HEALANIS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Friendly Contest Develops but the Old Officers of Organization Are Reinstated

Apparently quite well satisfied with its record of the past year and with the share its officers had in making that record, the Healanis Yacht & Boat Club, at the annual meeting last night re-elected all the present incumbents of the more important offices.

James E. Jaeger, the president; A. T. Longley, the vice-president, and Herman Leske, the treasurer, were chosen without opposition, and although a friendly but sharp political fight developed against A. R. L. Rowat, the secretary, and Lawrence Cunha, the rowing captain, both were re-elected for the ensuing year.

Other officials selected were: Gall, auditor; Hechert, vice-captain; "Dad" Hale, commodore; and McKinley, vice-commodore.

Some changes in the by-laws were scheduled for the evening's meeting, but the contest that developed in the election delayed progress and action on the proposed changes in the laws was proposed until a later meeting to be held two weeks hence.

As the club's sailing craft consists of only one small boat, the old "Sak," it is thought the Commodore will need no assistance in caring for the club fleet. The boys for the last two or three years have been taking an active part in land sports, however, and McKinley was chosen to look after this work principally because he is a soccer enthusiast and leader of the team that will represent the Healanis this winter.

L. B. Goodwin Fine Swimmer

BUD GOODWIN READY FOR START OF A RACE.

Leo Bud Goodwin of New York, known the world over as Bud, contracted the habit of winning championships away back in 1904. Champions have since then, but time has not diminished the speed or staying powers of the remarkable athlete, who topped off his list of championships this year by winning two national titles and two metropolitan. In every form of aquatic sport Goodwin is there like a duck. Distance has no terrors for him, and at the same time he whips his arms through the water so fast that he is able to hold his own with the best men in the country at all distances, from twenty-five yards to thirteen and one-half miles.

As a water polo player Goodwin has few equals, and he has played champion forward on no less than ten champion teams at this sport.

It took Goodwin a couple of years before he reached the stage where he was able to begin winning championships, so that altogether he has been in competition for fourteen years, and in that time has won over 600 medals and over 100 cups, enough to stock a jewelry store if he should elect to go in that business.

WALTER JOHNSON SAYS SPEAKER BEST BATTER

In speaking of the best batter in the American league and also the most dangerous stickler to face Pitcher Walter Johnson of Washington picks no other than Tris Speaker, the sensational outfielder of the Boston Red Sox.

The Senators' slabster has much respect for the Beantown batter when the latter appears in the batter's box with Johnson on the hill, and although the big National tries his best in outwitting the stalwart slammer, he states that it is a "very difficult problem to do."

"Speaker has absolutely no weakness at the bat," says Johnson. "You might just as well pass him as to try to coax him to offer at bad balls. When Tris comes up all I do is to put everything I have on the ball and pray that he does not hit it on the nose."

"That man yonder would do anything in his power to promote the development of the race." "Is he an ethnologist?" "No, a bookmaker."

SOLDIER BOXING SATURDAY NIGHT

The classy fight card scheduled for this week at Schofield Barracks has been postponed for one night, and instead of meeting in the ring Friday the husky soldier scrappers will hold their fistie carnival Saturday night, at the Fifth Cavalry Amusement Hall. The postponement is due to the fact that there is an entertainment being given by the officers of the Second Infantry Friday, and that if the events coincided a number of steady ring fans among the officers would be done out of a treat.

The main event is to be all-round affair between Private Allen, Battery E, First Field Artillery, and Private Kilmer, K Company, First Infantry. Both these men are anxious to take up the def of "Tex" Selman, the sailor who secured a decision over Placzek of the First Infantry in Honolulu a couple of weeks ago. At the boxing bouts which opened the infantry amusement hall at Schofield last Friday night Selman jumped into the ring and challenged any man of his weight in the service. Both Allen and Kilmer broke their necks to kick the sailor's hat out of the ring, and it was decided that the winner Saturday night would have first crack at the Navajo's champion.

The semi wind-up will be an 8-round affair between Private Kibbey, Troop D, Fifth Cavalry, and Private Donahoe, Company E, Second Infantry. This also should be a classy mill.

There will be two good prelims, the first a 4-round affair between Private Lynch, A Troop, and Private Salter, B Troop, Fifth Cavalry, and the second a 4-round mill between Private Hubbard, D Troop, and Private Letevra, L Troop.

Private Hutchinson, K Company, First Infantry will be the third man in the ring for all bouts. He officiated to the satisfaction of all in the last bouts at the infantry ball. Sergeant Hagson, C Troop, Fifth Cavalry, will be time keeper, while the announcing will be done by Sergeant Bauersock, of Troop D, the headliner of army boxing on Oahu.

CLEAN BREAK FINDS FAVOR

NEW YORK—The "clean break" rule is here to stay, and according to W. J. C. Kelly, an Australian now in this country, it is going to stay here ever tried out. Mr. Kelly is the representative of Hugh McIntosh, the Sydney fight promoter.

"Clean breaks are demanded in every globe fight in my country," said Mr. Kelly, "and referees are required to give this rule a strict enforcement."

There is a fast-growing demand for the application of this rule in boxing contests wherever given, and in the United States it is observed in nearly all sections where bouts of importance are held except on the Pacific coast. In California it won't be very long before it will be found necessary to adopt the rule in protection of the promoters' interests and for the preservation of the sport.

This modification of the Queensberry code, simple as it may seem, is doing more to brush aside long standing prejudices against ring contests than any change which has been noted since the code was written.

The possibilities of boxing as a source of entertainment and recreation are recognized by a lot of people now who formerly opposed it because of the many objectionable features. Not the least of these was the spectacle of a rough and ready, burly fighter of little science but great muscular strength taking advantage of the protect-yourself-at-all-times spirit of the "straight" Queensberry rules by dragging, mauling and hauling his more scientific but lighter and weaker opponent all over the ring while waiting to "smack over a punch" at the breakaway. This smacked too much of the rough and tumble fight and conveyed the impression of anger and a desire to injure instead of a contest to demonstrate the science of boxing and perfection of physical attainment, with no malice and willful intent to injure. To offset this the "clean break" rule was hit upon as the proper antidote with good results.

There are some yet who sneer at what they term the "ladylike" rules, but they will have to give way to popular opinion if the sport is to remain.

"I backed an opera company once. Cost me $10,000, too." "Piker! Did you ever have your own Presidential candidate?"

YALE-HARVARD GAME DECIDES CHAMPIONSHIP

Cornish, the Yale quarter, is considered one of the best men at the position in college football. At the opening of the season Yale had several candidates for the position, but Cornish has made good, and it was largely through his generalship that Eli tied with Princeton in the game of a week ago.

GIRLS' TEAMS PLAY TOMORROW

The Priory and High School basketball girls meet in contest tomorrow and both schools are taking extra practices in preparation for this game. Each school has played one game this season and is in the best of trim for tomorrow.

The High School team has been strengthened by the addition of Eva Taylor, captain of the team, who has been unable to play before this year on account of a sprained ankle. Miss Taylor was one of the best players on last year's team and all the girls are glad to see her back in her old place again. She plays forward on the team and is one of the best basketball throwers the High team has had in a long while.

The Priory team has won its first game of the season and has nothing to fear from lack of team work for the way the members work together is hard to beat. Besides team work they have another great asset in Agnes Frendo, a forward who knows how to play the game, and plays it. Her basket shooting is almost perfect. When she shoots for a basket the ball usually goes true. Every basket in last Monday's game but one was due to her skill and it may be said that she won the game for the Priory.

BOMBARDIER WELLS IS EXCEPTIONAL SPRINTER

That Bombardier Wells is an athlete of remarkable versatility was demonstrated recently when the English heavyweight champion participated in a race against the best professional sprinters in England. Postle, Donaldson and Reggie Walker, the South African crack, were among his competitors. Wells was so well thought of that he was made favorite in his betting for his heat. He finished a close second, although he would have been a sure winner if he had not stumbled at the start. The distance was 130 yards and was run in twelve and two-fifths seconds, which was one-fifth of a second faster than the heat won by Walker.

WONDER THAT RED SOX WON

Buck O'Brien, one of the star twirlers of the world's champion Red Sox, is not apt to be a member of that team next season. Reports from a reliable source "are to the effect that O'Brien is to be sold or traded, and that the Chicago White Sox stand the best chance of securing his services."

Though frequently denied, there is no doubt that O'Brien and Wood had a run-in during the world's series. This clash caused a lot of discussion in the team and President McAleer and Manager Stahl seem to have come to the conclusion that the wisest thing to do for the benefit of the team would be to rid it of O'Brien.

It is said that negotiations for O'Brien's transfer to Chicago are already under way, though it has not yet been decided whether Callanan will give players in exchange or pay spot cash for him.

O'Brien's reported clash with Wood during the world's series was the result of his making a balk in the sixth game of the series, which gave the Giants a five-run lead in the first inning. This was the Monday game in New York. Wood had expected to pitch this game, so the story goes, and being confident that he would win had instructed his brother to bet on the Red Sox.

To his surprise, O'Brien pitched and the defeat of the Sox resulted. It seems that Wood upbraided O'Brien for his balk after the game and the latter, becoming angry, struck Wood, knocking him down. Naturally, the Boston players took sides on the matter and the wonder was that the team won the series under those conditions.

It was latter reported that Wood and O'Brien had made up, but evidently that was not satisfactory to the club owner and manager, who immediately set about to rid the team of its spital artist.

HIGH'S CAPTAIN NOT WILLING TO CHANGE

Townies Will Probably Not Get Thanksgiving Game with the Punahou

It doesn't look as if the Town football team is going to be able to lead the game with the Punahou eleven on Thanksgiving, according to a report given out by Captain Dwyer of the High School team. According to the statement by Capt. Dwyer, the schedule of games between the High and the Puns for this season calls for three games, the last to be played on Thanksgiving Day, and the chance of winning the best two out of three is credited with having won the championship for 1932. Dwyer said that his team would live up to the schedule but he doubts the Puns will also, and that means that the hopes of the High Team and the Puns meeting on that day have been blasted.

Next Saturday the High will meet the "Townies" on Alexander Field and the hope that has been held out among the fans during the past two days makes the Townies the favorites. Captain Dwyer will make a few changes in the line for that game. He will be put in at end, and the place will be taken by Steve. Steve will go in at center and Steve has held that position since the beginning of the season will play it well. No doubt some of the fans from the second team, which has made a brilliant showing on the gridiron this year, may be called in to play one or two quarters.

Captain Dwyer of the Townies has as yet made no definite statement as to whether he will play the game as he did in the Town-Pun game.

There is a rumor around town that a highly tactical aggression team of the form is trying to secure a game between the High and the Townies may be scheduled to take place on Thanksgiving Day. However, it is in the future, nothing definite can be said as to whether the game will be played or not.

Mamma—"Yesterday I gave you time to be good, today you are worse than ever." "Mamma—Daddy's mamma, I want to show you that you got your money's worth today."

Western eleven just about settled the claim that any of the institutions in that section might put on the championship. Frankly, even eleven of professional caliber could not defeat the Cardinals unless they were assisted by other Yale, Harvard or Princeton.
