these victories possible.

From the beginning he was favored of the gods. His name alone gave him something of a start. As Zeek Squiggs part of the lustre would have been lost. Then, in a physical way, he was good to look upon—over six feet, well built, well featured and a striking figure in any crowd.

With this he had the stuff—a fast ball and a grand curve in the younger days—a crafty fadeaway for the later years.

Had Unusual Brain.

A great right arm wasn't all. Added to this was an unusual brain that made a study of opposing batsmen and directed the arm in the proper way. He might have had all this without reaching any such heights if at the same time he had not been blessed with two other esentials—the courage to use what he had under the extreme test and the patience and determination to develop what he had to its ultimate limit.

This seems to be quite a lot, but it doesn't outline yet the complete resources of this man. He might have had all that we have named—skill, courage, brains, good looks, patience and determination—and still have fallen short of his present height. But he also had the moral stability to live a clean, wholesome life and a high conduct of sportsmanship beyond any reproach upon the field. In other words, beyond all his skill, courage and brains he had character and color—an impelling magnetism that caught the fancy of his country.

And then he had his share of luck—the luck to be traded from Cincinnati, facing a destiny of defeat, to New York, just rising from the depths. He was able to start with the help of a club that McGraw had built around him. In Cincinnati he would have been a great pitcher—but his fame there would not have been as great as it is to-day. So this is why New York to-day intends to pay its homage and its respect to Christy Mathewson—not so much for what Mathewson has done for New York, but for the way he did it and for what he has meant to the nation's leading sport.

A Great Combination.

There have been other pitchers with about as much stuff. There have been others with brains and courage and resourcefulness who lived clean lives and were high type sportsmen. But there has never been another who had as great a combination to work with, who was so well blessed by the dispensing fates, which is why the name of Mathewson is No. 1 in the pitching roster of the game.

There is still another reason why this will be quite an afternoon. As Mathewson passes out Buck Herzog makes his third entry with the Giants. Herzog, through his skill, courage, brains and aggressiveness, has always been held in high esteem around this vicinity, and he comes at a time when he is sorely needed. For after all the fan's main interest lies in the Standing of the Clubs. The Giants to-day are nine and one-half games from the top—a hard, weary climb with only nine weeks left in which to do the climbing. As they were rigged up first they had no chance.

But now, with Herzog and Sallee added, there is still hope left in the fanatic breast. Somewhere between now and October New York must pick up at least one game a week on Brooklyn and almost this average on Boston and Philadelphia. It is no part of a light undertaking. But there is always the chance, with so much power at bat, with McGraw on the lines and Herzog in the

The Answer Soon.

Anyway, this home stay will develop most of the answer. If the Giants fail at home as they have failed before their chance will be over for the year.

For, unlike the Braves in 1914, they do not happen to have but one club in the way. They have three strong contenders to beat—the same three that took good care of the first three tiers last season. So the only chance now is to move along at a .750 clip or better for the rest of the year.

It will take over ninety victories to win a National League flag this season. The Giants have now seventy-three games left. To finish first they will require at least fifty-two more victories against twenty-one defeats. The club has already shown that once under good steam with first class pitching it can stir up an abnormal amount of dust. With Herzog and Sallee added and with Art Fletcher back there is now one hook left for hope to hang on—and the next few weeks will show just how trustworthy this hook is.

Feature Facts for the Fans

Way, the Giants' college recruit, had his first chance at a big league team when the Giants lost to Cleveland.

Mamaux fanned eight Philly batsmen. The Quakers made only three hits.

Wagner, with a double and two singles, had a perfect day at the plate.

Lee Magee was injured in an exhibition game at Buffalo.

Hughey Jennings has been indefinitely suspended for his argument with Umpire Nallin Sunday.

Matty in Marble

An Art Suggestion

By W. O. M'GEEHAN.

The movement for bigger and better statues in New York City has started. D. F. Hill, of the æsthetic burg of Yonkers, is largely responsible for the renaissance. Here's his very note; this is what he wrote:

"I offer a suggestion that ought to be taken up seriously by the New York lovers of baseball—to erect a statue of Mathewson on the Polo Grounds. If the newspapers will take up the matter in earnest and if the management will set up a contribution box at the entrance to the Polo Grounds I have no doubt at all that a sufficient sum could be raised in short order to carry out the suggestion."

This sounds like a start toward getting statues that will mean something to the average person. The outdoor art of New York at present is neither impressive nor instructive. It seems to consist largely of bronze ladies balancing on one toe atop of gilded spheres and of men with whiskers.

Matty done in marble or bronze in the attitude of winding up for the fadeaway would mean something to the youth of the nation, besides being an ornament to the Polo Grounds. But why stop with a statue of Matty? There are other baseball episodes almost as worthy of commemoration as the career of Mathewson.

Why Not Fred Merkle?

As a companion statue there should be a life-size figure done in solid ivory of Fred Merkle failing to touch second. It could be erected near the spot where the fatal bone was pulled and would not interfere greatly with the play at the Polo Grounds. Parents could point it out to their children as a warning against carelessness.

Somewhere in the outfield there should be a statue of Bennie Kauff, with the title "Modesty." Also there should be some sort of tablet dedicated to the numerous Yankees who fell in action during the early part of the season, with space left for about fifty-eight more names.

The baseball magnates should not be forgotten either. Their activities in behalf of baseball certainly are worthy of being recorded in some enduring medium. A brass group of a meeting of big league directors, with their hands stealthily reaching toward one another's pockets, would be realistic and impressive.

There is no reason for the movement for bigger and better statues to stop with baseball at the Polo Grounds when the present offers so many opportunities to the sculptors. The Queensberry art as it is practised cries aloud to the workers in bronze and marble for recognition.

Statue of Al McCoy.

A simple and effective statue would be a life-sized figure of Champion Al McCoy done in Parmesan cheese, a medium which is peculiarly appropriate and lasting. This should be placed on a pedestal opposite the entrance of the Broadway Sporting Club.

In commemoration of the foundation of the Order of Hard-Boiled Eggs we suggest a zinc statue of Jimmy Johnston sewing the pocket on his wallet. A companion figure might be one of Harry Stevens using the first safety razor to cut ham for sandwiches.

Somebody is shouting over our shoulder that there should be a statue of Tom Jones buying his first drink. But as this event has not yet taken place it would not do to put it into bronze or marble. The aim of the promoters of the new art should be to have the statues historically correct and should not attempt to deceive posterity.

We hereby agree to contribute one buck, bone or iron man toward the erection of any of the statues named. Any innovation in the outdoor art of New York is bound to be a change for the better.

Milwaukee Buys Players.

Milwaukee, July 24.—Secretary Nahin of the Milwaukee American Association baseball club to-day announced the purchase of Pitcher Reed from the Portsmouth club and Catcher Kohlspecker from the Marysville club, both teams of the Ohio State League.

Play on Braves Field.

Boston, July 24.—Worcester and Lynn played a double-header on Braves Field to-day, Lynn taking the first game, 5 to 3, and Worcester the second, 1 to 0.

Close Finishes Mark Trotting Meet in West

Entries in 2:17 Pace So Numerous That Two Races Are Necessary.

Detroit, July 24.—With weather conditions ideal and the track in good condition, the local grand circuit meeting began at the Michigan State Fair Grounds to-day. Fair time and close finishes were the rule throughout the day's card.

Entries in the 2:17 pace to-day were so numerous that it was necessary to divide the field and make two races of it. In the first decision of this event Canute took three straight heats with little trouble, although Deputy Sheriff put up a game fight for the first heat. Canute took the going in the second heat easily and won shoulders ahead of Deputy Sheriff. The $2 pari-mutuels paid $47.80 on Canute in the first heat.

The 2:10 trot went to Director Todd, which won the third heat after landing second in the first two. The second and third heats provided the best contests of the day. After finishing fifth in the first mile, Bonington took the second in a thrilling finish with Director Todd in the best time of the day, 2:06¼. Director Todd won the final mile by little more than a nose. The first heat went to McCloskey in a driving finish.

Gilbert Patch, son of Dan Patch, won the second division of the 2:17 pace in three straight heats. Miss Rejected contested the second and third heats, but Gilbert Patch was a little stronger at the finish.

Zombro Clay, an outsider paying $182 in the $2 mutuels in the first heat, won the 2:18 trot. He took the first mile eased up and the second in a close finish with Onward Allerton. The Lark won the final heat with little trouble, the field being strung out all the way around.

The $5,000 Board of Commerce stake for 2:06 pacers, is the feature event on to-morrow's card.

And Rip Van Winkle Went Back to Sleep

Rip Van Winkle blew back to New York after a twenty-year session in the hay and took his accustomed seat at the Polo Grounds. The peanuts had aged but little and the grass on Henry Fabian's lawn was ironed just as carefully as it was before Hendrick Hudson had slipped something into his teacup.

"Same old thing," said Rip Van Winkle tranquilly. "Not a thing changed since I blew the burg." Suddenly he glanced at a figure on the coaching lines and his jaw fell.

"Say, that looks like Matty in a Cincinnati uniform," he said.

"It is," said a younger fan.

"Good night," said Rip Van Winkle. I'm still asleep and dreaming."

And he beat it back for the Catskills.

Lee Magee Hurt Sliding in Game Against Bisons

Yankees' Defeat at Buffalo May Prove Costly to American League Leaders.

Buffalo, July 24.—The Bisons pounded Fisher hard in the three innings he pitched ball for the Yankees in to-day's exhibition. The Herd secured a big lead before Manager Donovan took a hand and stopped the scoring.

Lee Magee went into the second base bag on a hard slide and twisted an ankle. Gedeon, who took his place in the batting order, was the prize swatter with his homer, a long fly over the centre fielder's head. He also knocked out two two-baggers. He registered one-third of his team's hits and was responsible for all the runs.

Schaefer amused the crowd and took a hand in the game. There was nothing sensational aside from a very snappy double play on the part of Boone to Alexander to Peckinpaugh, stopping the Bisons when they threatened to score a bunch of runs.

Score by innings:

Buffalo	0	2	1	2	0	0	0	0	1	—4
New York	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	—1

Batteries—Buffalo, Tyson, Gaw and Onslow; Haley; New York, Fisher, Donovan and Alexander, Walters.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT DETROIT IN 13TH

Detroit, July 24.—In a hard-fought thirteen-inning game to-day Detroit lost to Chicago by a score of 3 to 2. In the thirteenth Coveleskie, after Felsch had singled, hit Terry with the ball. A sacrifice, an infield out and a safety by John Collins put over the deciding run.

Both teams fielded well and the pitching was good. Wolfgang was taken out in favor of a pinch hitter. Schalk was put out of the game in the ninth by Umpire Dineen for objecting to a called strike.

Manager Jennings of Detroit was notified of his indefinite suspension for his argument with Umpire Nallin in Sunday's game.

ENGLISH PLAYER WINS ON PARK HILL COURTS

Play in the annual tennis tournament of the Park Hill Country Club got off to a start at Yonkers yesterday with a field of fifty entries down on the draw. Six matches were contested and the competition in most of them was keen. Leon Crowley, the English player, was the easiest winner of the day. His opponent was E. W. C. Noyes and the score was 6—1, 6—3.

Herbert Forster, the schoolboy star, was another to move into the second round. He encountered C. Ropes and tied the latter into knots, winning in straight sets at 6—1, 8—6. Forster's speed was the determining factor in the second set.

The summary follows:

Park Hill Country Club open singles (first round)—Leon Crowley defeated E. W. C. Noyes, 6—1, 6—3; R. C. Black defeated P. Law, 6—8, 6—3, 7—5; S. Boyd defeated H. E. Carver, 7—5, 11—9; Herbert W. Forster defeated C. Ropes, 6—1, 8—6; F. G. Echeberria defeated H. T. Knox, 7—5, 8—6; C. T. King defeated Captain Henry Bassford, 6—6, 8—7, 6—4.

Richmond Checks Winning Streak of Newark Nine

Wild Throw by Aschenbach Gives Rebels Runs Needed to Win.

Richmond defeated the Newark Indians yesterday by a score of 3 to 1, and incidentally broke the Redskins' winning streak. Newark had won five games in a row before this setback came.

It was not until the sixth inning that there was any scoring. Then Richmond broke the ice, when Prieste singled to centre, tallying Arragon. The visitors' other two runs came in the eighth. With the bases full, Aschenbach, the Indians' shortstop, made a wild throw to the plate, and two men romped over safely.

Newark crowded the bases with only one down in the ninth, yet could get over but one man. Manager Tenney went in as a pinch hitter, but grounded to Arragon, and was thrown out, one man scoring. Healey was retired on a foul for the third out.

POP BOTTLES DOOMED IN TOLEDO BALL PARK

Toledo, Ohio, July 24.—The assault on Umpire George Johnson at the local American Association park yesterday will result in the elimination of the pop bottle, according to plans being arranged by Manager Bresnanan, and other stockholders of the club, it was announced last night.

A paper substitute will be used, it was said.

Johnson was knocked unconscious by one of fifty or more bottles thrown from the stands when the spectators were dissatisfied with a decision which meant defeat for the home club. The arbiter left the hospital this morning with several stitches in the back of his head, where the missile found its mark.

CONIFEY TOO CLEVER FOR JOE MALONE

Frankie Conifey outpointed Joe Malone in a lively ten-round bout at the Olympic Club last night. After the sixth round Malone was battling with only one eye, as the left orb had been closed by a stiff right.

Johnny Foy beat Johnny Bush in a fast six-round go. After the first round Foy removed his shoes and boxed à la Isidora Duncan, in his bare feet. He claimed that he could not keep his footing with his shoes on. The referee is wondering if there is any Boxing Commission rule to disqualify a barefooted boxer.

Rockaway Blues Defeat Whites On Polo Field

Big Crowd Watches Final Match Played for Independence Cups.

Cedarhurst, L. I., July 24.—Two teams of polo players of the Rockaway Hunt Club played the final match for the Independence cups this afternoon on the field at Cedarhurst. There was a large number of people from all the surrounding country present. The field was firm and the play was generally fast throughout. The match was won by the Rockaway Blues, with a total score of 9½ goals to 5. E. S. Voss was the referee.

The Rockaway Whites, the losing four, comprised J. P. Kane, Seward Cary, J. Metcalf and A. D. B. Pratt, with a team handicap of three goals. The Blues were rated one goal less. With the allowed handicap of one goal, they scored nine additional and lost a half goal for a foul cross by Leonard in the sixth period after he had scored a clever goal.

For the winners, who were all well mounted, C. R. Leonard, probably did the better work. He made three of the nine goals tallied by his team. His brother scored two goals, the others being made by Tucker and Water, each making two.

Seward Cary, the veteran player of the Buffalo club, scored four goals for the Whites, two being at difficult angles and exceedingly well placed. Metcalf tallied the other goal.

PIRATES HAVE EASY TIME WITH PHILLIES

Pittsburgh, July 24.—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Phillies by a score of 9 to 1 here to-day. Mamaux allowed the visitors only three hits. The visitors used three pitchers.

Five hits off Demaree in the first three innings resulted in the Pirates making five runs, and four hits in the fifth inning off Mayer gave them two more. McQuillan went in to pitch in the sixth after Gibson had tripled.

Bingola Beaten for Gold Trophy at Weequahic

Empress of Russia Victor in the Feature Event at Newark Trotting Meet.

The Empress of Russia, owned by the Brook Farms, Goshen, and driven by Dr. Burdick, won the $1,500 gold trophy by beating W. J. McDonald's bay mare, Bingola, in the race-off for first place in the 2:17 trot in the last matinee of the Amateur Junior Drivers' annual interclub meeting, held at Weequahic Park, Newark, yesterday afternoon.

Rounding the first turn, Bingola poked her nose to the front, and by that margin led for the first three-quarters of a mile. As the two entered the home stretch Bingola unleashed a hot sprint that moved her further front. McDonald applied the whip, but his efforts were in vain, for Empress of Russia crossed the line a victor by three lengths.

The 2:22 trot, which was also raced in two parts, with the winners meeting for the premier honors, was won by The Baron, a chestnut gelding, owned and driven by H. E. Winter. The Baron led all of the way.

All save one of the brushes resulted in straight heats, and most every brush was productive of close finishes.

The fight for the team honors remained an open question until the last three races were settled. The Road Horse Association of New Jersey was given the cup. It scored 37 points, Goshen Driving Club and Metropolitan Driving Club, of Boston, were placed second and third, with 28 and 23 points, respectively.
