REPLIES TO JONES

MCCANDLESS GIVES PROMOTION VIEWS OF THE FOREIGN STEAMSHIP MATTER.

The article by P. C. Jones in the Star last night, in which he advocated efforts to get more American steamers rather than to amend shipping laws so that foreign steamers might do business here, aroused a lot of discussion. Members of the Promotion Committee took the matter up and discussed preparing an answer, in defense of its petition for amendment of the shipping laws.

"We appreciate fully the force of Mr. Jones' remarks," said J. A. McCandless of the committee, "but it is a matter of self-preservation with Hawaii, and we have a right to protect ourselves. The members of the Promotion Committee are as patriotic as anyone and fully agree with Mr. Jones' wish for American vessels, but the fact remains that we cannot get them, and we must have steamers. It seems therefore to the committee that the stand already taken is the property one, and we are glad that Secretary Straus so thoroughly approved it."

The Promotion committee has sent out about 600 copies of Secretary Straus' speech of last Thursday afternoon. A copy has been sent to each member of Congress and to a large number of leading editors all over the country. The speech is highly complimentary to Hawaii as a tourist resort, besides holding out very great promise for future business development, and it is regarded as very fine advertising for the islands.

EDITOR STAR: No doubt Mr. P. C. Jones wishes to present all of "The Other Side." Such a patriotic gentleman would hardly leave out such a telling little detail as the Oceanic subsidy by the New Zealand government. The English government do not subsidize any more than the Spreckels family run steamship lines for patriotism. Comparing services, accommodations and charges on the Pacific and Atlantic highways, one is charged about four times as much as the Atlantic voyager and has not the least approach to the same degree of comfort. The condition of the American mercantile navy is due to nothing less than our foolish laws which while intended to foster has only destroyed a navy that might have been very different from what it is now. The action taken by the Promotion Committee is one that should recommend itself to everyone who has the interest of these islands at heart and was only taken on the withdrawing of the Oceanic steamers.

Sincerely yours,
SUBSCRIBER.

WARNING TO HILO

GURREY TELLS HILOITES THEIR CITY IS SURE TO BURN IF THEY DON'T ACT.

HILO, August 8.—Probability of a serious conflagration stares Hilo in the face, in the opinion of A. B. Gurrey, secretary of the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Territory of Hawaii. Gurrey points out the weak spots and the needs, at the same time suggesting remedies. Dangers from poor construction of buildings, from electric wires, from a lack of building laws and inspection, all point, in Gurrey's opinion, to the inevitable, a fire that will sweep along Front street and leave every building in ashes.

The Board of Trade has appointed a committee to draft an ordinance to provide building regulations and for the appointment of a fire marshal. The need of both is apparent from Gurrey's letter to the Board, which contains the following:

"Your city front will surely burn some day if there is anything in experience to be relied on. I think I can say with perfect truth that there is no frame town on the coast from British Columbia to the Mexican line and as far east as Colorado that existed 20 years ago but what has been destroyed by conflagration, and why not Hilo? and when it comes, how far will it burn? Where have you any fire stops you can rely on? You have only your narrow streets. The reliability of your one fire engine under heavy streets is somewhat questionable. You have good hose and a good supply—your water pressure is good—I am not sufficiently informed as to the adequacy of your water supply under heavy drain to speak of it."

"I note too that you are not improving your fire hazard, in the last year or so there has been constructed right in your business quarter, in the center of the block, some wooden buildings that add greatly to the hazard and still another large frame building was under construction while I was in Hilo. "I hope no one will be aggrieved at this frank statement of conditions, I have stated them as I saw them looking at them from the view of an insurance man. Possibly we insurance men take more serious views of such matters than a layman would but we have had such woeful experience in this class of business that it is impressed deeply on our minds; but you will see that any reduction of insurance rates until conditions improve, is out of the question."

SAYS WIFE MAKES A GOOD SALARY

ZEAVE ANSWERS CHARGES OF DESERTION AND FAILURE TO PROVIDE AND DENIES BOTH.

An answer was filed yesterday by Nathan Zeave, against whom Fannie Zeave has instituted divorce proceedings on the grounds of desertion and non-support. The defendant denies the allegation that he had abandoned his wife, but says he went to San Francisco with full approval of his wife in order to look for work at his trade which is that of carpenter and joiner. He also denies that he ever refused or neglected to provide for his wife, according to his best ability. He further alleges that she has since December, 1902, been employed at a salary of $150 per month.

Zeave also claims that together they own considerable real and personal property, held in the libellant's name and in her control, and he asks the court to restrain her from disposing of such property.

J. J. Dunne appears as attorney for libellee. This suit is one of long standing, having been instituted in February, 1905. It has been up to the Supreme Court where it was thrown out, and was again revived in the Circuit Court.

The German Royal Scandal

A cousin of the Emperor banished from the German Empire after degradation at the hands of William himself, seems to be but the beginning of a series of punishments to be inflicted on men high in social and political power in the land. No less a person than Prince Philip zu Eulenberg, a man of the highest culture and one of the greatest landowners in Germany, is said to be the leader of the debaucheries which have shocked the whole of Europe. He is the owner of one of the most beautiful estates in Germany, has served in the Garde du Corps and fought gallantly in the wars with Austria and France; has a fine reputation as a poet and composer and a most charming personality. Yet, in spite of this record and these accomplishments, he has incurred the wrath of his Emperor and Germany holds its breath awaiting the result of the royal inquisition into the charges of immorality laid at his door and embracing some of the hitherto fairest reputations in the land of the Kaiser.

EDITOR AYRES IS HELD TO ANSWER

HAS HEARING BEFORE UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER GEORGE A. DAVIS AND IS HELD TO AWAIT ACTION OF THE GRAND JURY.—RELEASED ON BAIL IN THE SUM OF ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

H. M. Ayres, editor and owner of the Referee, who was arrested about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by United States Deputy Marshal Winters on a charge of sending obscene literature through the mails, was given a hearing this morning before United States Commissioner George A. Davis, who bound him over to answer before the 14th United States District Court on October 14th. Bail was again fixed at $1,000. The warrant upon which the editor of the Referee was arrested was sworn out yesterday afternoon by U. S. Postoffice Inspector Frank J. Hare, on information furnished by William L. Whitney, Judge of the local district court.

The article in question which resulted in the action of the Postoffice authorities appeared in Ayres' paper on June 22nd, and is generally known as the "Palolo story," being an account of several teachers who are said to have been surprised while in bathing by a small boy. The manner in which the story was handled in the Referee was ruled to be obscene and lewd by the Postmaster General's Department to which the matter was referred.

At the hearing before the commissioner this morning, Judge Whitney appeared as a witness and testified to having received a copy of the paper through the mails, and Postmaster J. G. Pratt and Inspector Hare, also testified to the use of the mails by the publication.

There was evidence of some sympathy for Ayres from the fact that since his trouble with Sam Johnson some weeks ago over an item in his paper, which resulted in Johnson's being haled into police court on charge of assault and battery, his publication has been much freer from objectionable features than previously, and was generally conceded to be unobjectionable. The arrest therefore came somewhat as a surprise, as it was generally thought that the feeling against Ayres had subsided and nothing further would be done.

Judge Whitney, the complaining witness, is the judge before whom Sam Johnson was tried for assaulting Ayres and who promptly discharged the defendant.

Through the courtesy of Deputy Marshal Winter, Ayres was permitted to send from the jail last evening for proofs of his paper, and by means of messengers, he was enabled to get the Referee out this morning as usual.

Ayres was not locked up again this morning, being admitted to bail on security furnished by himself and his wife, which was approved by the District Attorney.
