MOORE WON'T PLAY BALL
Al. Moore wishes to deny the report that he has signed to play baseball with the Maile Ilmas this season. He declares that he is through with the game and won't play for the Mailes or any other team.
Moore is said to be well up in the running for the job of umpire.
FAMOUS RUSSIAN POETESS.
The "poets' corner" in the cemetery of the Alexander Newski cloister in St. Petersburg has been augmented by the grave of Myrrha Lochwizkaya (Ybert) one of the few Russian women who have attained eminence for their poetry. She was the daughter of a prominent lawyer in St. Petersburg, where she was born in 1869. In 1896 her first volume of poems was issued. Three other volumes followed. Her verse is characterized by Oriental touches, and her favorite theme is love.

HERE AND THERE

It looks as if football revision, like the tariff, has a strong bunch of "standpatters."
In suing Collier's Weekly for $1900 Player Irsfield evidently estimates that, after deducting lawyer's fees and expenses, his reputation ought to be worth a dollar or a dollar and a half.
Automobile prices are going up. We presume the agents have decided to add a couple of extra installments.
Joe Choynski is in business. He is traveling on the road with a line of trimmings. Joe ought to be a good man with that kind of a line. He has been giving and taking trimmings most of his life.
A brutal sport does not necessarily corrupt its participants. Think how well prize fighters treat their folks.
Jack O'Brien was touched for a $2500 check, a $250 headlight and a $100 bill. He protested the payment of the check, the bauble was only an imitation of the real one in the strong box at home, and as for the $100 bill, we think, from what we know of Jack's ability to corral the long green, that it won't stay away long.
In the progress of football reform we have reached the stage where the institutions which don't cut much ice are opposed to the game.
Athletics are not so bad for educational purposes after all. They are inducing a large and growing number of young men to attend classes through the summer quarter.
Thus far not a 2-year-old with an unpronounceable name has been uncovered.
Steeplechasing continues to be as fatal and attractive as ever.
Lucky Baldwin, who was reported recently as having only a few hours to live, is now said to be in feeble health. He will probably come over the mountains in the spring with a new string of horses.
From the work he has been doing of late young Cupid ought to have honorable if belated mention as tackle on the All-American team. He's certainly bringing 'em down.
The American Derby will be so classic in a few years that excavation will be necessary to find the scene of the historic struggles.
Danny Maher intends to retire from racing while he is still at the top. Tod Sloan also retired from that position, and his expert opinion is that a man should come off gradually.
Moscow also has a Derby that any one is welcome to.
Labor leaders and college professors might make it a joint affair. Both are trying to eliminate slugging.
Dick Cullen, the clever California lightweight, is now at Perth, Western Australia, where he is matched to box Jack Cullen and Peter Murphy. Cullen has asked Tim Hegarty to meet him in a twenty-round contest on Perth Cup night.
Jack Cook of London, who recently defeated Jack Lalor in a contest at Johannesburg, South Africa, for the middleweight championship of Australia, will visit America at a near date.

NEW RULES FOR GOLF
The Bogey Competition May Be Differently Governed.
A local golfer has received a copy of a set of rules drawn up by the Irish Golfing Union, to regulate the Bogey competition in golf, ever becoming more popular with club men.
The Bogey competition probably causes more disputes and misunderstandings than any other phase of the game, and the new rules simplify matters considerably and are likely to become generally adopted.
The rules are as follows:
That the rules of golf for match play and the local rules, so far as they are not at variance with the following special rules, shall apply to Bogey competitions:
A Bogey competition is played by holes won or lost against a fixed (or Bogey) score for each hole. The competitor who makes the best return against this fixed score shall be the winner. The captain, or, in his absence, the secretary, shall direct how ties shall be played, and shall settle all disputes.
The rules of each hole shall be kept by a qualified marker, or by one competitor noting another competitor's score, and he shall mark on an authorized card the total strokes at every hole immediately after the hole is played, which the player claims to have won or halved. Where a hole is lost or given up the sign shall be deemed sufficient indication without marking the strokes. On completion of the round of 18 holes the card shall be signed by the marker, and handed to the secretary, or placed on a post provided for that purpose, after which no correction or alteration can be made.
It is recommended that a cross sign be adopted to denote a win; a zero to denote a half, and a dash to denote a loss.
It is usual to observe the honor when playing from the teeing ground and order of play, when playing through the green, but there is no penalty for a breach of those rules, and a ball can not be recalled.
A competitor shall lose a stroke if his ball strikes himself, or caddy, or his clubs, or if he plays on the putting green when the flag is in the hole, or when so playing his ball strikes an opponent's ball.
A competitor shall lose the hole if he plays from outside the limit of the teeing ground, or if he does not hole out his ball. But if it is discovered before competitor has played from a teeing ground, or before he leaves the 18th putting green, that he has holed out at the last hole he played, with the wrong ball, he is then at liberty to find his own ball (within five minutes of such discovery being made) and hole out, without penalty.
A competitor may have another competitor's ball listed from any part of the course, if he considers it in any way interferes with his strokes; but when both balls are on the putting green a competitor may require the ball lying nearer the hole to be lifted, or holed out (at owner's option), but if he fails to make this request and his ball strikes his opponent's ball, he shall lose a stroke, and his opponent's ball shall be replaced.

NEWS OF THE KENNEL CLUB
Very considerable interest is being manifested in Kennel Club matters and the charter roll of members now exceeds 60.
Among the members enrolled is a prominent young lady who takes great interest in canine pets, and who has visited many bench shows at the Coast.
Bench shows, like horse shows, in large cities become society events and many of the members of the new club think that Honolulu can make a very creditable display of good dogs and pretty gowns too.
The Hawaiian Poultry Association surprised residents by their recent fine display and it is believed that the Kennel Club can do equally as well as its older brother.

FOOTBALL'S TOLL 1905.
Football accidents resulted fatally to twenty-four players during the season of 1905, a larger number than ever reported before. For the first time, so far as known, the game caused the death of a girl. The list:
KIND OF INJURY.
Spinal 6
Internal 5
Cerebral hemorrhage 3
Skull fracture 3
Miscellaneous 7
CLASSIFICATION.
Girl player 1
High school boys 14
College men 3
Others 6
17 years or under 11
The number seriously injured, including fractured limbs, concussion of brain and internal injuries, was over 200.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.
Editor, Pacific Commercial Advertiser: Please allow me a few remarks touching on the reference in your issue of the 17th inst. to the organization of dog owners for the purpose of forming a club. It does me good to read your notice following so closely upon a report in the Star some three or four days ago, where it gives warning against dog thieves. I lost a valuable dog some few days ago, which was taken lock, stock and barrel out of his kennel in the back part of my premises and it has not yet been recovered. I am out about $25 in cash besides the loss of a valuable animal, but there is no use in crying over spilt milk, although I would give quite a sum of money to know where it has been taken to. The Dog Club's attention might well be directed in rounding up thieves in this line.

SHOWS ITALY'S PROGRESS.
The circulation of notes of Italy's banks of issue, put forth to further the interests of trade, amounted to 1,277,000,000 lire on December 31, 1904, 41,000,000 more than on the same date in 1903. Nor is this due to any accidental or artificial efforts; it is the legitimate growth of the nation's issues to meet the rapidly rising trade of industrial and commercial progress.

CONFESSION OF MURDER
An Accused Porto Rican Will Try to Save His Neck.
Iladio Gonsalves, a Porto Rican, indicted for murder in the first degree, has confessed his guilt and will plead guilty in the second degree. If the prosecution accept this plea, it will assure the murderer's neck against the gallows. He killed Francisco Torrens on April 23 by stabbing him in the back, the wound being speedily fatal. The evidence against him was circumstantial up to his confession.

HARRIS AT THE BELM
something relative to the eight hour law, which he had heard was being violated on certain public works. "We do not want to be classed as labor agitators," he said, "but we should have the sand to stand by a law when we secure its passage."
"What public works is the law being violated on?" asked President Harris. "The Nuuanu reservoir, I believe," said Mr. Nott. "I have heard that the men there are worked nine hours a day."
"Are they not paid by the hour?" asked the president. "If they are, there is no way to reach it."
"It may be that they are," replied Nott. "They advertised for day laborers, at $1.35 a day. That would be nine hours, with fifteen cents extra for the additional hour."
Nothing came of this discussion, either, and the Exchange adjourned, after Vice President Stephenson had been called upon and had expressed his adherence to the policy of progress, and his determination to do all in his power to secure the rehabilitation of the Exchange. In fact the members present, at one time or another during the evening, all expressed themselves most determinedly in the purpose to have the organization take the part in public affairs that it did in the old days.

TREASURER WINS MANDAMUS SUIT
Judge Lindsay sustained the plea of respondent to the jurisdiction in the mandamus suit of S. Yamamoto against A. J. Campbell, Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii, to compel the respondent to issue to complainant a license as a pharmacist.
The plea thus sustained was entered by M. F. Prosser, Deputy Attorney General, and was "that the circuit courts of the Territory of Hawaii, as such, have no jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus," and "that the petition herein is addressed to the presiding Judge of the Circuit Court of the First Judicial Circuit of the Territory of Hawaii."
CAUTIONS ATTORNEY.
The trial of Santos for maiming reached the stage of the defense shortly before Judge Robinson adjourned court yesterday. Mr. Hogan is conducting the defendant's case strenuously—so much so that once Judge Robinson cautioned him not to rely on old acquaintance so far as to exhaust the patience of the court.
