Sprays and Local Application Will Not Cure Catarrh

Don't deceive yourself, if by the persistent use of sprays, douches, salves and other local applications, you have stopped the discharge from your nose and throat. The trouble will return in a more aggravated form. It is said that the glands of the nose and throat act as an "emergency plug for the human sewage system;" that when the kidneys, skin and lungs are unable to properly dispose of some of the impurities that collect in those organs, such impurities are thrown out through the glands of the throat traceable to impure blood. Head colds, due to exposure, are not to be confused with that chronic, aggravated condition of the nose and throat traceable to impure blood. The best way to relieve this condition of chronic catarrh is by cleansing the blood of all impurities that have collected in the system. There is no better treatment than Plough's Prescription C-2223, the great blood purifier. This reliable alternative prescription treatment corrects the impure state of the blood, gives the tissues an opportunity to exercise their normal functions and results in the relief of the catarrhal condition so dangerous to good health.

To secure the best results in taking Plough's Prescription C-2223, the liver should be made active and the bowels regular. 2223 Liver Pills are recommended especially for this purpose. These pills do not sicken or gripe. One pill is a dose and only three need be taken a week to keep the liver and bowels in a healthy condition. Plough's Prescription C-2223 can be supplied you by any good druggist in large bottles for $1.50, the Pills for 25c; or the 2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., will mail both postpaid on receipt of $1.75. Samples of the Liver Pills and leaflet regarding Plough's Prescription C-2223 will be sent you without charge on receipt of this clipping with name and address.

AMUSEMENTS

Scene from "Whom The Gods Would Destroy"

AT THE ISIS THEATRE TODAY.

Liberty Theatre.
Quite a pleasant change from the miserable offerings of last week at this cozy little house is the presentation of Martin's Footlight Girls, with their many novelty acts and the up-to-date rags and the different comedy stuff. The saxophone playing is good and the contortionist is clever, while the chorus is especially well matched and nimble. The dancing of Messrs. Johnson and Pearl was also well received.

The songs, while few in number, are new and catchy and nicely rendered.

Pastime Theatre.
"Cranberries," a comedy playlet that is a mixture of romance and fun, is proving its right to headline honors on the half of the week. Lawrence Grattan takes the part of the boy who buys and sells a valuable cranberry bog with his wits, and, of course, wins the girl, a part played by Miss Lucy Monroe.

A huge fellow with a tight-fitting, pinch-back coat and a marvelous brown derby is a "scream." Welch of Welch, Mealy and Montrose act, and the laughs this big comedian gets almost interfere with the show. Mealy and Montrose are tumblers.

The University trio, three men with well blending melodious voices, sing just the right assortment of songs. Some of the heartiest laughs on the bill are caused by Harmon and Francis, two girls who drag their piano into the fun. John and Bertha Giee-son and Fred Houllhan offer a novel musical and dancing act.

Entire Village Wrecked in Big Macauley Film.

An entire village, especially built for the occasion, was destroyed to produce one of the spectacular scenes in "Whom the Gods Would Destroy," the adaptation of Charles R. Macauley's famous novel, to be presented at the Isis theatre today and tomorrow.

This action was essential to the producers to obtain the necessary effects in picturing one of the epochs of the subtle background of momentous dramatic occurrences which are presented in illustration of their portent and influence on the destinies of men and women. Through Mr. Macauley's story is woven a firm thread of romance, portraying the experiences of a man and a maid who endured an earthly hell of tortures and anguish in their search for love and happiness together.

Mary Pickford in "The Hoodlum."

New Sennett Farce is Packed With Fun.

A new Paramount-Sennett machine gun of laughter is at the Isis today. It is called "The Dentist," and is said to lay a perfect barrage of side-splitting-joy. Charlie Murray, a tooth doctor who puts pleasure before business, gets into the most trouble. He falls for his friend Finlayson's pretty stenographer and presents her with a lovely necklace. Finlayson likes the typist himself and goes after Charlie's scalp. He holds a mortgage on the dental office, and things look bad. Charlie's two tough brothers-in-law, who live with him, try to do him a good turn by stealing the necklace. Their crude efforts produce one of those wild Sennett scrambles that are guaranteed hurricanes of mirth. Mattie Prevost, one of those luscious beauties that have earned Mack Sennett the sobriquet of "the Ziegfeld of the screen," is the pretty stenographer. After you see her, you won't blame Dr. Charlie much.

Mary Pickford as "The Hoodlum" Has Marvelous Comedy Part.

Mary Pickford as Amy Burke in "The Hoodlum," her second production from her own studios, which will be seen, beginning Friday, at the Isis theatre, plays the part of a girl whose education is having a desperate time trying to affect.

The Algebra X in Comfort. All of the millions of Alexander Guthrie, her grandfather, fail to do little for Amy's other than provide her with a specially constructed desk, which gives her a mirror, four comb, three shades of powder puffs, one pair of shell rim glasses, one bag of mints, two novels by George Elliott, and one pen without a holder.

Amy's training, however, takes a decided spurt when she voluntarily goes with her father, a sociological writer, into the tenement districts, where he decides to write a book on citizenship. And while her father bends to the task of writing a book that will make him famous, Amy wraps herself in crazy-quilt clothing and the environment of the tenements which makes her a "hoodlum," much to the amusement of the audience.
