DEFENCE SEEN IN WATERWAYS

Association Interests U. S. in Developing Streams for War Protection.

DANIELS EXPECTED TO GIVE ASSISTANCE

Garrison and Redfield, Too, Will Co-operate Where Plans Affect Their Departments.

The development of the inland waterways of the Atlantic Coast as a means of national defence in time of war is one of the topics to which the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association will devote a large part of its time at the annual convention to be held in Savannah on November 9. In this it will have the co-operation of the War and Navy departments through Secretaries Garrison and Daniels. The commercial needs of such development will be taken up by Secretary Redfield.

Others who are expected to take part in the discussions are General D. C. Kingman, chief of the United States Army engineers, and Captain Walter L. Wilson, of the coast artillery. During the convention the Dolphin and a flotilla of torpedo and submarines will be in the Savannah River.

For the first time the Department of Commerce will figure in a maritime display. It will be represented at Savannah by the Coast and Geodetic Survey crack cruiser Isis, said to be one of the finest vessels in the service, and as a contrast the equally useful but less artistic Cypress, of the Lighthouse Service.

The new Coast Guard Service of the Treasury Department, which represents both the Revenue Cutter Service and the Lifesaving Service, will be represented by the Yamacraw or the Seminole. The coast guard will be represented on the speaking programme by Captain Godfrey L. Carden, commander of the Mohawk, at New York.

To reach the convention the Albany, Troy and up-Hudson delegation has chartered one of the Clyde Line steamers, and will go direct from New York. Many New England and New York delegates will join Philadelphians on a special train which starts at New York on Sunday, November 7. A special steamer, the Persian, of the Merchants and Miners' Line, will carry one hundred delegates from Philadelphia and vicinity. Another vessel will carry delegates mobilizing at Baltimore.

FUGITIVE AND $4,000 FOUND

Newark Man Accused of Robbing Widow Returns and Is Arrested.

After a search of more than two months Newark detectives yesterday arrested Rudolph Heubatschek, who in August disappeared and was alleged to have taken $3,750 and jewelry valued at $1,000 belonging to Mrs. Marie Allmond, a widow, of 617 Eighteenth Avenue. The police say they recovered all of the jewelry and $3,000 of the money.

Heubatschek had returned from Boston to visit friends in Newark. It is asserted he told the police he had become conscience stricken and intended to return the money and jewelry. The money was found sewed inside a shirt. Heubatschek will be arraigned to-day in the 1st Precinct court on a charge of grand larceny.

U. S. PLANS BIG TRADE CAMPAIGN

Commerce Bureau to Aid Merchants in Fight for World Supremacy.

SEEKS TO INCREASE ATTACHE SERVICE

Department Purposes Inquiries Into Conditions Abroad and Tariff.

Washington, Oct. 24. — Elaborate plans for a world-wide campaign for trade by the United States are revealed in the estimates of the Department of Commerce expenditures for the next fiscal year. Through the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the department purposes to aid American merchants and manufacturers in taking advantage of their wonderful opportunities and in preparing for the struggle for trade supremacy which commercial officials are certain will follow the war.

Reorganization of the staff in Washington and an increase to about twice its present size of the foreign commercial service are contemplated, according to Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau. Appropriations will be sought to provide for extensive investigations of commercial conditions abroad and for tariff inquiries by the cost of production division.

"The commercial agent service is the backbone of the trade promotion organization," said Dr. Pratt. "It is expected that under the appropriations asked for it will be possible during the fiscal year 1916-'17 to make investigation of the possible foreign markets for cotton textiles, motor vehicles, railway supplies, boots and shoes, agricultural implements, furniture, machinery of all kinds, electrical power equipment, structural material, wearing apparel, investment possibilities, etc. No large increase will be asked by the bureau for the establishment of branch offices in the United States, but the bureau hopes to extend this service through the co-operation of the local commercial organizations.

"The commercial attaché service has been in existence just about a year. It has proved so useful that an addition of ten commercial attaches will be recommended. These attachés, it is intended, will be stationed in such important countries as Japan, India, South Africa, Spain, Scandinavia, Italy, the Netherlands, the Balkan States, Central America, Venezuela and Colombia. With the present organization the commercial attaché service will then cover practically the entire world, and the equipment will then be equal to that of any other country.

"A similar increase in the bureau's work in promoting trade with Latin-America will be requested. This will enable the bureau to conduct a number of special investigations there.

"It is also planned to take up a series of market investigations abroad for the purpose of placing producers of raw materials and staple products in closer and more intelligent contact with foreign markets."

SEEK WOMEN'S VIEW ON PREPAREDNESS

Members of Special Relief Society Launch Defence Campaign at Washington.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]

Washington, Oct. 24.—Woman's point of view on the question of military education and preparedness is the subject of an investigation just launched by the executive committee of the Special Relief Society, the headquarters of which are in Fifth Avenue, New York. The society will gather information from Switzerland, Australia, Germany and other countries, as well as in the United States.

The society has begun an elaborate campaign among Representatives and Senators for adequate preparedness. Postcard appeals are being distributed to women's organizations, whose members are asked to send them to voters with the request that they be signed and mailed to their Representatives in Congress. The appeal reads as follows:

"The undersigned, a voter in your district, respectfully requests that you use your influence in the [illegible] Congress in behalf of an adequate preparedness."

Encouragement of the Plattsburg idea is another feature of the society's programme. It is purposed to furnish camp kits to men who are prevented from joining in the movement because of the cost of the equipment.

The officers of the society are Mrs. William Alexander, president; Mrs. William C. Potter, vice-president; Mrs. T. J. Oakley Rhinelander, treasurer; Mrs. John A. Logan, jr., secretary; Miss Luisita A. Leland, assistant secretary.

SAY JAPS KNOW DEFENCE SECRETS

Members of Congress Believe Plans of New Forts in Hawaii Are in Tokio.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]

Washington, Oct. 24.—Complete plans of the fortifications being secretly constructed by the United States to defend Hawaii are in the Japanese War Office, if the fears of members of Congress just returned from Honolulu are justified. Indignation at the lack of prudence displayed by the army officers in carrying on the construction work at these forts is hot among some of those just back, and it is probable that the matter will be aired at length in both houses of Congress.

"I was conducted into one of the old craters of a volcano which is being turned into a fort from which to fire mortars," said a Western Senator today. "The army captain who was showing me about told me that the location of the big mortars in the crater was absolutely secret, and for this reason it would be nearly impossible for fire from an enemy ship to destroy the guns. The size of the interior of the crater is so huge that merely locating the fire as coming from the crater would alone be valueless, or almost so.

"I looked at the tunnel through the side of the crater which had been constructed to permit the entry of the big guns and then I looked where the foundations for the mortars were being constructed, and I laughed aloud at the folly of the whole thing.

"'What are you laughing about?' the army captain asked me.

"'The absurdity of keeping anything in here secret,' I retorted. And then I pointed out to him that there were several hundred Jap laborers in that crater actually doing the work of preparing the gun foundations. Probably among them were a score of high Japanese army officers, including engineers and ordnance experts.

"If the Japanese should ever attack Hawaii, their ships, unless they have exercised a stupidity which they have never been guilty of in the past, will have accurate diagrams of the locations of all the guns in that fort."
