ROUGH PLACES IN TARIFF BILL

In its issue of April 10, Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal has the following: "Special telegram from Washington, D. C., April 10, 1913—While yesterday's conference between the president and the Democratic members of the finance committee was pleasant in its personal aspects, it served to emphasize the fact that there still are many rough places in the house tariff bill which must be smoothed over before it will be entirely acceptable to all Democratic senators. So far as learned, none of the members of the committee went so far as to threaten personal revolt. But some of them pointed out the probability of defeat with the present radical provisions on sugar, wool, agricultural products and metals. There was especial discussion of the difficulties in the way of getting through any measure squinting at free sugar, but it is understood that the president made no specific promises at modification. The senators are making an especial effort to have sugar treated in a separate schedule, but the president shows an inclination to follow the house, which in caucus last night took a decided position against such segregation."

JAPANESE FORFEIT BIG BAIL MONEY

Nineteen Japanese caught gambling in a tenement on lower Hotel street last night failed to put in an appearance when their cases were called at district court this morning. District Magistrate Monsarrat declared bail to the amount of $310 forfeited. Chief McDuffie and a squad of plainclothes men descended upon the lair of the Japanese at a late hour, and after much difficulty succeeded in gaining an entrance to the room where the Japanese were engaged in wooting fickle fortune by means of a brisk 7-come-11 game. The police officers secured much evidence in the shape of dice, money and other articles. It is alleged that several offenders caught in this raid were old-timers. In some instances they were asked to put up bail to the amount of $20.

FIEND IS GIVEN IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE

Standing, as he feared, in the shadow of the gallows, Giichiro Kawakami, a Japanese on trial in the circuit court for the alleged ravishment of little Pearl McGrew, changed his plea when court opened this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge. Judge Robinson at once dismissed the jury and sentenced the fiend to imprisonment for life. The case, according to evidence introduced yesterday, was one of the most horrible ever tried in the local courts. Kawakami, it was alleged, had violated the little girl not one but many times during a period extending over half a year. Yesterday the little girl, her mother, her stepfather, and Dr. A. N. Sifclair all testified as to the guilt of the accused. Last night it was rumored upon good authority that City and County Attorney J. W. Cathcart would demand of the jurors the death penalty, and it is supposed for this reason that the accused man agreed to compromise upon a life sentence this morning. People who are rolling in wealth should be able to find a better use for it. Every spinster believes that his anta-tanic majesty is a married man.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE HOTLY DEBATED

Fully forty women and as many men ardently debated the question of the women's enfranchisement at the public meeting held by the Oahu delegation of the house in the hall of representatives last night. The great majority favored equal suffrage, only a few had the temerity to openly oppose it and it seemed the consensus of opinion that the least the legislature can do is to adopt the concurrent resolution introduced by Speaker Holstein the other day. This measure calls on congress to grant a plebiscite, also a $15,000 appropriation to pay the expenses of the special election, that the voters of the territory may say whether they really want the women to have the privilege of the ballot. Last night's was a notable gathering of beauty and chivalry, intelligence and sincerity, full of interest, with a number of surprises and really worthy of a much larger attendance than that accorded. Mrs. Frear, wife of the governor, led the feminine cohorts, speaking ably and convincingly. Mrs. J. M. Dowsett, fired by opposition, delivered a bitter arraignment of man in the abstract. She declared woman is far superior to man every time. Judge A. S. Humphreys astonished some of his friends by confessing a lifelong affection for the cause. Also, for the first time in public history, he appeared at times to be at a loss for words to adequately express his feelings. At one point he brought out this strong argument: "The fellow who blacks the governor's shoes and doesn't know enough to make his mark, can vote, but the governor's wife, who is as much a man as her husband, cannot vote." He added, on second thought: "Don't misconstrue me. If the governor were to hear that remark, that his wife is just as much a man as he is, he would regard it as a very high compliment, which it is." Speaker Holstein, though not known to be a Scotchman, nevertheless displayed the racial caniness, remarking that "I hae me doots." He frankly confessed he didn't know whether the women of the Hawaiian race were ready for the ballot. He thought it would be well to pass his resolution anyhow, and by the time congress ordered the plebiscite the voters of Hawaii would be ready to say what they thought about it. Mrs. E. M. Rhodes, of Seattle, told how the women of that city, enfranchised, on their first election helped the honest citizens to recall a notorious mayor and send a crooked chief of police to the federal penitentiary, and how, in other ways they had helped materially in cleaning up the city and the state of Washington. Representative Norman K. Lyman, of Hilo, struck fire when he arose and announced that he was "still on the fence." He wanted to ask a question. "Have the women thought about what they will do when they get the right to vote?" he queried. "Do they realize they will be subject to the mandate of the courts, the same as the man? That they may be called upon to serve as jurors, sitting maybe for days at a time? The men must work, and if the father is busy earning the living and the mother is doing jury duty, what is to be done with the home and the children? Have the women thought about being forced to leave their babies in the care of hired nurses, or with the neighbors, for days at a time?" Mrs. Dowsett arose with an indignant, albeit a dignified rebuke. "I can speak for my Hawaiian sisters, and I can say that in every way the woman is man's superior. She will not only cast her vote fully as intelligently—she will vote honestly. There isn't enough money in the world to buy her vote. And on the jury she will decide as intelligently, while there will be no question as to her verdict." Although urgently invited, Representative Lyman declined to ask more questions. Representative Kawewehi, the only Home Ruler in the house, when called upon openly announced his opposition to suffrage. He said he exercised his prerogative as a Home Ruler. Then arose for a brief space the question as to the mysterious political affiliations of Senator Makekai, of Hamakua. Makekai had introduced one of the earlier suffrage resolutions in the upper house. Chairman Paxon asked Kawewehi if it were not true that Makekai is a Home Ruler. Kawewehi denied it. Paxon said he had been told by Makekai that such was the case. Kawewehi again denied it, declaring Makekai was the Republican nominee. But the point was permitted to escape, as beside the question. As a matter of fact it seems doubtful whether Senator Makekai himself really knows to which party he belongs, though some said last night he was endorsed by both prior to the last election. Dr. Irwin intimated there was a degree of insincerity in Speaker Holstein's resolution. He said the friends of the house member knew congress would not appropriate the $15,000 asked for, and that therefore the resolution would receive no attention at Washington. By bringing up this point Dr. Irwin cleverly diverted attention from himself, not announcing how he actually stands on woman's enfranchisement. It seems that the Republican territorial platform, and the Democratic county platform pledged to support women suffrage, but the Democratic territorial platform was built without the plank, not, Dr. Irwin confessed, without some careful scheming and hard work at the convention. Being the only Democrat in the house outside Oahu, Irwin therefore regards himself in a class with Kawewehi, free to cast his vote as he pleases on the subject. Mrs. John Wilson, ex-Senator Dowsett and several others, both men and women addressed the meeting eloquently and with convincing force. Toward the close, someone suggested that a rising vote be taken to show the preponderance of sentiment, but this was opposed as reaching no good end.

16,000 Physicians Approve when you take Sanatogen

—approve by their written endorsement of this remarkably successful food- tonic. The opinions of this splendid body of practising physicians have followed actual test of Sanatogen, and such a mass of opinion has a weight that may well give confidence to everyone who turns to Sanatogen for help. HELP—not magic, not makeshift, not stimulant—real help to an exhausted nervous system—that is the "secret" of Sanatogen, that is the basis of the enthusiastic approval of medical men who know that nerves to be helped must be fed. Nerves have their own hunger, and their hunger brings the rebellion that disturbs the balance of health. Every function of the body feels the depression and disturbance—sleep, digestion, mental efficiency, all are affected, and reaction aggravates the trouble. The one practical answer to this nerve hunger is food, a specific food that will give to the nerves the nourishment they have failed to gather from the daily food of the body. Sanatogen's scientifically combined elements of nerve strength, purest albumen and glycerophosphate of sodium, go straight to the points of weakness. They restore the losses and in that way rebuild and revitalize the system. They cheer and invigorate by the logical natural means of meeting the demand. If you will try Sanatogen you will find that this multitude of physicians, and the wide groups of famous men and women who have written of it so enthusiastically, have but spoken for a universal need of the human system. This Remarkable Book FREE We ask you earnestly to get acquainted with Sanatogen. Investigate our claims first if you like, and we are only too glad to have you do so. Ask your doctor about it, and in any case write at once for our book, "Our Nerves of Tomorrow," written in an absorbingly interesting style, beautifully illustrated and containing facts and information of vital interest to you. This book also contains evidence of the value of Sanatogen which is as remarkable as it is conclusive. Sanatogen is sold in three sizes, $1.00, $1.90, $3.60 Get Sanatogen from your druggist—if not obtainable from him, sent upon receipt of price.
