MESSIAH AT PUNAHOU

MADAME BISHOP GIVES HONOLULUITES A TREAT

She Knows How to Sing and Sings as If She Knew How—Chorus and Orchestra Work.

If artistic singing means an appeal to the heart and to the mind, at once, then Madame Genevra Johnstone-Bishop is an artistic singer of the first magnitude. There need be no attempt here to analyze the various qualties that go to make up her splendid voice for such matters have all been dwelt upon hundreds of times and, in truth, they have no effect on the verdict of the people who hear the great oratorio singer. Suffice it to say, she has the best of every quality combined in her voice and—she can sing.

Behind the lady's wonderful mezzo-soprano voice is an understanding which gives each note she sings its proper place and brings forth a finished whole that cannot but be eminently satisfactory. Coupled with this perfection of singing is a graciousness of manner that at once puts those who listen to her in a frame of mind favorable to what she has to impart, thus making them one with herself. All these qualities she showed during the production of the Messiah at Oahu College last night.

Long before 8 o'clock, Pauahi hall was crowded with the people of the city who appreciate good music. Those who arrived at 7:45 found it necessary to take inferior seats in the two rooms at the sides of the hall.

Shortly after the hour announced for the concert, the chorus and orchestra were in their places and then the four soloists—Madam Bishop, Miss Ethel Cameron, Mr. Melchers and Mr Miller—appeared at the front. As Madame Bishop appeared, she was greeted with great applause.

Considering the short time during which Prof. Ballaseyus has had to train his chorus and the youthfulness of the major part thereof, the work done was very creditable. Of course, there was the lack of that fullness of voice which is so necessary in oratorio singing but nevertheless, the singers did well. A chorus of seventy-five had been announced but there were a bare fifty on the stage.

The alto and bass soloists were not as confidant as they might have been but they produced a good effect. Loye H. Miller, the tenor, was by far the best of the amateur soloists.

No complaint can be made about the work of the orchestra. Prof. Ammo is the kind of a leader to inspire confidence and to pilot his willing musicians very cleverly through the most difficult passages in the Messiah. The Pastoral Symphony was done in a way the orchestra can well be proud of. When this worship impelling piece of music had been completed, Madame Bishop was aplauded with a will and at the conclusion, said to Prof. Ballaseyus: "I never heard the Pastoral Symphony done better. It just put me in the right frame of mind to sing my recitative that follows, 'There were shepherds abiding in the field.'"

It is not necessary to say much more about Madame Bishop's singing. She has given Honolulu a treat that is very seldom to be had here. In her work last night, she showed her mastery over the difficult work of oratorio singing. One thing she did that the writer has never before seen an oratorio soloist do. In the difficult parts of the choruses, she joined in with the other singers to swell the volume and she did it with such an easy grace that no one was cognizant of the fact that anything unusual was going on. Perhaps the best thing Madame Bishop did was her conclusion of "them that sleep" in the air of "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

Honolulu lovers of music will be glad to learn that Madame Bishop intends to sing in the opera house one night this week, under the management of Wm. D. Adams of the Bergstrom Music Co. The exact date will be given out tomorrow.

CHINESE CREW MUTINY

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 5.—News received by the steamer Empress of China today gives details of the recent attack on a British steamer by Chinese mutineers. Chinese soldiers, 200 in number, fired on the steamer Nanking on the West river, wounding the chaplain of the British flagship Glory and slightly injuring another officer. The shooting took place at midday on January 13th, when no trouble of any kind was suspected. The affair was reported to Hongkong by Rev. E. J. Hardy, military chaplain at the city, and he said the soldiers concerned, though native troops, were mutineers. The two wounded men are Rev. Charles E. L. Cowan, the chaplain, and an unknown European customs officer, whose name Hardy was unable to obtain, and who had his leg grazed.

The Nanking met the gunboats Sandpiper and Robin, and reported what had occurred. The Robin proceeded at once to investigate and Cowan was taken to Hongkong on the Sandpiper. Latest details before the Empress of China left for this city did not throw any further light upon the identity of the mutineers.

ANOTHER INDIA FAMINE.

London, Feb. 6.—From Calcutta the correspondent of the Daily Mail in a dispatch says there is little doubt that India is threatened with another severe famine. This is the more to be dreaded because the area affected is practically the same that has been ravaged during the past two years. Much depends upon the rainfall during the coming fortnight, continues the correspondent, as a large portion of the spring crop is still capable of being saved.

A FAMOUS SPEAR

When Captain Parker of the police force was last on the other side of the island, he succeeded in purchasing from an old native one of the war spears of Keaniani, a chief of this island who lived in the days before Kamehameha and after whom was named the Pau o Keaniani where a famous battle was fought and where the Hawaiian chief once more demonstrated his superiority over all others. Captain Parker has had many offers to buy this famous lhe but he will not part with it. He is now getting the history of the spear in form so that he may have it written out and preserved.

SEARCH FOR TREASURE

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 6.—Mayor Hayward of this city has received a letter from Budapest, Hungary, dated January 17th, in which the writer, having read of the company formed here to search for treasure on Cocos Island, offers to dispose of descriptive notes and a plan of location of the buried treasure for $10,000 and 1 per cent of the amount recovered. He writes:

"An old friend of my late father bought twenty years ago an old English Bible, and in the cover of this book a paper has been found with notes and a situation sketch, designating a certain place on an island called 'Cocos' in the Atlantic ocean near West India, where, in the first half of the nineteenth century, Spanish and other pirates had hidden their wealth of about £15,000,000."

The writer is considerably "off" in his geography, but seems very much in earnest as to possessing the secret of the pirates' booty.

Official Assassinated

The assassin subsequently committed suicide by shooting himself.

Mayor Low seems to have made up the new Board of Education from the best material at his command, and so far as one can judge its forty-six members represent in an eminent way the enlightened citizenship of New York. A sufficient number of the members of the old boards are appointed to the new one to give it the benefit of experience and familiarity with the school systems of the different boroughs.—New York Mail and Express.

In this matter of pensions it is the urgent duty of Congress so to surround the pension office with the protection of effective laws that nobody who is not entitled to a pension shall be able to get one. The Government should be generous to the deserving, but must not allow its generosity to be taken advantage of by the undeserving.—Chicago Tribune.

METHODIST FAVORS CHINESE.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Rev. S. L. Baldwin, secretary of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, was heard by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs today in opposition to the Mitchell-Kahn bill for Chinese exclusion. He took the position that general restrictions on immigrants should govern all nationalities alike, and that discrimination against the Chinese alone was not to the public interest.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor continued his statement in support of the bill. He exhibited fac-similes of the instructions sent by the Chinese to their friends in China, pointing out the way to get into this country. Gompers also stated that Maxwell Evarts of New York, who advocated an extension of the Geary law, had attacked that law in the United States Supreme Court, and that the contention of its invalidity was still before the courts. The hearing continues tomorrow.
