

The Conning Tower

Entered for the 1916 Gold Watch

This poem has no punch nor power: It's rather muddled up and mixed, e'en Though nothing better in The Tower Has yet appeared in 1916.

It has been a frightful and dark year, and one of its blackest deeds, as L. J. W. points out, is the undoubtedly terrible punishment inflicted upon the commander of the Austrian submarine which sank the Ancona.

Still, things might be worse, as Noah said to Japheth. The New Year's call is practically extinct.

AT 11:57 LAST NIGHT.

Blow on, O horns of tinny noise! (Gilbert did this some years ago) Blow, blow, ye noisy girls and boys! [They blow.]

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPPYS.

December 30—Lay late, wishing I need not rise at all. To the office, where all day at this petty job and that. With S. Wiso the minister to luncheon, and albeit he feigned headache, yet did he give C. Riepleman the bartender many a neat thrust at repartee, an art wherein C. poor wretch, hath no aptitude at all; only vituperation and abuse, as he is wont to give me. In the evening to New Jersey, to see B. Pemberton married to Miss Margaret McCoy, and a pleasant time I had of it, too, in especial with Miss Helen Tower, the merriest, prettiest maid I have met in a twelvemonth.

21—To luncheon with C. Riepleman, he sparing no expense and allowing me to have what I chose soever, even to some light wine, which, however, I forswore, having my task to do. To a jeweller's, and bought a fine watch for D. Taylor, but I becrudged the money not at all. Labouring hard all the day and into the night, when home, fair wearied with the year's labours and trials.

Even so Harvard and English use as Old Heywood Broun refers to a stage "from which all but he had fled."

THE MEMORY OF BUNNER.

Sir: Bunner was a great man. This generation—his own, too, for that matter—don't appreciate him. But at the same time, there are thousands to-day who would be glad to read him if they knew where to get his books. It is necessary to go through the labor of writing to "Puck," which holds the copyright on all except the Collected Poems, and I am not altogether sure that the new management of "Puck" continue publication of his works. What ought to be done is for some decent, far-seeing publishing house to purchase the copyright on the books from "Puck" and get out a definitive collected edition. I'm sure that if "Bunner" were on the open market in a pleasant, inexpensive edition, and by all means with the delightful old line-drawings that illustrated the early editions, the number of appreciators of the mellowest of American short-story writers would grow by leaps and bounds. But hold on. Why block him off as a short-story writer? There was "The Midge," for instance, one of the prettiest longer tales of its kind ever written, crammed with the color and the flavor of the New York of the early nineties; and others, too.

A. D. H. S.

Sir: You are right. There be Bunnerians, but not enough of them. Yet a whole half-full of folk can be made merry by the reading of his story "The Tenor." I have seen it done. Also, the true Bunnerian knows Brander Matthews' two essays about him, especially "The Uncollected Poems of H. C. Bunner," with its "Classic Journalism!"

The boss paper it was the South-Spartan Tribune, which was owned by a man of the name of Laocoon; and had a grand building, where down the two sides ran two rows of extra-sized Caryatides. 'Twas a very fine sheet, with a half-page of locals, Done up in neat style by J. Themistocles.

JARED BEAN.

One hates to remove any of the joy from life, but has it occurred to you who forget that you are aging that the class of 1920 will matriculate this year?

FIXBERG & FOXBERG
LIABEL LAWYERS AT RELIABLE PRICES
21 CANAL STREET.

My dear Mr. Schang: To-day reading the Conning Tower in the New Yorker Tribune we come upon a remark which it refers to you as a shorter and uglier gentleman by one Fredrick Dorr Schmiel.

Would say this is a gross and insulting label and we are ready to do business. Not alone it holds you in ridicule and contempt—the inwindow says plain as the nose on your face you are a liar!

We looked this feller Schmiel up by Bradstreet and while he has absolutely no rating whatever to speak of, we will take a chance this time of the year. The worst maybe we can get a couple would be of pictures for the office.

We are satisfied we got a good case and you are a sucker when you don't sue. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Yours truly,

FIXBERG & FOXBERG.

With Alvin Silver to help you, Be it pie, pudding or cake, He'll never once think of The kind I used to make.

For writing which poem Miss Ruby M. Hall of Cherokee, Ia., got a prize of a $225 chest of silver from the Alvin Manufacturing Co., and Bluepeppin justly thinks that in giving Smeed only a gold watch we ar shortchanging him.

AMOROUS RONDEAU.

Take it from me, dear boss, if thou but knew— Est with what pious zeal I worship you— (I should say "thee," but "thee" and "knew" don't mate)— I make so bold as to asseverate That stuff of mine thou'dst ne'er again taboo.

And this affection, sir, is honest, true; Ay, true as that the well-known sky is blue Or that the thoughts are few in Bryan's pate— Take it from me.

EDAR.

SICK SEMPER. Sir:—From the newspapers, I glean the fact that "Storm Has City in Grip." Investigation of health conditions in Philadelphia would lead one to believe that "Storm has gripped in city."

STAS.

RESPONSE TO D. B.'S PLAINTIVE M. Now, e upon you, spineless kicker, You ho no harder s than I; But, though your woes seem a nothing, Times may be B by and by!

NOREMAC.

For the benefit of those who may not have seen yesterday's Tower, we are reprinting, by acclamation, a paragraph.

Happy New Year!

SOCIETY DANCES GREETING TO 1916

Big Entertainment Given for Miss Stettinius and Four Hundred Guests.

MANY DINNERS PRECEDE BALL

Mrs. John Munro Hostess for Debutante Daughter at New Year's Party.

New Year's was welcomed in by society in a very gay and lively manner, with dances and supper parties at private homes, at country clubs and estates and at the fashionable hotels and restaurants, which were crowded with members of the smart set. The largest entertainment was given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Stettinius, at Sherry's, for their debutante daughter, Miss Isabel Stettinius. The entire tapistry suite and small ballroom on the second floor were used, and Mrs. Stettinius and her daughter received the guests, about four hundred in number, in the tapistry room. Several dinners were given before the dance, among the hostesses being Miss Anita DeWolf, who had in her party Miss Stettinius, Miss Adele Peck, Miss Marion Tiffany and Miss Emily Ford also gave dinners. The rooms were artistically decorated with spring flowers, in baskets, in which which were concealed tiny electric lights.

The dancing began shortly after 10 o'clock, and a few minutes before 12 the lights were turned out, and just before the hour struck ushering in the New Year the lights were turned on again and a trumpet entered and marched about the room trumpeting in 1916. Pandemonium was then let loose, for the guests were all supplied with the usual noise-making instruments that go with the celebrating of the night. During the supper a small string orchestra of clowns played, and the guests joined in singing the popular songs. Two orchestras played for the dancing.

The guests included several distinguished foreigners, some of the young married couples, the debutantes of the season, some of the older girls and the usual dancing men. Among them were Miss Anita DeWolf, Miss Adele Peck, Miss Marion Tiffany, Miss Emily Ford, Miss Anita DeWolf, Miss Adele Peck, Miss Marion Tiffany, Miss Emily Ford, Miss Anita DeWolf, Miss Adele Peck, Miss Marion Tiffany, Miss Emily Ford.
