PLAN AUTO ROAD TO THE SUMMIT OF HALEAKALA

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WAILUKU, Maui, Nov. 12.—The most exciting piece of news since the election is the action of the Board of Supervisors, favoring an automobile road to the summit of Haleakala. To those who have slowly made the trip on mule back, the undertaking seems stupendous. But the trail nowadays is so much improved over what it was even four years ago, with so many steep ascents made easier by the present winding path which is clearly marked by white sign posts, that an automobile road with even less sharp grades than the present trail takes, would be practicable.

The matter has been seriously discussed in the meetings of the Board, and steps have been taken to obtain a right of way through the pastures of the Haleakala Ranch. This will probably be no difficult task for the owners of the ranch are among the most public-spirited citizens of Maui, and would do all in their power to make the trip to the summit of Maui's famous mountain as easy as possible.

The next step is to get the whole of the new road surveyed. This will, of course, take time, but a good survey made at the outset of the undertaking will pay. Many physical matters will here have to be taken into consideration; many gulches will have to be crossed so effectively that no fresher can wash out the road. As easy grades will first of all have to be sought, and toward the top of the mountain the shifting black sands will have to be looked out for. Here too, the winter's frost and occasional heavy snows must be considered. Roadbuilding at such an altitude is something new in these islands and will have to be done with the greatest care.

Need Mountain House.

It is also pointed out that in connection with the new road some sort of a mountain house can be built which will be kept in permanently good repair, and made inviting to those who would like to spend a night at the top. Then if the trail can be well marked along the rim of the crater and through the crater to Keope, the now rather arduous Haleakala expedition will be made one of the delights of the tourist.

Wilbur A. Anderson, manager of the Nahuia Rubber Company, who, with Mrs. Anderson, went on to New York recently for the large convention of rubber men, is now back at Nahuia. He had a most enjoyable and successful trip.

Mrs. Frank Peacock, wife of Engineer Peacock of the Island Electric returned from a short visit to Honolulu.

Japanese Home.

The new project in Wailuku, that of a home for Japanese working girls, is well under way. The property secured is that just above the residence of Judge W. A. McKay on Vineyard street. The old house has been thoroughly made over, and it now provides a home for a large number of Japanese girls who are either working out in families, or who attend school in town. The Maui Aid Association has been helping the work along. A large sum of money has been raised by the Japanese themselves. It is expected that a little later a larger building will be erected, as the demand for this sort of a home is great, and more applications for admission have been made than can be granted at present.

Leander A. Bigger, of Hutchinson, Kansas, whose daughter has intimate friends on Maui, has presented to the Maui Library Association his interesting book "Around the World with a Business Man." The book is one of the most valuable of its kind in the library. The four volumes are filled with excellent pictures. The descriptive matter, though rather brief, is well written and full of personal experiences, very much as Mr. Bigger wrote them to friends at home. The work is bound most attractively.

The choirs of the Makawao church and the Wailuku Union church are to unite for the Thanksgiving praise services in both churches on the Sunday before Thanksgiving. Stanley Livingston will be in the choir for the day, and Mrs. Louise Chisholm Jones, soloist for the Wailuku choir, will have a leading part. There are an unusually large number of strong voices in both choirs, so that the music for Sunday, the 24th of the month, ought to be the best heard on Maui for some time.

LOUD PEDAL WAS PAINFUL

The string of Republican defeats has not entirely died out in the wilds of Kakaako, judging from the loud-pedaling voice of protest raised in that congested district last night by a Hawaiian who upon arraignment at police court this morning answered to the name of Hookalmaha.

It was a nerve racking and thick-tongued brand of melody that was sent forth in such volumes that the police hastened to the scene.

Judge Monsarrat sifted the matter down to the last note and then presumably taking into consideration the sweeping Bourbonic victory in the city and county of Honolulu levied a minimum fine.

A local Jehu booked at the station under the name of Green will be arraigned tomorrow upon a charge of reckless driving. While no disastrous results followed the alleged wild ride, the officers took the driver into camp and will endeavor to prosecute the case to the end.

Lee Tuck will have to take his chances with the Grand Jury, and should he be indicted, will then face trial at Circuit Court upon a charge of uttering a false check. The Chinese is charged with having passed a bit of paper bearing the signature of the C. K. Lum Company, which when presented to a local bank for collection was returned with the brief note "no funds" written thereon. Judge Monsarrat found sufficient evidence to remand the defendant to the grand jury. Attorney Chillingworth is looking after the interests of the defendant Lee Tuck.

A window in the Salvation Army reading room was smashed by one Gill Berg, who this morning was found guilty of this deed of vandalism and assessed a fine of $20 and the costs.

BLIND-PIGGER ADMITS GUILT

Vineyard Street Camp 2 continues to bob up with painful regularity in testimony deduced at District Court hearings when cases of wife beating or drunkenness are on the boards.

A system of blind pigs, extensive in its scope apparently flourishes there, judging from accumulated evidence now in the possession of License Inspector Fennell.

Aong Ah Kee, alleged to have done an illicit business at the infamous rendezvous, has been arraigned at District Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Brown offered the information this morning that inasmuch as the Chinese had decided to enter a plea of guilty as charged the case be allowed to go over for a few days.

Fennell has more than had his hands full in attempting to cope with the strenuous attempts made within the past few weeks in the vending of dago red and other potent beverages at the camp.

Yesterday, during the recital of a wife beating case, it developed that cheap wine was at the bottom of the assault.

This morning a Russian was placed under arrest, the charge being that during a wife fest he displayed a loaded revolver.

Sanatogen makes good the Nerve Loss

NERVE loss—what peril to health and happiness lies in those two words!

They mar the life of that balance between hunger and fulfillment that produces the health.

When the system is perfectly well, the nerves get their proper nourishment from the daily food. But illness, worry, the severe remedies of modern medicine drain the nerves of more energy than is restored to them in the food they eat—the balance is disturbed, and troubles begin. Nerve loss becomes an acute condition.

Sanatogen makes good the loss

It does so by carrying in concentrated form the amount of food specially required by the nerves to keep the nerves with their own food, the essential source of energy. It acts as a balanced center and thus directly and effectively aids in giving back vital force to the system.

Sanatogen's splendid service is recognized by over 15,000 practicing physicians, who have written in praise of its reconstructive power. World-famous men and women, who have tested Sanatogen, enthusiastically declare that it does "make good." Their testimony is convincing.
