The great campaign is on in Georgia. Hoke Smith is a candidate for governor against "Little Joe" Brown, the man who defeated him two years ago. Both candidates say that they will remain quiet and not kick up much fuss in the way of a campaign, but that remains to be proved.

Next Monday is the great day on which it will be determined whether or not the white race will maintain its supremacy in the prize fighting ring as well as in other walks of life. The fight will be pulled off at Reno, Nev., and the governor of that State has promised that he will not interfere. Jack Johnson the "coon" will do battle with Jim Jeffries, the white (skin) man, and the result is by no means certain.

Handsome men and beautiful women are built on a frame work which is about the most hideous object which meets the human vision. Who knows a more repulsive object than the human skeleton divested of the adornments of skin and flesh? Upon this hypothesis we are hoping that the completed structure of the new Seaboard depot will prove both attractive to the eye and comfortable to humanity, but if the framework of the structure as we viewed it a few days ago doesn't develop a better and better looking building than it promises Madison people are going to be awfully disappointed with the new depot. Here's hoping that the building will develop from its framework as men and women do.

The County Commissioners Good Roads Association which held its annual session in Gainesville last week, made the following wise recommendations to the forthcoming session of the legislature which, if enacted into law, will result in inestimable value of the people: First: That the funds derived from the hire of State convicts be paid quarterly to the several counties of the State in proportion to their assessed valuation. Second: That all the funds thus paid to the counties be used exclusively by the commissioners for the purpose of constructing hard surfaced roads in said counties. Third: That the above named funds be used exclusively for connecting with the main line hard surfaced roads of adjoining counties, and all roads thus constructed to be located by the county commissioners of their respective counties subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund. Fourth: That the trustees furnish a competent engineer and road examiner to assist the county commissioners in laying out and locating roads and securing suitable road materials.

Political prognosticators estimate that the elections next November will send 224 democrats and 166 republicans to Congress; that Champ Clark of Missouri will be elected Speaker, a new tariff bill enacted, and that two years hence the democrats will not only capture the presidency but the Senate as well. It is devoutly to be hoped that the prognosticators have prognosticated not in vain. We have heard similar prognostications from time to time in the years that have passed. We agree with that part which prognosticates a democratic House after the next election and the election of Champ Clark as Speaker will naturally follow. We don't want to be a pessimist—we won't be, indeed we'll cheerfully agree that the conditions for a full realization of all the cheerful prognostications above set forth are more hopeful than they have been for many, many years, but—well, we hope they will be realized.

In the navigation of the air Germany leads all other nations. An aerial line for the transportation of passengers has been established between two of the German cities with unpronounceable names and several trips have already been made with a full cargo of passengers carried by the great dirigible ship the invention of Count Zeppelin. This ship has a length of more than four hundred feet and its passenger car a breadth of more than forty feet. Meals are served the same as in a Pullman car on the earth. The distance between the two cities is three hundred miles and the trip is made in about nine hours, while people are tumbling over themselves for the privilege of becoming passengers at the cost of twenty-five to fifty dollars for the trip. Germany may be a little ahead of us now but it won't take this country long to catch up with her example and surpass it.

"Prohibition" cannot be enforced. This is the cry of the distiller, the brewer, the wholesaler dealer and the saloon keeper. The statement finds an echo among the unthinking, says the Palatka News. Who are the law breakers? Why these self-same manufacturers and dealers. In effect they say, "we will not obey the law." They are anarchists. Here is an example: The sale of "near beer" containing one per cent. alcohol, is permitted in the dry counties of Florida. Do these brewers obey this law? Well, hardly. Mayor Matheson and Marshal Dell of Gainesville recently purchased a bottle of "near beer" in that city which they took to a chemist for analysis. It showed 7 1/2 per cent. alcohol. The booze dealers do not intend to obey any law that interferes with their business. It is this attitude that is making prohibitionists of the white people in Florida.

We have received the new catalogue from the University of Florida at Gainesville and are glad to note the progress that is being made. The attendance was materially increased during the past year and it is evident that our young men are waking up to the advantages offered there. We note that the University has been reorganized into distinct colleges, comprising those of Arts and Sciences, Law, Agriculture and Engineering. The faculty and officers number 46. Two new buildings have been added to the campus this year. This is our State Institution and we should be proud of it.

RUN-OVER LOCALS.

Prof. and Mrs. Walter Cate are visiting Mrs. Bishop. Mrs. Cate's mother at White Springs this week.
Mrs. B. D. Wadsworth accompanied by her son, Gordon Wadsworth, went Monday for a ten days sojourn at Hampton Springs.
Willie Brinson left Tuesday afternoon for the country where he will be for some time, having accepted a position with C. P. Kelly.
Mrs. Gordon Wadsworth and little daughter, Lilla, left Thursday for Live Oak where she will spend a week with her mother, after which she will go to Suwannee Springs for several weeks.
Rev. W. R. Ivey left Monday to conduct a protracted meeting for Rev. T. C. Barkley of Plains, Ga. Rev. Johnson of Lake City will fill Dr. Ivey's pulpit next Sunday in the morning and a Song and Praise service will be held in the evening.
Mrs. G. M. Simms and children and Mr. Kenneth Simms went to Ousley, Ga., last week in the car of the latter. While there they visited Mrs. Simms' parents. She returned to Madison Friday, but Mr. Simms remained until Monday coming through the country in his car.
The many friends of Rev. W. M. Conoley will be interested to learn that he is spending ten days in Greenfield, Ohio, where he was urgently invited to attend the nineteenth celebration of the Presbyterian church of that place. He will probably return to Madison for a few days the latter part of this week.

Little Miss Gladys Thornton and her cousin, Elizabeth McCallum arrived Saturday and Mrs. Kingsley McCallum Tuesday, all being the guests of Mrs. Matt Thornton. Gladys will return to Jacksonville after spending a week with her mother and Matt who is also here will return to Quincy where he will spend the summer with his grandfather Major Linea. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton expect to leave early in July for Denver and other points of interest.

Madison's young boys are made of the proper stuff—that is a good many of them are. With the closing of school a good many of the youngsters immediately sought employment, unwilling to "loaf" even after ten months of arduous school duties. Some found employment in stores, others in offices while some could find no work in any line which they would naturally have preferred. Nothing daunted, however, they declined to be idle simply because they could not get employment such as they preferred, but went forth with a determination to take anything they could get with the result that a "gang" of them are employed mixing mortar, rolling brick and doing anything else they can get to do around the buildings in course of construction in town. Such grit is commendable and it is a pleasure for us to let the world know that Madison boys are not above any honest labor.

The Big Head is of two kinds—conceit and the big head that comes from a sick headache. Does your head ever feel like a gourd and your brain feel loose and sore? You can cure it in no time by acting on your liver with Ballard's Herbine. Isn't it worth trying for the absolute and certain relief you'll get? Sold by W. B. Davis.

Misses Mae Vann, Josie McDonald and Vann Wilson spent Sunday in Ellaville with Mrs. Robt. Millinor.
Misses Amanda and Ruth Patterson who accompanied their brother Rev. Ira Patterson on his return to Tallahassee terminated their visit to him Wednesday and are now the guests of their sister, Mrs. T. E. Chaires at Chaires, Fla.

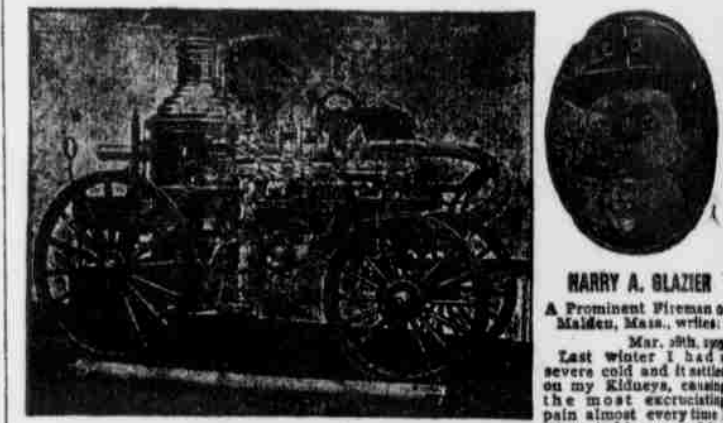

The party given by Mrs. W. M. Burton on Wednesday afternoon was a pretty compliment to Mrs. Walker of Valdosta, Mrs. Sharon and Mrs. Hinson of Quincy. The prizes of the honorees were lovely hat pins. The guest prize was a pretty belt pin and went to Mrs. E. J. Vann.

The preliminary hearing of Louis J. Sheffield for the killing of the Jeffcoats at Greenville on the 11th inst., was concluded before county judge Martin last Wednesday afternoon and after the arguments were submitted by counsel on both sides the judge entered an order holding the defendant in the sum of $2000 for his appearance at the fall term of the Circuit Court, to answer whatever indictment may be returned against him by the grand jury. Mr. Sheffield supplied the necessary bail bond and was released from custody.

SENSE OF HEARING.

Sound Waves and the Way They Act Upon the Ears.
The detection of the direction of a sound by the sense of hearing is like the rapid focusing of the eye on objects at different distances, one of those instinctive operations which are continually done without any conscious method.
Sound waves traverse the air as ripples stir the water, and the ear by experience acquires some slight power of detecting the direction in one case, as the eye does with far greater accuracy in the other. Usually we unconsciously receive assistance from other senses as well. Often we fail to locate at once some hidden source of sound, such as a singing bird, and then our instinctive ingenuity displays itself.
The intensity of sound is, of course, by no means so great behind a screen as in front of it, and every one carries with him the screen of his own head, which may prevent a particular sound from being heard so well by one ear as by the other. If, then, the head is turned until this inequality disappears and both ears hear equally well we know that we must be directly facing or turned from the source of sound, and our previous rough idea of its whereabouts generally prompts us to face it.
