ARMY AND NAVY

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 22.—Several important army assignments were announced at the War Department.

Brig-Gen William Crozier who has been chief of ordnance since 1890, is to be relieved of that duty and assigned to duty as president of the Army War College at Washington Barracks. He will relieve Brig-Gen Albert L. Mills, who has held the presidency of the local institution only a few months. The latter retains his station in this city, however, as he is assigned to duty as chief of the division of militia affairs. War Department, an office held by Brig-Gen. Robert K. Evans is transferred to Atlanta, Ga. to command the Department of the Gulf.

Brig-Gen Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the insular division, War Department, since 1906, who has just been confirmed as a brigadier general of the line, is assigned to the command of Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, a brigade post formerly commanded by Brig-Gen. Fred A. Smith, now commanding one of the armies in the Connecticut maneuvers.

Brig-Gen. E. Z. Steever, just confirmed, is assigned regularly to the command of the Department of Texas, with headquarters at San Antonio. He has been temporarily in command of that department since the death of Brig-Gen. Duncan.

Brig-Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, whose nomination as major general is pending before the Senate, is now in this city on special duty. He was recently detached from command of the Department of the Gulf and Col. J. T. Van Arsdale, 17th Infantry, is now in temporary command. It is generally believed that Gen. Wotherspoon will be assigned to duty at the War Department as principal assistant to Gen. Wood, chief of staff. That office is now filled by Maj-Gen. William H. Carter, who, it is said, is to be transferred to Chicago to take command of the Central Division, temporarily in command of Brig. Gen. R. D. Potts.

In about one week the annual summer practice cruise of the midshipmen will come to an end at Annapolis. Of all the 500-odd midshipmen, the first, second and third classes will then be sold off and start on their annual summer vacations.

For about eleven weeks, the employe officers have been cruising along the coast of New England, on the most modern and formidable vessels of Uncle Sam's navy, getting a real taste of the sailor's life on the briny deep. The change made in the arrangements for this year's cruise, officials say, has been beneficial from every standpoint. This change consisted of distributing the midshipmen to the battleships in squads of eighteen and twenty, instead of crowding the whole complement on two or three older vessels of the service.

The fleet is steaming slowly down the coast and will remain in Hampton roads for several days before proceeding up the bay to Annapolis. They are due at Annapolis August 29, and the following day the midshipmen will disembark.

The first of the midshipmen to leave the ships will be the members of the football squad, who, as usual, will go on leave a week in advance of their fellows in order to return to Annapolis correspondingly earlier to begin practice in preparation for the opening of the schedule of games early in October.

Persons capable of taking any hat and telling the quality of the hair contained therein, whether the material came from the stomach, sides or back of an animal, what animals it was and a few other things, they stand a fair chance of getting a $100-a-month position under Uncle Sam inspecting hats for their soldier boys. Examinations will be held at Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago to obtain an eligible list for inspector of hats, quartermaster's department, U. S. A. There are four vacancies, two at New York and two at Philadelphia.

Training, experience and fitness count more than anything else in the rating in this examination, and the applicants must show that they have had the experience. Hat salesmen who think they know the materials and construction of a hat are specifically barred from even taking the examinations.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer will have to use the presidential yacht Mayflower for off-shore cruises during the coming fall owing to the condition of the old dispatch boat Dolphin, which for a long time has been the secretary's cruising craft. The Dolphin is very much run down, and it is even hinted that she is not seaworthy. She has been ordered to be extensively repaired at the New York navy yard.

Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador here, discredits the statement in a recent press dispatch from Paris quoting a Japanese financier on an official mission to France as saying that the visit of Secretary Knox to Japan was resented in that country "as an evidence of gross bad taste."

The financier, so it was stated, said that "the Japanese who will see Mr. Knox at the emperor's funeral will feel that he is in their country on business and that he is working his dollar doctrine. We regarded the Mikado with veneration and the presence of any business element at the coming sacred rite is to us an impertinence. He may assure us of America's friendship, but we do not need to be taught what we well know."

In reply to inquiries as to the alleged interview, Ambassador Chinda has received a cable from the minister of foreign affairs at Tokio saying that "the consensus of the press of Japan is of one accord regarding the visit of Secretary Knox as an occasion for expressing sincere gratitude of the nation to the United States. Any report to the contrary is positively groundless."

The Japanese ambassador at Paris cabled Viscount Chinda that the author of the press report was entirely mistaken, "as there is no Japanese financial agent or a Japanese financier having a public mission in Paris at this time."

The famous Alsop claims, which several years ago threatened the friendly relations of the United States and Chile, are about to be paid. Secretary of State Knox before departing last night for Japan signed an order directing the payment of the $935,000 to the claimants.

Until his note has had time to reach the claimants, informing them that they may have their share when the necessary legal formalities are completed with the State Department refuses to make public the names of the amounts.

WHEN GOVERNOR TENER MET OLD RIVAL RUSIE

The uncertainties of life were never better illustrated than at Dugdale's Park, Seattle, Wash., recently. A large man, a picture of success, heading a party of prominent Pennsylvanians, approached the special officer at the entrance of the baseball park. "Hello, Amos," was his salutation as he held out his hand.

"You've got the best of me," was the reply of the man spoken to, and he made no effort to shake the hand of the speaker.

"Why, don't you know me? I am John Tener," said the first, and there was a handshaking which was the real thing in that line and a faintest worth listening to.

One man was John K. Tener, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania and a rich banker, the other was Amos Rusie, special officer at Dugdale Park. Twenty years ago, when the sport world was ringing with cheers for John Tener, star pitcher of Spalding's great Chicago team, Amos Rusie, a youngster, pitched his first game in the major league before a large crowd in New York City and defeated Chicago in a great pitchers' battle by a score of 1 to 0, in time becoming the greatest pitcher in the world.

CHINESE SUFFRAGETTE TO JOIN HER HUSBAND

Won Hong Fee, former editor of the Liberty News, who left here about nine months ago, and now lives in China at a village of Canton, has recently bought a goldfish pond there. Since going into the fish business he has written to his wife and wants her to go back to her native land. Mrs. Won Hong Fee will go by the Chiyo Maru. She is a prominent member of the Chinese suffragettes' organization.

WRITES ON "ALTITUDES" FOR AMERICAN MEDICINE

Dr. E. S. Goodhue of the Doctorage, Hawaii, has made another notable contribution to medical science through his article on "Altitudes" published in the June number of American Medicine. In his article Dr. Goodhue quotes the testimony of savants from the altitudes of the earth and adds to the general knowledge by figures and facts on the subject from the Hawaiian Islands.
