Dominant Hailed as Best Two-Year-Old

Big Crowd Cheers as Son of Delhi Just Gallops to Victory in the Saratoga Special, Then Groans at Defeat of Roamer.

By HERBERT.

Saratoga Springs, Aug. 14.—Dominant is well named. He dominated his field and won the much sought Saratoga Special at the track here to-day in style so commanding that it was ridiculously easy. He is being hailed to-night as the best two-year-old of the year.

One of the biggest and most representative crowds which ever jammed the Ascot of this country applauded the victory of Dominant, but groaned over the defeat of Roamer in the next race. The former is only beginning to earn a place in their hearts. The latter has found that place, and it was hard to see him so badly beaten. Still the crowd rejoiced and was glad, for the sport was reasonably exciting, the sun beat back the threatening clouds and good feeling was infectious.

The story of the Saratoga Special, the sporting fixture of the racing year, lay not in the winning but what happened behind Dominant. L. S. Thompson's fine looking son of Delhi—Dominoes just galloped in front all the way, to win as he pleased by eight lengths. He made his opponents look cheap, and the only regret felt by Jimmy Rowe and H. P. Whitney whose horses this year are running in the name of L. S. Thompson, is that he is not eligible for the Futurity.

Behind Dominant there is more to tell. R. T. Wilson's Ormesdale was cut down; Ganz, who rode Colonel Vennie, was held responsible and set down by the stewards for six days, while August Belmont's Friar Rock was third only because Butwell found it impossible to keep Achievement from bearing over to the rail against Foxhall P. Keene's Puss in Boots, which ran a most creditable second.

Tom Healey, trainer of Ormesdale, said he could not tell how seriously the good son of Ormesdale was injured until to-morrow morning. He has a deep cut on the hock, and may be incapacitated for the rest of the season.

Ganz was punished for rough riding, as in the report of one of the patrol judges he fouled Pleione and forced her over against Ormesdale, causing the accident.

Achievement ran third to Dominant and Puss in Boots rounding the turn, but when Butwell called on him in the stretch he bore over toward the rail, and the boy was forced to pull him off twice or run the risk of committing a bad foul. This threw the colt out of his stride, and Friar Rock, running truly, got up in time to be third.

Roamer found 132 pounds over the cuppy track too much of a burden in the Champlain Handicap, at one mile and a furlong, and ran fourth. The most popular horse, perhaps, of the American turf has never shown to his best over a heavy or dead track, but he had worked so well for the race that Andrew Miller, his owner, and Jack Goldsborough, his trainer, told their friends that they had every confidence in his ability to win. It was not to be, however. The great little horse was set too hard a task. He could not get to the front, where he likes to run, and after chasing the pace for a mile in third place, finally dropped back, to finish outside the money.

Tom McDowell, one of the best-liked men in all Kentucky, furnished the winner in his six-year-old Ogden Mare, Star Jasmine, which ran third to Roamer in the Saratoga Handicap and later won the Delaware Handicap. He was sure his mare could beat Roamer at the weights, took pleasure in so advising Mr. Miller and his confidence was justified.

Star Jasmine looked hopelessly beaten in the run up the backstretch, when Stromboli, winner of the Suburban Handicap, was sailing along setting a fast pace for Gainer and Roamer, but she gradually improved her position rounding the turn and, closing strongly through the stretch, picked up one after another of those in front, to win in a mild drive from Gainer.

Colonel McDowell has won his share of stakes so far at the meeting, Star Jasmine getting two and Waterblossom one. He says his horses like any kind of a track.

Sam McMeekin, the McGee three-year-old for which August Belmont and Sam Hildreth paid John E. Madden $15,000 last spring, once more proved a disappointment in the opening race. He had worked so well that everything pointed to his beating the field opposed on anything like his true form, but he could never reach a contending position. His action, none too smooth at any time, operated against him, perhaps, in the cuppy going.

Superintendent acted a bit sore in the paddock, but he worked out of it and ran the best race he has shown since he was a two-year-old in 1913, when in the fall he gave such high promise. Tommy McTaggart worked him to the front in the first quarter and quickly opened up a winning gap.

Six horses started in the steeplechase and all six fought out a pretty race to the second jump from home, when Cherry Malotte and Lysander drew out and struggled in close company to the end, with the former proving the stronger and winning rather cleverly by three or four lengths.

W. F. Presgrave's Bryn Down came from Canada with a reputation and was the "tip" of the paddock crowd, but after showing the way in the run up the backstretch, the second time, tired and trailed in a distant third.

Cherry Malotte fenced cleanly and, taking the jumps in her stride, rarely showed to better advantage. Vincent Powers rode a clever race, laying off the pace for a mile and a half and making his move when Tighe tried to go to the front with Lysander at the far turn. For a quarter of a mile they raced head and head, but after taking the last jump like a team the winner drew away.

Golden Vale took his jumps crab-fashion. The wonder was he stood up.

J. H. Hedrick, jr., the terror of selling races, claimed R. T. Wilson's Amalfi for $800 after the aged gelding ran second to Lahore in the last race. He was again represented by Napier, which enjoyed a walkover on Friday, because so many owners fear the activity of Hedrick.

This capped a bad day for Tom Healy, as Amalfi has been in the stable so long that he filled a bigger gap than his quality justified.

Important furnished the surprise of the day by galloping to easy victory in the fifth race at fancy odds. Her owner, however, had to pay out the purse to keep the filly. Luke Cassidy, acting for J. L. Holland, bid her up $400 over her entered selling price of $800, but an extra $5 served as the necessary protection.

Mrs. William L. Colt, chairman of the Congressional Union, mixed a little racing with suffrage and paid a visit to the track. She is on her way to organize Vermont.

H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, which got Ed Heffner in trouble at Belmont Park, ran another dull and disappointing race in the Champlain Handicap. He seems to have lost all the form which made him look like the best three-year-old of the year last spring.

Again every table in the clubhouse was crowded for luncheon. Saratoga Springs is enjoying its most prosperous year in the last thirty.

The Curragh, a son of Spearmint, recently imported from England by John Sanford at a cost of only $8,000, was paraded on the turf track before the grandstand between the second and third races. Many in the crowd applauded the fine-looking stallion, which weighs 1,300 pounds. Mr. Sanford believes he got a great bargain because of war times, and counts on the horse being a success in the stud here, on account of his blood lines.

Star Jasmine avoided the early pace and, finishing with great courage through the stretch, outgamed Gainer in the last sixteenth. Gainer ran a greatly improved race and only faltered in the closing strides. Stromboli, raced to pieces to front, stopped badly. Roamer could never get to the front and faltered badly when driven.

Winner entered for $1,000; no bid. Lahore, racing kindly, forced all the pace and just lasted long enough. Amalfi, badly outrun to stretch, closed a big gap. Polly H. had no excuse.

STANFORD OARSMEN BUSY

Laying Plans for Another Invasion of Eastern Waters.

The rowing authorities at Leland Stanford University will leave no stone unturned in their plans for the development of a crew which will come East next year with the fixed idea of capturing the 'varsity race at Poughkeepsie.

Because of the uncertain conditions surrounding rowing at the University of California, the Stanford management is anticipating the threatened disruption of the annual triangular race, in which Washington, California and Stanford have taken part, and has made arrangements for two races with Washington next spring.

The first race will be rowed in March, probably on the Oakland Estuary, and the second will be held late in April on Lake Washington.

New York Yacht Club Cruise a Big Success

THE ALVA LEADS FLEET HOME IN SOUTH BAY RACE

Set a New Standard in Fleet Racing in Spite of Drawback of Fog, Gales and Rain.

Wins Both on Actual and Corrected Time Over Many Rivals.

The cruise of the New York Yacht Club for 1915, which began at New London on August 2, and ended at Marblehead nine days later, will go on record as one of the best for racing, and unquestionably the worst for weather, the club has ever seen. Out of the nine days, the sun only showed itself on four of them. Either fog, rain or gales interfered daily with the carrying out of the schedule. Two days, August 4 and 9, were lost on account of fog.

A larger fleet of yachts of different types and rigs assembled for the rendezvous at New London than in many years, and Commodore George F. Baker, jr., is to be congratulated upon the good showing of vessels flying the club's burgee that accompanied the flagship Viking, from start to finish, and passed safely through the Cape Cod Canal. They also took part in the illumination and other ceremonies at Marblehead.

The percentage of accidents was small, considering the weather encountered, the most serious being the disabling of the Resolute, when she started some of her rivets through pounding in the head seas on the first day's run from New London to Newport.

There were four squadron runs and the Resolute and Vanitie started in all of them. The Resolute won two and the Vanitie two. While they were not eligible to race for the Astor Cup and the King's Cup, these yachts raced on both those days for special cups offered by the club, and the Resolute won on both occasions, so that out of six races sailed by the big sloops on the cruise, the Resolute won four of them.

William E. Dodge's "fifty," Samuri, and Ogden Mills Reid's "thirty," Lena, carried off the honors in the sloop classes. The Samuri won the Navy Challenge Cup for sloops in the heavy weather run from New London to Newport on August 3. She also captured the Astor Cup two days later, and she was the winner of the Commodore's Cup for sloops of the first division, in the forty-mile run from Plymouth to Marblehead.

The Lena, steered by her owner throughout, won the prize in her class in the long beat to windward of thirty-three miles from Brenton Reef Lightship to Marion. The following day, after being towed through the Cape Cod Canal, she won the Commodore's Cup for sloops of the second division, finishing up the cruise by winning the Rear Commodore's Cup for sloops of the second division in the run from Gloucester to Marblehead, as well as her class prize.

Of the schooners Hendon Chubb's Queen Mab did the best work, winning four first prizes. These were the Astor Cup, the Commodore's Cup for schooners of the second division, the Rear Commodore's Cup for the second division and a class prize.

The Enchantress won the Navy Challenge Cup for schooners of the first division and the Irolita won both the Commodore's and the Rear Commodore's cups for the first division. The Barbara, of the "fifties," won the Alumni Association of the United States Navy Cup, for sloops, and Commodore George F. Baker, jr.'s, Ventura captured the King's Cup from a fleet of nine others.

The Resolute and the Vanitie have gone out of commission for the season, and so has Pembroke Jones's Carolina. The Resolute is at the Herreshoffs, and the Vanitie at Jacob's yard, City Island.

Patchogue, L. I., Aug. 14.—What the Corinthians declared was the best cruise in the history of the Yacht Racing Association of Great South Bay came to an end to-day with the final championship regatta of the season held under the auspices of the South Bay Yacht Club.

The course gave the yachts a weather leg at the start, a broad reach and a close reach home. The larger yachts were sent three times around the triangle, the little fellows going around either once or twice according to their size. The triangle was five nautical miles.

J. W. Overton's Alva led the fleet and won on both actual and corrected time in the P class. In the Q division the winner was the New Invader, cleverly sailed by Gilbert Douglas. The boat won in her division on both actual and corrected time.

Several of the Moriches cats were recalled at the start. This allowed the Sylph to get a comfortable lead, and so she won handily in the division. It was the second race that the Sylph won to-day. In the morning she sailed off a tie for the 1914 championship pennant, beating Moonray for the title.

The Lady Madge was the winner among the Bellport Bay one-design yachts, and Adelaide III won among the cats from the same club. The latter craft did the same as Sylph, defeating Pawnee this morning for the 1914 championship pennant. The other winners were Gleam, Margaret, Taffy, Kidder and Carmen B.

RACING FOR KING'S CUP

Sloop Westward Wins Leg in Exposition Meet.

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—The sloop Westward, of the Corinthian Yacht Club, of San Francisco, to-day won the first race in the competition for the gold trophy cup offered by King George V of Great Britain, for 38-foot sloops in the Panama-Pacific Exposition regatta.

The course was fourteen miles around the bay and the time 1:58:05. The cup goes to the sloop winning two races.

There were five starters, all from San Francisco Bay, and they straightened out at the beginning into a featureless race.

TROTTING CONTEST MARRED BY FALL

Ruth Patchen's Driver Has Narrow Escape When His Horse Stumbles.

William Lees, who drove M. T. Lewis's bay mare Ruth Patchen in the Class D pace, narrowly escaped serious injury when his horse stumbled while travelling at top speed, throwing him to the ground with much force, at the regular weekly light harness matinee of the Parkway Driving Club, held at the Parkway racetrack, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon.

The race was nearly finished when the accident occurred. Ruth Patchen was journeying in second position and was making an effort to overtake Biretta, the leader. About twenty lengths from the wire she stumbled and fell in a heap. As she went down she lifted the gig into the air, and Lees, who had already lost the reins, shot from his seat like a rocket and made a complete somersault, landing on all fours.

The Class A pace, the feature event, provided two exciting finishes and a new record for the track for the season. Buster Brown, a bay gelding owned by W. C. Urban, was forced to step fast to win.

CRESCENT NINE FALLS DEEPER IN AMATEUR LEAGUE

Forest Hills Captures Pitching Duel Between Mecabe and Comerford.

The Forest Hills Garden Club defeated the Crescent Athletic Club nine for the second time this season at Bay Ridge yesterday by a score of 1 to 0.

A brilliant pitching duel was seen between Ernest Mecabe, the one-time Yale player, and the youthful Comerford. Mecabe kept the Crescent men down to three hits. Comerford was found for four hits but two of these were bunched in the seventh inning and gave the Foresters the winning run.

Sensational support backed up the pitching on both sides, although Bristol, the Crescent right fielder, made a poor guess of Mecabe's fly in the seventh, which fell through his hands. Both infields played airtight ball.

Ebeling, the Crescent centre fielder, who got two hits, beat out a bunt in the first inning and eventually reached third, but he got no further.

Mecabe opened the seventh for the Forest Hills by getting two bases when Bristol misjudged his fly. Kinney's single to left advanced him to third. Doyle drove a bounder at Randy Sides, the Crescent third baseman, and nailed Mecabe at the plate. Kinney reached third. Bryan fouled out to Butler, but Hulse shot a single over second that scored Kinney for the only run.

Van Vleck tripled to left in the fifth for the only extra base hit of the game, but Mecabe and Kinney could not score him.

ENGLISH TRAINERS RETIRE

Curtailment of Racing Forces Veterans Out.

The recent retirement of Dawson Waugh and Tom Jennings removes the names of two of the best known trainers from the English turf, the sole reason being the serious interference with horse racing caused by the war, from which the sport will take years to recover. Waugh had a particularly brilliant record, winning for W. Raphael just over $300,000 in stakes, including one Derby—very nearly two other Derbies, in one of which the shortest of short heads made all the difference between winning and losing—the One Thousand and Two Thousand Guineas, and many other races.

Jennings has a long string to his credit, which include the following "classics," the One Thousand, the Oaks, twice, the Grand Prix de Paris and the City and Suburban.

Turfman Leaves Fortune.

Robert Charles de Grey Vyner, one of the oldest patrons of the English turf and a well known owner, of Newby Hall, Yorkshire, who died on May 19 last, left the large estate valued for probate at $1,900,475.
