Miss Ethel Spalding becomes the Bride of Lieutenant Joseph Albert Rogers.

One of the most beautiful weddings witnessed by the local Smart Set in years was that of Miss Ethel Spalding and Lieutenant Joseph Albert Rogers, which took place at Saint Andrew's Cathedral at half after eight o'clock last evening.

The color scheme for the decoration was pink and blue in the delicate Dresden shades, and the Cathedral was pretty decorated with blue hydrangeas and pink and blue tulle. Just before the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March pealed forth, two of the ushers loosened the long streamers of pink and blue ribbon that marked the pew set aside for the relatives and favored friends of the young couple, and formed a silken aisle through which the bridal party passed from the entrance of the Cathedral to the altar.

The vested choir preceded the bridal party up the aisle, singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." These were followed by the ushers, who, when they reached the pew where the mother and brother of the bride were standing, drew their swords and formed an arch under which the bridesmaids and the bride passed.

The bride is known as one of the most beautiful among Honolulu's beautiful young women and never has she been more lovely than last evening as she entered the Cathedral with her father, Mr. E. I. Spalding. She wore a handsome gown of heavy brocade with a side panel and shoulder drapery of rose point lace. The gown was fashioned with the long court train of the satin. The bridal veil was arranged as a Juliet cap and was a combination of rose point lace and white tulle. Tiny orange blossoms were fastened at the back of the head and where the veil was caught to the train.

The bride carried an ivory prayer-book, a gift of her godmother, Miss Elizabeth Spalding, instead of the conventional floral bouquet. Her only ornament was a gift of the bridegroom, a platinum necklace with a pendant set with diamonds and pearls. The veil-bound book of matrimony from which the wedding service was read was a gift of Bishop and Mrs. Restarick.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Spalding, a younger sister of the bride, was a picture of daintiness as she entered the church. She wore a lovely gown of pink charmeuse draped with delicate pink silk marguer-ettes. The gown was trimmed with tiny pink roses, many of them veiled by the drapery. Soft shadow lace was arranged at the back in a semi-tunic effect. She wore a large portrait hat of pink velvet adorned with a single plume, in a harmonizing shade, and carried a gilded staff adorned with pink roses and tulle.

The fashions have so revolved that one might easily have imagined the bridesmaids, Miss Sarah Lucas and Miss Florence Hoffman, to be Dresden shepherdesses. Both of the young ladies wore gowns that harmonized with the color effect.

Miss Lucas wore a gown of pale blue messaline with a Watteau plait and drapery of pink and blue flowered chiffon. The bodice was draped with shadow lace and trimmed with dainty pink and blue chiffon roses. At the bottom of the narrow skirt were the pink and blue roses. She wore a portrait hat of pink silk adorned with roses and carried a Directoire staff of gold adorned with bride's roses and blue tulle.

Miss Hoffman wore a gown similar to that of Miss Lucas. The foundation was of pale pink satin with the overdress of blue and pink figured chiffon fashioned after the painter. The waist was trimmed with soft shadow lace and pink and blue chiffon roses. Her hat was of delicate blue silk trimmed with soft shadow lace and pink roses. Her gilded staff was adorned with pink roses and pink tulle.

Lieutenant H. McL. Groninger attended Lieutenant Rogers, and the ushers were Captain W. D. Forsyth, Lieutenant P. H. Sheridan and Lieutenant D. R. Rodney of the Fifth Cavalry, and Lieutenant Harry Vaughan of Fort Ruger.

Mrs. E. I. Spalding, the mother of the bride, wore a lovely gown of soft gray chiffon brocaded in gold and pink roses. It was ornamented with gold and rose point lace. She wore a becoming hat of black tulle trimmed with shaded gray plumes.

After the wedding ceremony the bridal party, with a number of Mrs. Rogers' friends motored to the Pleasanton Hotel, where a delightful wedding supper was served.

The private dining room of the hotel was beautifully decorated with flowers, many of them gifts of friends of the bride and groom.

The pink and blue color scheme that prevailed at the church and in the gowns of the bridal party, was carried out in the decoration of the dining room. The center of the table was filled with a huge mound of maiden hair ferns and pink roses and blue hydrangeas. The little electric lights that peeped from the mass of fern and flowers were covered with rose-pink shades. Pink shaded candles lighted the table and bits of blue hydrangea were scattered upon the cloth.

Little white boxes bearing the silver monogram R. S. were filled with wedding cake and laid at each place. The cards that marked each cover were ornamented with the monograms of the bride and groom, linked together with silver ribbon bearing the date of the wedding.

One of the most effective features of the wedding supper was the cutting of the bride's cake when Lieutenant Rogers drew his sword and handed it to Mrs. Rogers who cut the cake with it.

Only three of the fate symbols were located after the cake was cut for, no one would admit having received the bachelor's button. Miss Helen Spalding received the ring, Mrs. Restarick the thimble and the bride found the good-luck wish bone.

Covers were laid for Lieutenant and Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Spalding, Bishop and Mrs. Restarick, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Sarah Lucas, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Helen Girvin, Miss Gemma Wadman, Miss Renny Catton, Mr. Irwin Spalding, Captain W. D. Forsyth, Lieutenant P. H. Sheridan, Lieutenant D. R. Rodney, Lieutenant H. M. L. Groninger and Lieutenant Harry Vaughan.

Mrs. Rogers is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spalding, who has married into the army. Miss Edith Spalding was married to Lieutenant Gerrit a number of years ago. Then, three years ago, one of the most brilliant October weddings was that of Miss Alice Spalding and Lieutenant Bowman. Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Gerrit and Lieutenant and Mrs. Bowman at mainland stations.

Mrs. Rogers has, since she graduated from Oahu College, been one of the most popular members of the service set and the social circles of the town. She is a beautiful girl and one of the most attractive of the blonde types. Immediately after their return from their honeymoon on the other side of the island, Lieutenant and Mrs. Rogers will leave for Fort Douglas, Utah. Here Mrs. Rogers will meet her sister, Mrs. Bowman, as Lieutenant Bowman is stationed there at present.
