INTERESTED CROWD HEARD FLY LECTURE

BY DR. KLOCK AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM SATURDAY EVENING. PLAYGROUND PICTURES DID NOT ARRIVE.
That the fly is dangerous because he spreads disease among human beings and is therefore a menace to the welfare of society was the burden of Dr. G. A. Klock's lecture before a goodly audience that gathered in the public school auditorium Saturday evening. Especial emphasis was laid upon the fact that flies have been found to be carriers of typhoid germs and consequently most efficient distributors of that form of morbid infection.
Dr. Klock's talk was illustrated with pictures prepared under the direction of the state board of health. These pictures were displayed on a screen by means of a stereopticon supplied by Rev. Holmes S. Rightmire, who operated the machine.
The lecture was given under the auspices of the civic department of the Palmetto club, and to Mrs. C. M. Wilder, one of the club's active and useful members, belongs much of the credit for the success of the effort to make the local public understand the importance of intelligently fighting to eliminate the fly.
It had previously been announced that an illustrated lecture on children's playgrounds would also be given, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association. This, however, had to be omitted because stereopticon slides expected from New York failed to arrive. The slides had been on the road several days, but evidently were delayed in transit.
The audience's disappointment over the non-arrival of the playground pictures was relieved when Mr. Rightmire began showing beautifully colored views of American scenes, many of which he had photographed himself.

CHANGE OF LOCATION FOR THE CLARK DRUG STORE

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Clark, proprietors of the Clark drug store, have leased for a term of three years the Geo. F. Smith building at the corner of Beach street and Magnolia avenue and will remove to it from their present location in the W. H. Gardner building, 140 South Beach street, as soon as the alterations and improvements now being made in the building are completed. They expect to get into their new quarters some time between now and the first of June. This is the building formerly occupied by the postoffice and more recently by Lucas, the "Land Man," and is an excellent location. Having more room Mr. and Mrs. Clark expect to enlarge their stock and otherwise prepare for increased business next winter. They will occupy apartments above the store.
C. A. B. Tice and family drove over to Osteen and Lemon Bluff, Sunday morning, in their car and returned in the afternoon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Theo. A. Tice and little son, who will remain here with them until Friday. Mr. Tice says they met 20 or more cars between this city and DeLand in the morning and on their return counted 20 cars on the road west of DeLand, which would indicate that they were from points beyond the county seat.

FISHERMEN DISCOURAGED BY MANY WATER MOCCASINS

L. J. Cowan and J. N. Gunn, of the local postoffice force, while out fishing for flounders Saturday night got into such a mess of water moccasins in the vicinity of Bethune point, south of this city, that they added cold feet to what were already wet pedal extremities and gave up the fishing. They killed four of the snakes with their flounder spears and saw quite a number more of the reptiles along the shore and swimming or floating in the shallow water along the bank. The snakes, which are counted poisonous, were probably denizens of the marsh land west of Bethune point.

REV. MR. JACKSON'S GREAT DISCOURSE TO GRADUATING CLASS

Find work to do and try to do it, have ideals and strive to live up to them, be clean and honest, and avoid the danger of becoming quitters. Those were among the earnest injunctions given to the graduating class of Daytona high school by Rev. S. Linnaeus Jackson, pastor of the Christian church, during the course of his baccalaureate sermon at the First Methodist church, Sunday morning. Seldom has a more scholarly, logical and forceful discourse been heard in a Daytona church, and the speaker was successful in holding the undivided attention of the members of the graduating class as well as that of the remainder of the congregation, which was unusually large.
The regular Sunday morning preaching services at the Baptist, Congregational, Christian and Methodist churches were dispensed with, their respective pastors, Messrs. Rightmire, Drew and Elder occupying positions on the rostrum with Mr. Jackson.
Flowers banked in beautiful profusion against the chancel and pulpit and upon the rostrum, and special music for the occasion added much to the delightful impressiveness of the service.

HALF HOLIDAY AT THE POSTOFFICE

Commencing next Thursday the Daytona postoffice will observe the general Thursday afternoon closing rule for the summer months. Mail will be received and dispatched as usual and the general delivery window will be opened immediately after the distribution of the incoming mail is completed. Like the business places the postoffice will close promptly at noon.
