

Once again the Liberty Bell is sounded, as Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, strikes it with a silver hammer, for the Liberty Loan. To the left is seen the horn of a phonograph recording the historic voice of the bell.

Photo © International Film Service.

The Manchuria, sinking stern first in New York Bay, after a crash in the fog with the U. S. Monitor Amphitrite.

Photo © International Film Service.

Above, young marchers in the Flag Day parade held by the West One Hundred and Thirtieth Street Neighborhood Association.

Photo © International Film Service.

To the right, Old Glory being carried in the parade in Brooklyn, with its honor guard of seven daughters of the borough.

Photo Central News Service.

Above, girls from the Queens County Red Cross, who have volunteered to make bandages at the Y. M. C. A.

Photo Press Illustrating Service.

To the left, above, a drink of water behind the lines from a novel drinking cup—a discarded shell case.

School children of Brooklyn exhibiting some of the produce raised by them at the Betsy Head Farm Gardens, at the general inspection of the city's food gardens last week.

Photo © American Press Association.

Members of the 1st France, fill the bleachers between St. Louis and