A RECENT TRIAL.

The crim. case of R. Briggs vs. J. R. Mills, recently tried in court was one in which damages were claimed to the amount of $10,000.

Suits of this kind have been rare in our courts; for what particular reasons, however, it would not be easy to determine, as facts of a character analogous to those which have led to the prosecution in question, have only been too common in our community.

Recent advice from Hilo of the action of the authorities relative to their treatment of the Norwegian deserters of the Papalio plantation, is a most interesting and instructive case.

We have strong grounds for the belief that the writer of the "Pae Aina" article-"True Republic," of which we give a translation elsewhere, fully perceived the true nature of the case.

On Wednesday morning two incendiary placards in manuscript were found posted up in Honolulu, one near the depot and the other near the Bethel Church, threatening the burning of all sugar plantations from Hawaii to Kauai...

A PHASE OF THE CHINESE QUESTION. The San Francisco Bulletin of the 14th of last month has an editorial with the cheerful title-"The Doom of the Kamuks," in which it quotes from dispatches of the former Vice-Governor and the present Minister Resident of the United States at Honolulu, to the State Department at Washington, respecting the rapid influx of Chinese into this Kingdom.

When, several years since, a warning voice was raised that the unlimited immigration of Chinese males would prove a serious evil, it was replied that the agricultural interest of the country needed more labor; that the Chinese were most available and best adapted, and that when the demand was supplied, the immigration would cease.

The following is from the "Pae Aina" of the 8th instant: "True Republic." One evening recently at a revival meeting, a son of a missionary arose, apparently much harassed with the guilt of some secret deeds of the class to which he belongs, and proceeded to speak to his hearers, who were full of grief and heavy with sorrow, because they knew of the secret doings of the class to which he belonged.

THE NATIVE PRESS. The "Pae Aina" of the 8th instant contains a notice of a meeting of the Hawaiian Native Press Association, held at the residence of the Hon. J. R. King, on the 24th of the month.
