DR. MABLE TALKS

patronage and the vast power of the machine at the beck and call of the Taft managers is a big enough triumph for the first fight of the Bull Moose party.

"I have been asked whether the Progressives are satisfied with the leadership of Mr. Roosevelt. So far as my observation and the information I have received would lead one to believe, they most emphatically are. Mr. Roosevelt is a natural leader and he will lead until he dies, in one capacity or another. Of this all of us who have come in close contact with him are sure. He is a vital force, inspiring, compelling.

"But to those who work with him the chief characteristic of the man is his tremendous, his intense patriotism. This love of his fellow and of his country is the keystone to the arch of his character. It is in my belief the prime mover in all that he does or says or thinks.

"It led him forward until the Progressive movement took him and from that time until the election he was driven forward by his own patriotism and by the drive of events. His whole heart and soul is in the cause of the people.

"When I left, preparations for continuing the fight of the Progressives were already well under way. What those plans are will develop later, as the need arises. Of one thing I am confident. There will be no secrets from the public. The people are aroused. They are sick of the chicanery of the past and are prepared to demand and obtain their rights.

"Another thing I should like to say. While I believe that Mr. Roosevelt is the natural, logical leader of the Progressives, I know enough of the man himself to feel sure that if a better leader is discovered, one more apt to attain the aims for which the party stands, then Mr. Roosevelt will step to one side. He is not ambitious, despite what has been said about him. He is fighting for principle, and he would give to another man, chosen to take his place by the rank and file of the party, the same devotion, the same labor and the same intelligence he has always shown when fighting for any object.

"Speaking of the attitude of the Outlook, of which he is the associate editor, toward Roosevelt and the Progressive policies, Dr. Mable said:

"All friends and readers of the Outlook know just how long the magazine has been fighting for progressive policies. The Outlook has been in the fight for years. It will continue in the struggle as long as it lives or until that fight is won."

Dr. Mable was met on the ship by Federal Judge Stanford B. Dole, and Mrs. Dole. Judge Dole and the Doctor were classmates in Williams College in the old days, but had not seen each other for a long time. The Judge and Mrs. Dole whirled their friends off in an automobile to see the city, ignoring the heavy rain that was falling at the time. Doctor Mable seemed a trifle disappointed at the state of the weather. "I have always thought of Honolulu as the place where the sun never goes under a cloud," he signed whimsically.

In Judge Dole's automobile, Dr. Mable and Miss Mable visited several places of interest in and around Honolulu, including the Park and the Country Club, and at noon, Doctor Mable was taken to the University Club, where he gave a short address to more than a hundred members of the club and their friends. His address, dealing as it did with college life and college influence, as well as the place that college men had played and are playing in the world games of today, was received with applause. Dr. Mable will leave for Yokohama this afternoon. He made a special point of the fact that his mission to the Island Kingdom is not journalistic. Instead, he said, with patient sarcasm, he is going to attempt "that easy task of making the Japanese student understand something of the simple United States.

Doctor Mable will leave this afternoon for Yokohama, and will remain in Japan until May.

Among those who were at Doctor Mable's table at the University Club luncheon, were Walter P. Dillingham, Walter Francis Frear, Prof. W. D. Alexander, Prof. M. E. Scott, the Japanese consul, W. H. Dabbert, John T. Gulick, Dr. Scudder, W. E. Rowell, a classmate of the Doctor's at Williams, Judge Dole and William Wilkinson. Others in the room were Dr. N. B. Emerson, Frank C. Atherton, B. von Damm, Pres. Griffiths, J. M. Young, J. A. Rath, F. J. Lowrey, F. L. Horne, Territorial Secretary Mott-Smith, Edgar Wood, Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and a crowd of prominent citizens of Honolulu.

TENEMENT HOUSE OWNERS MUST TOE MARK

On the assessment of a $50 fine on Ching Lum by Circuit Judge Robinson last Tuesday the Territorial Board of Health suddenly made the discovery that it can successfully prosecute tenement owners who persistently ignore the board's order to clean up their buildings and remove sanitary conditions thereon. As a result about fifty or sixty other tenement owners who have failed to comply with the board's orders will now be prosecuted unless they yield to its demands within the next two or three days.

It is thought likely however, that most of them will prove amenable when they find the board actually has the power to make them pay heavy penalties. Already, the inspectors say a noticeable change is marked in the vicinity of King street around of Athletic Park, where Ching Lum's tenement is located.

For a long time this man had continued his tenement under light sanitary condition and without a license. Prosecution was started, and on his promises to remedy affairs thirteen continuances of the hearing were granted in the district court. The number "thirteen" evidently proved his unlucky number however, for the case went to trial that time, and on appeal was carried up to the circuit court where Judge Robinson assessed the $50 fine Tuesday.

COAST SUGARMEN VOTED FOR WILSON

"Everything is all right in San Francisco," said W. J. Dyer, manager of the Honolulu Iron Works, who returned in the Lurline last night. "They are not worrying over the Democrats over there. It was Republican votes that did the business in California. It was anything to beat Johnson with them. Even the sugar men of San Francisco voted for Wilson. When some of them told me of their intention to vote for Wilson I asked them what about sugar.

"That really was a sugar can take care of itself later—we want to beat that fellow Johnson."

Mr. Dyer had nothing new to give out relative to his own business on the coast.

JUDGE QUARLES GOES TO WASHINGTON

Judge R. P. Quarles will leave for Washington in the Lurline next Tuesday night. He goes to urge the case of Smithies, trustee, against Kalaniana'ole, being attorney for the plaintiff, the case being appealed by the defendant. Judge Quarles has been informed by the clerk of the court that the hearing will take place in the second or third week of December, so he is taking the first American steamer out of here to be on time.

Allen street in the vicinity of Alaheke wharf stands as a monumental disgrace to the memory of the present board of city and county supervisors. The impression gained by several hundred passengers arriving this morning in the Japanese liner Chiyu Maru in wading through black slime and mud in order to reach the business and residential districts, can safely be set down as far from being a favorable one.

FREEDOM FOR CHINESE BRUTE IS ATTEMPTED

Renewed effort to effect the liberty of Chung Nung, the Chinaman sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Robinson last spring for criminal assault on a little girl, has been started by the Oriental legal counsel.

The latest attempt to take this man from behind the bars of Oahu prison is in the form of a petition to the supreme court for a writ of error and the setting aside of the circuit court's decree. The writ of error has been granted, and an order sent to the circuit court clerk asking for a transcript of all the evidence in the case.

The petition for the writ is based on the grounds that Judge Robinson did not reduce to writing the charge he made to the jury, before that body retired to make its decision. The petition asserts that the court's instructions were delivered orally, without the previous consent or approval of the counsel for defendant. The transcript of evidence ordered from the court clerk will show whether this assertion is true, and if it is, the old case possibly may be reopened again.

The Chung Nung affair was one of those cases that have been occurring with so much frequency in Honolulu, in which Chinamen have assaulted girls less than twelve years old. In this instance it was charged that Chung Nung had attacked at least three children, one not more than seven years of age. That the evidence of his guilt was considered conclusive is shown by the jury's verdict.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY CALLING IN WITNESSES

Two women understood to be from Iwilei were summoned before the federal grand jury this morning. Each was in the presence of the inquisitorial body for some time. They were called in toward the latter part of the morning session.

The early part of the morning was given to the questioning of Mrs. Norman B. Smith, formerly Lily Hokama, Henry Taylor, Sadie C. Sierrita and R. K. Mahiroa. The nature of the evidence given by them is not made public, though it is presumed the jury was still working on the Norman B. Smith opium smuggling affair.

MRS. ARNOLD GIVING SERIES OF 'AFTERNOONS'

The first "afternoon" of a series which Mrs. L. E. Arnold is giving for many friends was one of the prettiest and jolliest affairs of the week. The table decorations and the luncheon were very pretty and original and created much fun. The table rendered by Mrs. Chester Hunt and Mrs. Ray Leach added much to the pleasure and entertainment of the guests and were highly appreciated. Those present were, Mrs. J. Alfred Higgins, Mrs. R. J. Robinson, Mrs. Chas. Raven, Mrs. Chester Hunt, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. R. B. Leach, Mrs. Alice Harbaugh, Mrs. E. Hessecke and Mrs. L. E. Arnold.

CHINESE DOCTOR MAY LOSE LICENSE TODAY

Chi Fong, the Chinese doctor, the revocation of whose license has been recommended by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Lau Lum Mook, probably will learn his fate some time late this afternoon. He has been summoned to appear before the Board of Health, which was scheduled to hold its weekly meeting at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and show cause why his license should not be recalled.

Lau Lum Mook's leg was broken by the kick of a horse. Dr. Chi Fong took charge of the case, and the patient died. The doctor's certificate stated that death was due to a broken leg. The coroner's jury decided that the demise was due to blood poisoning, declared its opinion that this was the result of improper attendance and recommended the cancellation of the physician's license to practice.

COMMISSIONERS WIND UP WORK OF SESSION

The commissioners of public instruction finished their preliminary session yesterday afternoon, adjourning until December 2, when the final work of the board is to be presented to the next legislature. The commissioners yesterday decided that hereafter standing committees, appointed by the superintendent and with that official as ex-officio member of each, shall take active charge of the various departments of public school supervision, reporting back to the board at its regular meetings. These committees will be on teachers, on industrial and vocational schools, on industrial and reformatory schools; on rules, regulations and salaries; on schedules, and on school houses and grounds. Superintendent Pope has not yet named the members of these bodies.

Attorney James Ward Russell, graduate of Union University and active practitioner in New York City since 1909, has been admitted to practice law in the Territorial courts.

Prohibition in Ohio is taking a firm hold. D. A. Poling of Columbus, the prohibition candidate for governor received over 45,000 votes. Four years ago the prohibition vote was but 11,000.

NO FREE SUGAR

are domestic sugar producers. It is reasonable to infer that these local interests will still be protected, to some extent at least, under a tariff for revenue administration.

"It will not surprise us, however, if the present customs methods given place partly to a change to include a small internal revenue tax on all sugar producing countries.

"The United States, with its increasing domestic beet and cane production, including Louisiana, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, must now be classed with the sugar producing countries, and must likely be brought to conform to their sugar revenue methods.

"The making of this change is thought to be in line with the purposes of the new administration, but cannot be brought about until next year, possibly as the result of an extra session of congress, which may be called in March, as is quite generally expected."

PLATE GLASS MIRROR ARRIVES IN ATOMS

A plate glass mirror, sixteen feet long and four feet wide, said to be the largest of its kind ever brought to Honolulu, and which was to be installed in Paddy Ryan's new hotel in the Ryan building on Alieka street, just below King, was found to be smashed into a thousand pieces when it was unpacked this morning.

The mirror arrived on the last Manchuria, and was shipped here for Mr. Ryan through the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, of San Francisco. Its weight was about 600 pounds, and examination showed that it had been packed very carefully before leaving the factory. It is not known whether it was broken en route to Honolulu or after it had arrived here, but an investigation will be made, and Mr. Franklin, manager of the local agency of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, stated this morning that suit will be brought against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. The mirror was purchased at a cost of $250.
