RHEUMATISM AND PILES CURED BY AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Mr. W. JENNINGS, Adelaide, S. A., formerly of Hawthorn, near Melbourne, Vic., writes:

"For the past 3 or 4 years, I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism and piles. I tried all sorts of medicines, but derived no good from them. I chanced to read one of your books and thought I would give your Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and after taking one bottle I felt better, and after taking 4 bottles I was a new man. I was sorry I never took it before, for it would have saved me very much pain."

THE CITIZENS' GUARD.

Scenes at Its Reunion on Saturday Evening.

The first gathering of the entire Citizens' Guard took place at the drill shed on Saturday evening last and was a most pronounced success in every respect. To say who was there would fill a column. It is enough to say that some four hundred of the best people in Honolulu, from the President down, were present. President Dole and his cabinet, the officers of the army and Citizens' Guard, members of the Executive Councils and Legislature, Captain Cochrane of the Philadelphia and other invited guests were seated at one long table in front of the stereopticon, while the rank and file of the Guard seated themselves as they pleased. Although Captain Murray had covered the great hall with tables closely lined together there were but few vacant seats. It being Saturday evening many members of the Guard had to work, otherwise the attendance would have been much larger. While the members were gathering together the Hawaiian band played a few patriotic airs at the entrance.

After a few preliminary remarks by Chairman McStocker the entertainment opened with a stereopticon exhibition by Mr. C. Hedeman, assisted by Dr. Pratt. Captain C. E. Ripley acted as lecturer and kept the audience on the alert with his witticisms.

The first scene displayed was that of ex-queen Liliuokalani leaving the legislative hall previous to proclaiming her new constitution. Then followed pictures of the Committee of Safety, the first cabinet of the Provisional Government, the discharge of the ex-queen's guard, the commission sent to Washington and the Claudine. Afterwards come pictures of John L. Stevens and Captain Wiltse, both of which were greeted with loud and prolonged applause, then the old familiar warship Boston, and the raising of the American flag over the government building. A fine picture of Commissioner Blount and wife was received in silence. A picture of the officers of the Annexation Club, the Constitutional Convention and the proclamation of the Republic on July 4th followed, then a series of portraits of President Dole and his cabinet, ex-Minister Thurston, Wilcox, Bush, Nowlein, Marshal Hitchcock, Captain McStocker, P. C. Jones and C. Bolte. After these come pictures of the outside squads of the Citizens' Guard consisting of Dr. Pratt's, Simonson's, Pearl City's and the Liliha Rifles, finishing with Everybody's Squad. A picture of the police squad outside the old armory followed and then in rapid succession those of the six Military Companies, the Military Commission and the Sharpshooters. Before displaying a fine portrait of Charles L. Carter, Mr. Ripley asked the audience to rise as a tribute of respect to his memory. Then came pictures of the city squads of the Citizens' Guards, one of the warship Philadelphia and one of its battalion in the act of sealing the walls of Kawaihaio church. The next representation provoked roars of laughter. It portrayed the Committee on Caps trying on various specimens of headgear. Then came another picture of President Dole surmounted by the American Eagle which was received with rounds of applause. The word "Refreshments" then came on the screen and rapidly faded into the word "Pau."

Captain Murray, who had charge of the commissary arrangements, at once set his department in order, and the celerity with which platesful of hot smoking and well-cooked beans, sandwiches of all kinds and an assortment of mineral waters were served around, reflects credit on his abilities in the line. The silverware was also much admired. While these preparations were going on P. C. Jones moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Messrs. Hedemann and Pratt for the excellent entertainment they had afforded, which was carried unanimously, and a sextette composed of Messrs. Wm. Hoogs, C. A. Doyle, C. M. Cooke, H. F. Wichman, H. Gahan and F. B. McStocker enlivened the audience with patriotic songs.

When all had eaten their fill Chairman McStocker called upon President Dole for a few remarks. The President thanked his hearers for the kind and enthusiastic manner with which he was greeted with loud cheers and his few remarks were listened to with great interest.

Minister Hatch followed and read a clipping from a Washington paper stating that the Hawaiian oligarchy was on its last legs. He said the present assemblage was a sufficient refutation of that and similar slanders against the Republic.

Captain Cochrane of the Philadelphia was next called on. He was greeted with cheers and after telling a story about a dog which was a neighbor of President Lincoln's, delivered an exceedingly interesting impromptu address.

Captain Cochrane was followed by Hon. P. C. Jones, Attorney-General Smith, Col. McLean, General Hartwell, Mr. Waity of Bishop & Co.'s bank, Captain Ripley, Marshal Hitchcock and Lieutenant Jones, all of whom made short speeches which space will not permit the BULLETIN to print.

ABOUT THE HALL.

Captain Murray was ubiquitous and the harder he worked the better he seemed to like it. But those assistants of his would talk during the speech-making.

The stereopticon view of P. C. Jones was greeted with roars of laughter. It represented that gentleman enjoying at afternoon nap on the veranda at Maunaloa. Mrs. William Hall got a snap shot at him.

P. C. Jones created much amusement by detailing his experiences during the insurrection as messenger boy of the Nuuanu valley squad.

Some time ago I was taken sick with a cramp in the stomach, followed by diarrhoea. I took a couple of doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was immediately relieved. I consider it the best medicine in the market for all such complaints. I have sold the remedy to others and every one who uses it speaks highly of it. J. W. STRICKLER, Valley Center, Cal. ### THE SUPREME COURT.

Arguments in Cupid's Case End This Morning.

At 10 o'clock this morning Paul Neumann resumed his argument before the Supreme Court. The principal points relied on were that although the writ of habeas corpus was suspended, it suspended no other of the rights and privileges guaranteed to the citizen under the constitution; that under the express terms of the proclamation the courts were open and such being the case they had exclusive jurisdiction over all crimes, except those against military law; that under the laws of Hawaii or any where else, misprison of treason was not a crime against military law except under certain conditions which do not apply in this case; that no necessity as required by the Constitution existed for the trial of cases of misprison of treason by a Military Commission; that under no circumstances could the action of the Commission be retrospective or retroactive and that under such construction of the law Cupid's offense having been committed before martial law was proclaimed the court could not have jurisdiction.

At a few minutes before twelve Mr. Neumann closed his argument, but good naturedly allowed General Hartwell a few minutes more on his side of the case.

The Chief Justice asked about briefs and Mr. Neumann answered that his would be ready to-morrow, but for the Government, Mr. Thurston requested several days. The Chief Justice remarked that under the circumstances the court could hardly be expected to decide the case within three or four weeks and adjourned the court sine die.

Having used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and found it to be a first-class article, I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends. J. V. FOSTER, Westport, Cal. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for Hawaiian Islands.
