

IN THE WOMAN'S WORLD

WOMEN'S SOCIETY ENTERTAINS AT LAST AFTERNOON SOCIAL

The Women's Society of Central Union Church entertained at the last of its bi-monthly afternoon socials yesterday in the Parish House. The members of the guilds of the five churches who have joined the Interchurch Federation. Upward of two hundred women gathered at the Parish House yesterday which was artistically decorated with pepper branches and yellow lilies were placed on the tables and many beautiful chrysanthemums and cactuses were to be seen.

The entertainment committee arranged a delightful program, the first number of which was rendered by Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. W. D. West. They played two piano duets that were pleasing to the audience. Miss Bertha L. Kemp of Kawailoa Seminary then sang two solos. Her voice is soft and the songs were well received. The Scottish ballad, "My Heart's in the Highlands" greatly delighted her hearers. Mrs. Frank

C. Atherton played a sympathetic accompaniment.

Miss McDougall, so well known in the literary circles of Honolulu, and who has an enviable reputation as an entertainer, recited one of Mary Wilginton's enjoyable sketches. Miss McDougall is exceptionally good in these selections and her hearers were more pleased than ever with her work yesterday.

Miss Ethel Damon, a Honolulu girl who has been in Europe for several years studying music and mastering the languages, sang in a clear, strong voice. Miss Damon returned to the city but a short time ago and her singing so pleased the audience that her name appears on many of the programs in the recitals. Mrs. Theodore Richards concluded the program with two piano selections. Mrs. Richards has a splendid touch and her technique is well developed. Delightful refreshments were served and the guests lingered long conversing over cups of delicious coffee.

MUSICIAN TALKS OF POWER OF MUSIC

Maud Powell, who is to play in Honolulu on or about Dec. 27, says that musical appreciation finds centers in such unexpected places, and it is really necessary to travel to discover how much good work is being done in this country by musicians absolutely unknown to the music-loving public, for little of their achievements is ever noticed in the musical journals or daily press.

She spoke of a concert given in one of the smaller cities in the South. Three residents of the place, intense lovers of music, and, in fact, violinists themselves, worked together to provide an evening of classical music, which resulted, after much correspondence, in a Maud Powell concert. The affair proved one of the most enjoyable recitals of her career, for the appreciation was sincere, and the affair one never to be forgotten. Some of the residents of the town thought that they did not care for high-grade music, but came to please the sponsors of the entertainment. They were converted, and realized that classical music was what they had needed all their lives. The yearly concert has become a reality, and this one Texas town has, perhaps, more music enthusiasts proportionally than has the great musical center of the country—New York City.

JAPANESE WOMAN LOSES SMUGGLED SILK GOODS

About $900 worth of miscellaneous silk goods, brought into Honolulu on July 9 by Shigeno Katsuko, a Japanese woman, are confiscated by the Federal government, owing to the decision handed down this morning by U. S. District Judge Clemens. This case, entitled the "U. S. v. woman," has been hanging fire in the local federal court for several months.

The woman is accused of attempting to smuggle them into the Territory without paying duty, and she was indicted some time ago. Her hearing before a jury probably will begin early next week.

DRAWING WITH A SCALP-KNIFE

There is a genuine surprise for those who attend the Liberty this week. Last night two full-blooded Indians, billed by Manager McGrew as "Brown & Hodges, Indian singers and cartoonists" made their debut to a big success, which was earned by some very clever work.

Attired in full redskin regalia, looking like the scarping section of a wild west show, the duo comes upon the stage and after a few preliminary vocal stunts that resemble war-whoops as much as anything else, they begin cartooning. Using colored chalk on large sheets of paper they draw pictures with lightning rapidity. There's nothing to choose between the "squaw," Minna Hodges, and the buck, "Carlisle" Brown, in ability. Both tear off sheet after sheet of clever cartoons and caricatures, ending with an attempt at more serious work done to the tune of "Rock of Ages." Really, it isn't as marvellous as it sounded. The act as a whole is a good one.

The Liberty bill certainly gives good measure for the week end. Martha Golden, the comedienne, comes out in an exaggerated purple costume that is a scream, and her songs are good though a trifle weak in getting over the footlights. The Minkette Comedy Three, introducing St. Chilly, the world's premier accordion player, pull down the cheers. The accordion player may be chills, but the audience didn't show any symptoms of lack of warmth last night. The Pia Trio keeps up to the high standard it set on its first appearance, a feature being "The Love Tales of Hoffman."

A word should be said for the moving pictures. They are of unusually high grade, with one comic that portrays a motor boat mishap, laughably. Soony Chung and his sterling artists down below the footlights complete a bill that is really worth while seeing.

VOCATIONAL GUIDES NOW HARD AT WORK

The commission appointed by president Grant of the Young Men's Christian Association to make a study of all positions open to young men and boys of Honolulu, will meet at the association this afternoon at three-thirty o'clock.

Reports from employers who have been canvassed are very encouraging, and the commission appreciates the interest which a number of firms have taken in preparing answers on the subject of the positions which they have open at the present time. At the meeting this afternoon there will be presented plans for using this information for vocational guidance. Eric Wood, of the Normal School, who is a member, is looking into the matter of vocational guidance in other large cities, and has found that in all cases it has proved very successful. The commission consists of W. L. Howard, chairman; Elsie McKeon, head of the Beretania Mission; J. C. Davis and I. N. Cox, supervising principles of the public schools; Edgar Wood, of the Normal School, and R. M. Cross, of the Y. M. C. A. staff, who is secretary of the commission.
