

Uncle Sam's Dogs of War

Are Very Busy These Days, Afloat and Ashore

A 12-inch Bulldog, which barks, bites and disappears simultaneously at Fort Wright, Fishers Island.

Copyright by Underwood & Underwood

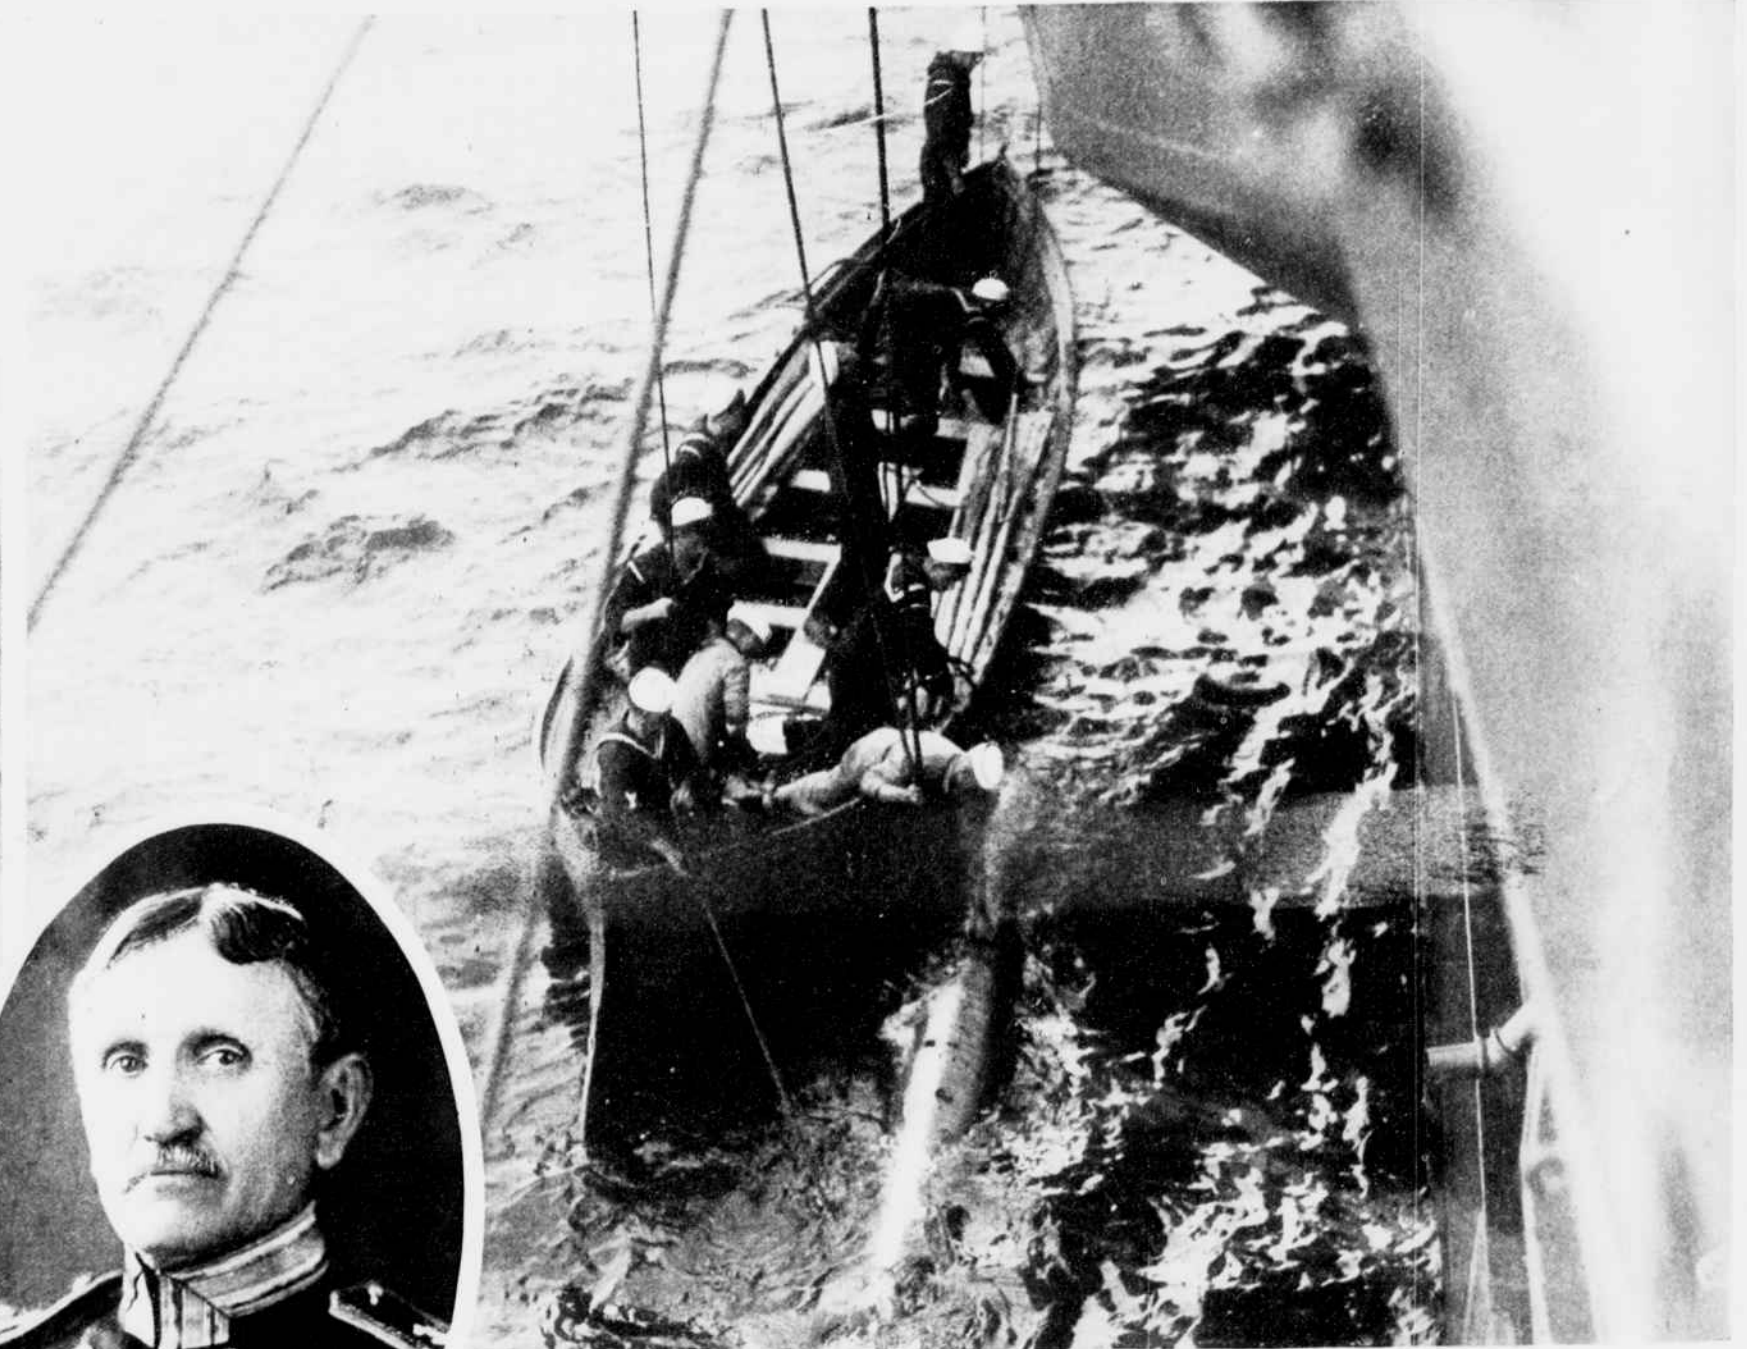

The head of the under-sea service, Captain Albert W. Grant.

Copyright International News Service.

Rear Admiral Caperton, U. S. N., the lid on the latest Haytian uprising.

Photo by H. H. Evans

Torpedo target practice—sailors of the Battleship Utah recovering a spent torpedo.

Photo by International News Service

"Up you go and down you come"—Blanket tossing at Fort Wright.

Copyright by Underwood & Underwood

One of the submarines built for Great Britain in Massachusetts.

Modern Photo Service