With an enormously inflated paper urrency and with a gold reserve that has been dwindling steadily since the war began the demand of the Ger man government for gold has reached proportions where, according to re ports received here, unheard of meth ods apparently have been adopted to replenish the store.

One report reaching officials here is that German submarines in the erea around Grent Britain were in structed to remove gold from captured steamers, torpedo the vessels and bring back the gold to their bases. How far this alleged program has been carried out, if at all, is not known.

A plan for obtaining a part of the buge store of gold which has accumulated here since the war began, said to have been regarded with much favor by German agents is the exportation of gold to neutrals, ostensibly to settle commercial transactions, but in reality to establish credit to German firms operating in neutral coun-
