SATURDAY DECEMBER 24, 1910

Youth has vision. It is young eyes that see the invisible. When we were children we saw ghosts, and Santa Claus, and angels, and giants. They were real. We played with them. Old people wondered why we laughed and capered and shouted. When we told them they shook their heads and smiled indulgently. Having eyes they saw not and having ears they heard not, what we saw and heard. God has put into our young eyes and ears some subtle alchemy that transformed the beggarly elements of the commonplace into the glory and trappings of knights and kings and courts.—Dr. Frank Crane.

Merry Christmas to all Hawaii.

Hoodlums and mosquitoes are in the same class on Christmas eve. They must be eliminated.

Commissioner Keefe has no merry Christmas message for the Filipino unless he remains at home.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder" but presents, not absence, has the "fonder" stunt in tow.

After Christmas begin to shop early for the Floral Parade. There is always something doing in Honolulu.

The Bulletin will not be issued on Monday, that day being given over to the employees of the paper for their Christmas outing.

Although the first pure food ordinance has been killed, that is no reason why one should not be passed that will improve conditions in the public markets.

It would be good business from a public health standpoint to pass an ordinance requiring that every house and every public assembly hall be screened against mosquitoes.

Should any of the proud lack luck for happiness in the Christmas season, they have only to impersonate Santa Claus, give freely, and the joy will follow as the day follows night.

Great Britain's best Christmas gift is the triumph of popular government as shown in the good sense of the people who voted for the elimination of the House of Lords as a power to veto anything worth while.

While impersonating good old Santa Claus tonight have a care in regard to fire. Many a Christmas eve has been turned into an eve of mourning through thoughtlessness on this one possibility.

Business men who have made their fortunes in Hawaii should never allow it to be said that Honolulu's growth was checked because no one would build the cottages necessary to house the steady increase of tourist population.

Mr. Keefe would do a good work for Hawaii if he could say something that will spur European Immigration Agent Campbell to deliver a few positive results in return for his extended absence from the Territory at the taxpayers' expense.

There will be no stumbling-blocks or prohibitive resolutions for the man with a scheme for Hawaii—if the scheme is right. The man behind the scheme must be in the same class with the man behind the gun, working for the good of the community.

As this paper understands it, Grand Jurors who indicted Lane could not testify to having been swayed by prejudice, without thereby declaring that they had violated their oath as Grand Jurors. So the outcome of that phase of the Lane case could be easily forecast. It is unfortunate that the progress of a trial for such a serious cause should be marked with so much feeling, that apparently has nothing to do with the law and the evidence.

Pardoning men who make a deliberate attempt on the life of a fellow being may be an exhibition of Charity, but the real question at issue is what influence it will have on other men fired with a murderous spirit.

Delegate Kuhio says he will never again run for public office while Mr. Frear is Governor. That would make Frear a logical candidate for Delegate so as to give him the full pleasure of going before the people to answer for his administration.

What would be the condition in Hawaii if the average income of big business were six per cent and the laborer on the plantation got more to put in general circulation? That is the query that Mr. Keefe seems to have constantly in mind.

There may be some doubt whether the Federal Government would pay more than $350,000 for the Mahukona site extension, but there should be no question of Honolulu's readiness to make up the difference by a city appropriation from public funds.

Many will fail to see the reason why new road construction should be carried forward under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Works when the city authorities are more capable of doing it in full accord with the conditions made by the Legislature.

Following its declaration of an elaborate scheme for its navy development, Japan expresses its appreciation of the necessity for peace in the Orient. Great minds run in the same direction. We are also building a great navy that we may be more certain of keeping the peace in the Orient.

Hawaii will be represented in Washington by a brace of workers and attorneys capable of making things fly when they once get started. May it all redound to the benefit if not the glory of the islands, and produce nothing that will retard progress in other lines than water development.

CHRISTMAS GIVING.

All the material blessings that could be reasonably asked have been showered upon Hawaii by a kindly Providence in the last year.

No community on earth could approach the holiday season in a happier spirit—if happiness may be secured through material prosperity—than Honolulu.

The fields have yielded an abundance. The products of our industry have been in demand in the world's markets at the highest prices. The most favorable conditions have prevailed in every line of activity in which our fellow citizens are engaged for a livelihood. The country has enjoyed freedom from serious damage or disaster from the elements or any form of pestilence.

Abundant prosperity has reigned on every hand. The community as a whole comes to the Christmas season with its lap literally brimming full of the good things of life, figured on the basis of material things. And all this avails nothing if there be not Charity.

Not the parsimonious, brass band, sanctimonious and pretentious charity that degrades both the giver and the beneficiary. But the whole-hearted, contagious, generous charity toward our fellowmen that uplifts and makes the brotherhood of man more of a reality; the charity that makes kindly acts, kind words, and good deeds pour forth as naturally and luxuriously as the land has given forth the fullness of its productivity.

Christmas is a season when the cost is not counted. The spirit of the giver, the joy of doing for others, the life and light of good will, is at once the well spring and the goal of human ambition. Charity that is kind, is not puffed up, vaunteth not itself, stirs all human life to the acme of happiness at this period when we celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Him who set the example as the charitable giver of the greatest and best gifts.

Men will give freely to their own, and others less fortunate will be provided for liberally. It is well for each to give according to his means. Those who have gained much of this world's goods should bestow thoughtful and kindly acts with a lavish hand that happiness and life's comforts may be found in a larger measure in the homes of the poor or distressed.

But when all is said and done, it is not the quantity that is given but the spirit in which it is tendered that satisfies the inner conscience and makes of Christmas day a season that is indeed joyous, and fills the world with the cheeriest merriment.

Railroad engineers are probably contemplating a strike merely on the matter of wages. The latest statistics of casualties on the railroads of the country give an appalling record that might well cause the public to go on strike for better guarantees of safety for employes and patrons of the roads. For the year ending June 30 there were 1013 more people killed and 18,454 more persons injured on steam roads than in the previous twelve months. The total number killed in the past official year was 2804 and 82,374 injured. Tramps as well as passengers, victims at crossings as well as railroad employes, were probably included in the total. The aggregate is so large as to be a national disgrace. Evidently there exists a degree of carelessness that would not be permitted in any other country, and the hope is that in some manner the authorities, State and Federal, will find a way to end the annual slaughter. Think of 5861 collisions and 5310 derailments in one year! Is it the frenzied American haste to do things in the quickest possible time, or is it a national looseness of method, that is responsible for the faulty operations of the railroads?

YOUNGSTERS GET BIG PLAYGROUND

Bishop Estate Makes Out Generous Lease to Children's Kindergarten.

The Bishop Estate has just executed a lease that is in the nature of a splendid Christmas gift to the youngsters of the Children's Free Kindergarten. The Estate has given the Kindergarten a five-year lease on a vacant tract at the corner of Smith and Beretania streets.

The terms of the lease are so generous that it practically amounts to a free gift. For the nominal sum of $1, the Estate leases the land to the Kindergarten Association, which is to pay the taxes on the land. The Estate must give sixty days' notice of removal. Under the terms of the Bishop Estate will and restrictions imposed by legal procedure, the state cannot make a gift of its property, but the lease is next thing to it. The grounds are now being cleared up, and a matron will have charge of the youngsters on the playground.

MAN WHO LAID CABLE IS DEAD

S. S. Dickenson Passes Away at His Home in New York.

News was received yesterday of the death in New York of S. S. Dickenson, who superintended the laying of the cable here.

Mr. Dickenson rose from a telegraph operator to be one of the active heads of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, and was an expert in electrical engineering lines. He officiated at the formal opening of the cable here, January 3, 1903. At the time of his death he was general superintendent of the cable company and made his headquarters in New York.

DIVIDEND CUT IN PEPEEKO

Announcement was made on the stock exchange this morning of a cut in Pepeeeko dividends, from $1 monthly to 60 cents monthly. As in the case of the dividend cuts, this action was not unexpected. The new rate will go into effect on the first of the year.

Trading in the market was fairly brisked today, with the general tone firm and some hope that after the week's vacation of the exchange a rise in prices will prevail.

NATURE'S SANITARIUM

"The possibilities of those districts for longevity and health are something wonderful. Just as soon as the health-seeking world realizes that such valuable climate can be found right here near this beautiful city of Honolulu, people, both rich and poor, will come from all parts of the wide world to secure the health, rest and happiness they are looking for. Indeed, to find perfect health and longevity people will come regardless of cost or distance — as these are the most to be desired things for life."

Mr. Stanton of the Kaimuki Land Co., Ltd. is very much interested in Dr. Briggs' discovery inasmuch as it proves his contention that the Kaimuki district is the most healthful place to live.
