TELEGRAMS BY WIRELESS TO THE TRIBUNE

KUROPATKIN'S RETREAT.

Mukden, Sept. 8.—Unconfirmed reports received here state that General Kuroki has been killed. General Kuroki was the commander of one of the three divisions of the Japanese army which have been pressing Kuropatkin toward Mukden. The other two wings are commanded by Generals Oku and Nodzu.

Mukden, Sept. 9.—Heavy rains are hindering both armies, and interfering with interesting movements in the direction of Tielang.
[Yentai, where Kuropatkin is making his last stand, is fifteen miles due north of Liaoyang, on the Port Arthur railroad. It is situated in the Hun River Valley, a low country with great stretches of land on either side.]

Kuropatkin's retreat, should he be forced back through Mukden and on to Harbin, will be through a country which is the most fertile and populous of Manchuria. Some of the great crops grown along this line of march are cotton, indigo, millet, hemp, wheat, oats, barley and corn.
All of these crops are now ripening and will be of great use as forage to the Russian army, while the destruction of crops, villages and railway as Kuropatkin retreats will leave his pursuers to depend on the supplies received over a repaired railroad and by pack train from Yinkow, fifty odd miles from Liaoyang and from pack trains which are now following Kuroki and Nodzu's armies over the mountain trails from Ta-kushan and Antung.

From Liaoyang to Yentai, fifteen miles, the Russians have territory to operate in, which is full of natural defenses in the way of hills, mountains, rivers, and many small creeks, but if the Russians cannot hold the Japanese at Yentai, then Kuropatkin must fall back for a distance of thirty-eight miles to Mukden with only one natural defense to occupy enroute, being the land behind the large river Hun only four miles south of Mukden.]

TRE JAPANESE METHOD OF ATTACK.

It is interesting to know how the Japanese utilize their deadly field guns, pouring an incessant shower of shrapnel and shells upon the enemy, from which to save themselves the Russians have been forced to retreat. Their plan of battle is to search the whole country side with their fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments they mass a hail of short and shell from all their guns. They then pass to another square, thus working the whole field, with mathe-
front has been systematically searched in the first four hours of the cannonading.

Such a rain of artillery fire is poured upon the defenceless enemy, that it means distraction to attempt to resist it. The Russians have been holding their grounds gallantly and their losses are small, considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire.

MEAT PACKERS STRIKE SETTLED.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The strike of the meat packers has been called off.
The employers came out victorious.
[The packing house strike began on July 12th, in Kansas City, Mo. when 45,000 meat packers went out. The grievance was over a reduction of wages of unskilled laborers from 18 1/2 to 17 1/2 cents an hour.
Only a small percentage of the employees were affected, the wages of the skilled workers not being disturbed. The latter, however, became implicated in the dispute and a general strike was called. The men accepted the plan of arbitration proposed by the employers, involving a cut in wages and agreed to leave everything to impartial arbitration.
A deadlock occurred over the reinstatement of strikers. President Donnelly insisted that all the strikers be reinstated within seven days, but the packers refused agreeing only to keep those already in the employ and reinstate others as soon as possible. The strike reached to the packing houses of Chicago, St. Joseph, Mo., East Omaha, St. Louis, Sioux City and St. Paul. In New York 3,000 men left work out of sympathy for the strikers. Altogether it was estimated that there were 72,000 butchers and cutters involved in the strike.]

numbers the Russians.

Mukden, Sept. 7.—The commissariat and artillery are proceeding northward, indicating that the Russians will not make a stand here.
Retreat is slow on account of the orous pursuit. A Japanese column is hastening to cut off Kuropatkin's
