GOT GOOD WATER.

What Mr. Buckner Did For Unfortunate Natives.

One Form of Practical Missionary Work—Tun- nelled and Refreshing Floods Burst Forth.

A venerable looking old gentleman, with a wife leaning on his arm, trod the decks of the brig Galilee as she lay at anchor in Mission bay last evening.

Previous to his visit the people of the island were compelled to drink warm and stagnant rain water, months old at some seasons of the year.

Mr. Buckner formerly conducted the Seventh-Day Adventist Church of Stockton, and was sent down to the island by the Oakland Adventists.

"Rain water is bad enough," said Mr. Buckner, relating his experience, "but this was old rainwater. Probably it was three months old, and originally it had been collected from a thatched roof.

"An old native one day in conversation told me that years and years ago the people of the island were supplied with the best of water by a stream that came out of the hillside, but which had been filled up by a landslide.

in about its old mouth that it had been compelled to change its course.

"I sent to Oakland here for more pipes, and we confined the water and led it down into the little town. Now the people are healthier and happier than they have been for years and years."

The people of Pitcairn Island, Mr. Buckner asserts, are the best he ever met. They are spiritually minded, and the students in the Adventist boarding school recently built to accommodate forty are making excellent progress.

The Gallies were forty days coming up from the city of Papeete, Tahiti. The length of the trip was principally due to calms and light winds.

MARKETING HUMAN FLESH. The plain of Ubangi, now the bone of contention between France and the Kongo State, is the home of confirmed cannibals, who eat no meat excepting that of man.

The intellectual specialty of the English, as we should contend, is their impatience of abstract ideas, their inability to believe that because an idea is sound they are, therefore, bound, even when it is inconvenient, to push it to its logical result.

Special English Traits. The intellectual specialty of the English, as we should contend, is their impatience of abstract ideas, their inability to believe that because an idea is sound they are, therefore, bound, even when it is inconvenient, to push it to its logical result.

It is saddening for the patriotic tourist after he has gazed with reverence at the towers of old Christ church to be told that he is not seeing the original windows from which Paul Revere hung out his lanterns, but a copy, the real tower having been blown down in the great gale of 1864.

The Largest Described Snake. Speke, in his narrative of the journey to the source of the Nile, describes the largest snake that has ever been seen by man.

A World Out of Joint. A poor devil tells his latest misadventure: "I had had nothing to eat for two days. In despair I threw myself into the Seine.

Men are often capable of greater things than they perform. They are sent into the world with bills of credit and seldom draw to their full extent.

The brain of woman is absolutely smaller than that of man, but is stated to be somewhat larger in proportion to the weight of the body.

By the Transit which arrived on the 4th inst., we received 100 Jewel stoves and ranges (one large car load) direct from the factory at Detroit.

This is our third shipment, and we find that we have only 4 stoves left from our previous lot.

The excellence of these stoves has already been proved by the large sale, but we will name three points:

First. Long life from the heavy high grade of iron which is the same in the $12 stove as in the $50 range.

Second. Economy in the use of fuel. Third. Quick and even bakers.

We propose leasing these stoves on the following terms:

When the stove is delivered one-third of the price is paid in cash, and the balance monthly thereafter in five equal payments.

If before the expiration of the five months, the lessee wishes to pay off the balance, he will be entitled to a discount of five per cent. on the amount unpaid.

If a customer wants to buy outright, he gets five per cent. discount on the whole amount.

Jewel stoves and ranges can be had only of us.

What Is PURIFINE?

It is the new disinfectant which has superseded all other disinfectants, being a scientific compound, having no odor, yet possessing the qualities of a powerful disinfectant.

The automatic distributor should be placed in every house in Honolulu where odors and germs of disease exist. They are placed free of charge, taken care of and kept working day and night for $1.00 per month.
