LIGHTFOOT RAPS POLICE TACTICS

Demand Client's Funds Now In Custody of the Sheriff.

Attorney Joseph Lightfoot and the police department tilted fences on the judicial field bounded by the limits of the District Court this morning, and despite the counter-attack of Attorney Louis Andrews, who would also break a spear, the honors were finally dragged into the Lightfoot camp.

There was considerable acrimony, some comment indulged in pro and con the police department, by the attorneys who will figure in the case of a Japanese named Nakagawa, who is alleged to have embezzled certain sums of money belonging to several Japanese cane planters on the island of Hawaii. The Japanese was apprehended by Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie as he was about to take passage in the Pacific Mail steamer Manchuria for Yokohama.

McDuffie and an officer visited the ship and Nakagawa was placed under arrest and his baggage and personal effects removed from the vessel.

A search of his trunk and suitcase revealed the presence of two hundred and thirty dollars in United States coin, besides quite a sum of Japanese money.

It is these moneys that Lightfoot demanded be restored to his client, the now incarcerated Nakagawa. Much argument was put forth, with Judge Lymer as moderator, that the money is to all intents and purposes the property of the Japanese; that in order to furnish bail sufficient to satisfy the ends of justice and to insure his reappearance at court, this money is required.

Andrews, who has been retained by the prosecution to assist in the case, waxed sarcastic over the contentions of a brother attorney. The charge against Nakagawa reads that he did embezzle a sum of one hundred and ten dollars.

District Magistrate Lymer denied the request of Lightfoot that the money now in the hands of Sheriff Jarrett be restored. He did, however, rule that there should be no delay in the presentation of the case, as asked by Andrews. Constitutional law points were cited which showed that the defendant was entitled to immediate trial, should he be ready.

Andrews was overruled in his motion for a postponement until next Tuesday, and Judge Lymer ordered the prosecution to appear and be ready to conduct the case against the Japanese tomorrow morning. In the meantime Lightfoot left the court breathing threats of sundry writs of habeas corpus.

FIFTY TO ONE!

Persons desirous of securing stock in the Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company should attend to the matter at once, as I am leaving for the Coast January 3. It is fifty to one you can not lose. Everyone owes it to himself to better his condition in life, and here is a good opportunity to make good. A small investment may make you independent.—J. HENRY M. HOYT DEAD AT HOME

HENRY M. HOYT

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 4.—Henry M. Hoyt, counselor of the Department of State, is dead at his home in this city. While he was in Canada engaged in the reciprocity negotiations as a representative of the American government he was attacked with an intestinal trouble from which he had suffered in the past, and although he was able to make the return trip from Montreal to Washington, he was obliged to take to his bed as soon as he reached his home here.

MANY JOINING 100,000 CLUB

Appointment Made of Man to Handle Active Canvass For Members.

With the appointment of a man to take charge of a house-to-house canvass of the city, the Honolulu Hundred Thousand club has begun its active campaign for a membership that will take in every business and professional man and every household from Moanalua to Diamond Head.

J. H. Worall, formerly of Philadelphia, Penn., now a resident of Honolulu, has been named to handle the house-to-house canvass and has already gone vigorously to work. As a result of his opening efforts, scores of names have already been added to the membership list.

Charles A. Stanton, secretary of the club and one of its leading spirits, declared this morning that the club is growing faster than he had any reason to expect.

"Everybody wants to join; everybody is anxious to help Honolulu along, and we'll have thousands of members in a short time."

The date for the opening of the membership contest is drawing near and already many have entered the competition, attracted by the large annual and semi-annual prizes offered by the club. The contests open on the first of January.

Mr. Stanton announced this morning that he is planning a regular "follow-up" system for the contest. When the name of a prospective resident of Honolulu is given to him, Stanton and the club will get in immediate touch with the man named and he will be thoroughly enlightened as to Honolulu, its future, its inducements to a business and residential way, and in fact, the person will be given every opportunity to come to Honolulu.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Pink Cat

"YOUNGSTERS," asked daddy one evening before beginning his bedtime story, "have you ever seen a pink cat?"
"I never did," said Evelyn. "I've seen white cats and black cats and gray cats, but I never saw a pink one," said Jack.
"Well, once upon a time there was a pink cat," said daddy, "and this is how it happened:
"This cat had been a nice, pretty white kitten—she was a very young cat—but she had fallen into a coal bin and had spoiled her pretty white fur, so her mistress sent her out of her house. When the kitten caught a glimpse of herself in a store window, with her fur all streaked and spotted with the coal dust, she felt so ashamed that she crept into a corner and never came out again until she had licked off all the black. Then she went out looking for a new home.
"It was cold weather, and the kitten wandered into the first door she came to. The door was that of a shop belonging to a man who dyed clothing, and when he saw the pretty white kitten he said: 'Ah, I have a good idea. I'll dye the cat and put it into the window for a show.' So he caught poor pussy and dipped her into the dye vat where there was a lot of blue, and when he took the animal out she was a beautiful blue. Then he placed her in the window, and all the people of the town came to look at the blue cat."
"But you said this was to be a story about a pink cat," said Jack.
"So I did," was daddy's answer. "That comes later. After a time all the people in the town had seen the blue cat, and no one came to look at her any more. Then the dyer took pussy and washed her in something that took off the blue color, and then he dipped her into the pink vat. When pussy came out of that she was a pretty pink, and the dyer put her in the window again.
"After awhile, however, pussy became tired of being stared at, so she tried to lick off the color, for she said to herself, 'If I can lick off this nasty pink I shall be white again, and the dyer will have to take me out of his window.' But, try as hard as she would, she could not lick off the dyestuff. She was 'fast color,' you see, as they say about stockings.
"When poor pussy saw that she could not get the color off with her tongue she made up her mind to run away, so one day when the dyer wasn't looking and he had left the window open pussy ran away into the country. There she stayed a long time, hunting birds and little animals for food, until the color had quite worn off. Then she went back into town and found a home with a little girl who treated her kindly."
