Thursday plead "not guilty" and trial set for Monday. Three days occupied in getting a jury. Case submitted on argument Thursday afternoon. Jury out one hour and ten minutes, two jurors favoring a verdict of manslaughter. Judge Gear will sentence this morning.]

Democratic Demands.

Honolulu, Oct. 8.—W. A. Kinney demands of the Board of Health permission for democratic candidates to speak at leper settlement. The privilege is denied. He will probably bring mandamus proceedings before Judge Dole.
[This is the result of the action of the Board of Health last week in denying to Chairman Kinney of the Democratic Central Committee the privilege of allowing campaign speakers in the settlement this year. The Board of Health were of the opinion that it was best not to disturb the people at the settlement by excitement over a political canvass. The same request was denied all other parties desiring to make political addresses in the settlement.]

Possiet Bay, Siberia, Oct. 5.—The Japanese are impressing Koreans into service in the Japanese army.
Tokio, Japan, Oct. 8.—General Hasegawa has left for Korea to command the Japanese forces. It is probable the Korean army will be put under Japanese control.

La Follette Ticket Sustained.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 5.—The Supreme Court handed down its decision today holding that the ticket put in the field by Governor La Follette is the regular Republican ticket.
[The political struggle in Wisconsin between Governor Robert M. La Follette, on behalf of the people on the one hand, and the corporation interests on the other, has been long and bitter. It was charged by Governor La Follette that for years the railroads and other corporate interests have controlled the state legislature, dictating legislation and fixing the amount of taxes which they chose to pay. The contest has been waged for ten years against the so-called machine. The latter termed themselves the "Stalwarts," and included Senator Spooner, Senator Quarles, Representative Babcock, Henry C. Payne, late Postmaster-General, and many other prominent Wisconsin politicians. At the Republican State Convention held in Madison, May 18, 1904, the party split, the "Stalwarts" leaving the convention, and naming Samuel A. Cook as their candidate for Governor. The bolters had the support of the Republican National Committee and sought a decision of the State Supreme Court, compelling the Secretary of State to recognize their ticket instead of the La Follette ticket, as the regular Republican ticket. The matter was submitted to the court for adjudication September 6th.]

Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 5.—Skirmishes along Kuropatkin's front indicate a forward movement by Oyama's troops.
Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 5.—It is reported that the Japanese advance posts have been driven back along the line between Hunso and Bentsihu.

Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 6.—The main forces of both armies are quiet. The scouts are active.
Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 6.—The Japanese are recruiting Chinese militia.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Oct. 8.—The report that the Russian Port Arthur squadron made another sortie is received with some credence.

Portuguese Ambushed in Africa.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 5.—The Portuguese force operating in West Africa against the Cuanhanas, including 225 Europeans, was surprised. Two hundred and fifty-four men were lost. The missing are 109. The troops were ambushed in the night.

Tokio, Japan, Oct. 6.—Count Okuma, in a public address, warns the people of Japan to prepare for a long war. He predicts that the cost to Japan of two years' war will be a billion dollars. He alleges that the Japanese officials are corrupt.

Starving Out Port Arthur.

Chefoo, Oct. 4.—Standing and tinned meats are nearly exhausted at Port Arthur. Thirty donkeys are killed daily. Meat is $1.20 a pound and eggs are twenty cents each.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Oct. 5.—Gen. Stoessel places the Japanese losses at Port Arthur as 10,000 between Sept. 19 and 22. There were skirmishes between Sept. 23 and 30. The Japanese are approaching by tunnel entrenchments.

A Noted Sculptor Dead.

Paris, France, Oct. 4.—The sculptor Bartholdi is dead.
[Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, sculptor, was born at Colmar, Alsace, France, on April 2, 1834. Among his works are the statue of Lafayette in Union Square, New York City, and the great statue of the Goddess of Liberty enlightening the world, which stands at the entrance of New York harbor, presented to the United States by the French government.]

Postmaster-General Dead.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—Postmaster-General Payne is dead. Cortelyou will succeed Payne in December as Postmaster-General.

[Henry C. Payne of Milwaukee, Wis., was born in Ashford, Franklin county, Mass., November 23, 1843. He removed to Milwaukee in 1863, and has been prominently identified with state and city politics ever since. For twenty years he has represented the State on the National Republican Committee. He held the office of postmaster of Milwaukee for over ten years. He was a railroad magnate, being heavily interested in numerous street railways in Milwaukee and elsewhere. At one time he was receiver of the Northern Pacific. He was appointed Postmaster-General January 8, 1902, by President McKinley, and it was during his administration that the department has been found to be honeycombed with dishonesty and speculation. It is believed that the disgrace of the affair, although his name was never implicated in the corruption of his office, was largely responsible for the failure of his health, which resulted in his death.]

The Port Arthur Slaughter.

According to the press dispatches, interest seems to be gravitating toward Port Arthur as the crucial point in the present contest. The sturdy resistance of Stoessel's garrison and the gallant fighting of the Japanese is being watched with interest. The Japanese are apparently engaged in a continuous assault upon the fortifications and are attacking on three sides simultaneously. Russian mines have blown up whole battalions of Japanese. During a midnight attack the Russians, with the aid of a searchlight, watched until the Japanese column had advanced near the hidden mines. Then the mines were exploded. The sight of Japanese rifles, water bottles, arms and dismembered limbs of soldiers hurtling through the lighted space made by the searchlight was an awful spectacle. There was one appalling moment during which the garrison itself was stunned and then a death-like stillness. The searchlight lighted up the road and hillsides, which were strewn with dead. Few Japanese escaped, but owing to the mutilated condition of the dead the Russians were unable to estimate the number killed in the awful slaughter.
