

Our Men's Furnishings

(Or as one of our department heads put it, MEN'S SMALL NEEDS).

Department

Is prevalent and redolent with an air of good taste. The flowers in glass bowls which grace the showcases are rivalled by the Silken Blossoms woven into our latest Neckwear. The colors of our Business Shirts are pleasing and artistic. The English and American Underclothing of serviceable and fine textures lends a substantial air to the whole, to which the dainty things intended for men's wear adapt themselves with good grace. Magnificent value is coupled with modest price in such a way as must give our store an additional prestige as a men's wear shopping center.

EDGAR HAS GONE

Attorney Cayless Now on Way to Washington.

Will Handle Cases of Certain Land Claimants—Robert Wilcox to Follow—"Does"

Edgar Cayless, the attorney, newspaper correspondent and phonograph fiddler, has started for Washington, D. C., via San Francisco and Seattle. Mr. Cayless will swoop down on the departments and the solons at the capital of the United States early in the New Year. He has been there professionally before and knows that in all likelihood the whole of the month of December will be used in the organization of Congress and he conjectures that after that war measures will have the right of way for quite a time. However, he will get to work early in 1900 and will remain at the post on his assignment indefinitely.

In two or three months Mr. Cayless will be joined at Washington by Robt. Wilcox and perhaps a small group of Robert's political and business associates.

At the Oceanic Steamship company offices yesterday, Mr. Cayless carelessly tossed out a few gold pieces to pay for his excess baggage on the Alameda. One piece had a special guard to the wharf and will not be out of the watch or keeping of Mr. Cayless till it reaches Washington and is put into commission. If an American congressman had this particular bit of baggage he would frank it through with a label "Pub Does." The box contains papers in the preparation of which Mr. Cayless and several others have been engaged for a number of months. Cayless is said to be a lawyer of considerable ability and his evidence for the claimants is declared to be beautifully engrossed in addition to being in proper form throughout. For the most part the papers relate to the claims of Mrs. Franklin Pratt and Mrs. Robert W. Wilcox to public lands in the Hawaiian Islands. These are the same acres covered by Liliuokalani.

When approached for an interview yesterday Mr. Cayless was not at all inclined to be conversational concerning his mission. He said he was going as attorney for Mrs. Wilcox and others in the matter of their claims to title in public lands here. He declined to say whether or no he would join suit with Liliuokalani. He rather gave the impression that this was a detail to be settled upon later.

There is current a story to the effect that Mr. Cayless has been confidentially engaged by a faction here that is "agin' the ins" and that he will do all in his power to thwart the Washington plans of General Hartwell and William O. Smith. It is believed on account of knowledge of Cayless' known personal connections here that this is correct. He has identified himself with the community by establishing a home here, and while he has seldom appeared in court, has been a hard worker all the months since the S. S. Columbia brought him to Hawaii's hospitable shores.

Seamen's Club Social.

There were about 120 spectators for the special entertainment at the Seamen's Club last evening and Promoter Cooke and Manager Smith were correspondingly elated. There was a magic lantern or stereopticon exhibition occupying about forty minutes. Then a number of volunteers from amongst the audience, including several clever musicians and readers, were heard. Mr. Conns, of the Y. M. C. A., gave an exhibition of Indian club swinging that pleased all. When the only lights in the house were at the ends of the clubs the audience was especially enthusiastic.

These entertainments are given once or twice a month and have become very popular.

At the Orpheum.

J. W. Winton's clever feats of ventriloquism have caught on with Orpheum audiences. Last night keen appreciation was shown throughout and unstinted applause accorded.

Dreyfuss and Hearde still retain the favor of their special admirers—the whole audience—and Rand and Byron scored heavily with their comedy and by-play. Jack Rand, in his one-man act, "Silence and Fun," did some very clever work, and Miss Dixon's singing in the minstrel first part was much enjoyed.

Circuit Court.

In the Circuit Court yesterday, before Judge Perry, J. Cummins, charged with furious and heedless driving, was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $75 with $18.50 costs of court added.

In the matter of William H. Mahuka, trustee, Helen Rosa filed an answer in her own behalf and that of her three children, and consents to have the case heard and disposed of this morning at 9 o'clock or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard.

After 10 Years.

After ten years' submersion ten piles which for that length of time have supported the Likeliest wharf were taken up yesterday to make room for extension to the wharf, and, although the timber is still sound, were found to be encrusted with about an inch in thickness of marine growth.

The annual meeting of the Healan Yacht and Boat Club will be held Tuesday night next at the clubhouse at 8 o'clock.

Is on in full swing, and we are prepared to outfit you in anything you may require in the way of Fall Dress Goods.

HERE YOU HAVE a partial list of the many things you will want for the opening night: A full dress suit, either Tuxedo or skirt coat, a full dress vest, white or black, a full dress shirt, a full dress pair of gloves, set of full dress studs and cuff buttons, and a crash hat.
