BRITAIN TO RECOGNIZE CAPT. COOK AT LAST

OBELISK IN YORKSHIRE

Honolulu Man Receives Photo of Statue Soon To Be Unveiled

Capt. Cook, famous discoverer, whose history is forever linked with that of the Hawaiian islands, and to whose tragic death a monument has been erected at Kealahou Bay, is at last to be fittingly recognized by Great Britain.

F. Cartwright, of the Honolulu School for Boys has received the first and only photograph here of a great statue of the famous explorer that is now almost complete and will soon be unveiled. In fact, the photograph, which is reproduced herewith, is said to be the only one in America of the new piece of statuary that commemorates the name and deeds of the renowned adventurer of the seas.

Mr. Cartwright is a personal friend of the sculptor, Sir Thomas Brock, B. A., whose name stands high in British art achievement. The photograph was sent to Mr. Cartwright by Sir Thomas in advance of the unveiling.

The only monument to Capt. Cook in England is a stone obelisk on Easby Hill, Yorkshire. This memorial was built in 1827. The site is exposed and consequently the ravages of wind and weather gradually began to tell on the structure. In 1895, owing to the efforts of a local newspaper, a restoration fund was raised. The whole of the memorial was pointed with Portland cement, the doorway was built up and the masonry repaired. A railing was placed around it and a marble tablet, recognizing the generosity of the subscribers, was affixed. The obelisk is shown in the smaller of the two photographs which are reproduced herewith.

A few miles away is Cook's birthplace. On the spot where stood the house in which Capt. Cook was born the owner of the ground has erected a granite vase. Now the great national memorial is being prepared by Sir Thomas Brock and this will probably find its home in London. An influential committee, consisting of King George, chairman, Lord Brassey, treasurer, Lord Blyth and others, was chosen in 1908 to put the matter through, and it is hoped that in the near future Great Britain will have the pleasure of seeing the great explorer's genius recognized in a fitting manner. It is expected that the memorial will stand near the Admiralty Buildings, an appropriate site.

Mr. F. Cartwright, who has received the photos, was born near the village of Marston, Yorkshire, England, and naturally takes a great interest in the life of Capt. Cook and the plans for the Cook memorial.

Montenegro has declared war against Turkey and it is believed that the entire Balkan coalition will follow suit.

FISHER SAYS INTERSTATE COMMISSION TOO FAR AWAY

Why He Favors Public Utilities Supervision for This Territory

Secretary of the Interior Fisher gave a pretty good line on his idea of the Hawaiian situation in an interview published on the day the cruiser Maryland reached Seattle.

This interview, together with some interesting mention of Secretary of State Knox was sent out by the Associated Press on October 11 as follows: SEATTLE, October 11.—Secretary of State Knox, who arrived from Japan via Honolulu today, was entertained at a luncheon, did much automobile riding in the fine weather, played a game of golf, made some progress in learning what had taken place during his absence from the country, and sketched the political speech which he will deliver in Seattle next Monday night. He appeared to be much more interested in the baseball score than in the Mexican war news. It is planned by the Secretary's entertainers to take him to Mount Rainier National Park by automobile tomorrow. He will leave for Portland Tuesday morning, and after his Portland address Tuesday night will go straight to Washington. Knox did not know until yesterday that he had been booked for two addresses in the Pacific Northwest.

Secretary and Mrs. Fisher left for San Francisco by train at 11:30 o'clock today. Secretary Fisher is hurrying south to attend the annual convention of superintendents of national parks, to be held in Yosemite Park, beginning next Monday. Before leaving Seattle he conferred with Governor Clark of Alaska on Alaskan affairs, and with Andrew Christensen, chief of the Alaska field division of the General Land Office, on Alaska land matters. Concerning his mission to Honolulu, Secretary Fisher said: Inquiry Has Broad Scope. "I was sent to the islands by President Taft to investigate charges filed against Governor Walter F. Frear by Delegate to Congress Jonah Kalaniano'le, who sought to prevent the reappointment of the Governor and who alleged misconduct in the administration of the government. The investigation speedily took on a broader scope than had been contemplated, and covered social, political and economic conditions in the islands. The result was that the charges against the Governor were lost sight of because of the bigger questions taken up, and at the close of the hearing counsel for Kalamiano'le publicly stated that some of the charges had been unproved and others found to be based on erroneous information, therefore he withdrew them. The principal men of the islands gave me their views, as well as the homesteaders and all persons with grievances, and the result is that I have a very definite idea of what ought to be done. One reform we all agreed on—that the public utilities corporations ought to be placed under the supervision of a public utility commission. The interstate Commerce commission has jurisdiction over the railroads, but is too far away. There was unanimity of opinion in the islands that the investigation was the most helpful event that has ever taken place there.

Secretary Knox was entertained at luncheon at the Rainier Club at noon, and at 5 o'clock went to the Country Club to play golf. The Secretary made the following statement to the press:

"As publicly announced before I left Washington and repeated on my arrival in Japan, the purpose of my recent mission was, on behalf of the President and the people of the United States, to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Emperor, to manifest the appreciation of the American people of the wonderful achievements under his majesty's benign reign and to express the sympathetic American interest in the new Japan.

"In fulfilling that high mission, I was received on all sides by the court, the officials and the people of Japan in the spirit in which I came. I have the pleasantest recollections of the kindly reception that was everywhere accorded me in Japan, both personally and as representative of the American people, at a time of profound national mourning."

MRS. S. K. LESLIE IS HOSTESS AT BIG LUAU

Last Wednesday afternoon a sumptuous Hawaiian luau was given by Mrs. Samuel Kaul Leslie, at the residence of Mrs. William Nottley on Wylie street, for the benefit of Miss M. E. Lellani Leslie, her granddaughter, who left today for San Francisco in the Oceanic liner Sierra.

Miss Leslie, daughter of the late Captain Sam Leslie of the Police department, is accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Clark. Arriving at San Francisco, Miss Leslie will live with her aunt, Mrs. F. Mattland, for some time, before proceeding to New Mexico, where she intends to enter school.

Mrs. Leslie received her guests at the door, assisted by several young ladies. The guests were Mrs. Samuel Kaul Leslie, Mrs. A. Dreier, Mrs. C. Bertelmann, Mrs. S. Chillingworth, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Chas. Dwight, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. E. C. Peters, Mrs. A. Hanna, Mrs. Carrie Onella, Mrs. Harry Webb, Mrs. F. Lindsay, Mrs. Geo. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lane, Miss M. E. Leowe & Co., hatmakers of Danbury, Conn., were awarded $24,000 damages against the United Hatters' Union of North America. This finishes a famous capital vs. labor fight which has been waged between the two parties for many months.

The Fire Underwriters of San Francisco have been forced to cut insurance charges from 25 to 50 per cent, a saving of $1,000,000 in insurance charges, which in reality adds $20,000,000 to the available capital of the city.

Anyway, the fool is apt to be generous with his folly.
