The performance will be in the nature of a benefit to Mr. W. C. Mrs. Jarrett Lewis has charge of the music and Mrs. A. G. Curtis and Mrs. R. G. Curtis of Olua have both volunteered to take part and assist in every way possible. The date of the performance has been set for Saturday evening, January 21st at Spreckels' Hall. On Tour of Investigation.

High Sheriff William Henry, accompanied by Captain Kanae arrived Sunday morning on the Maui for a tour of inspection of the police department on the Island of Hawaii. By a strange coincidence Sheriff Andrews left the day before for Kona and the High Sheriff was much disappointed in not seeing him. He doubted whether he would be able to confer with Andrews before his return, although he intimated that his visit more or less concerned the charges which have been made against that official. Deputy Sheriff Fetter has been doing the honors and the High Sheriff is much pleased with the reception accorded him by the subordinates in the local police force. High Sheriff Henry leaves this morning for Kohala.

S. Maui Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Castendyk were accompanied by Mrs. Castendyk's little daughter Carol, who is renewing old acquaintances in Hilo with a will and energy that would do credit to a politician. They are residing at their beautiful home in Riverside Park which has been remodeled and repainted for their reception. They are welcomed to Hilo by a host of admiring friends.

A Variety of Weather.

A blizzard appears to have struck Hilo. The thermometer registered 54 and 56 several nights last week. Olua reports a temperature of 49 degrees. On Friday morning, frost was found at Kaunama by Mr. Ira A. Hutchinson. Accompanying the cold weather severe wind storms have been experienced. All day Thursday a norther swept everything before it, damaging trees and shrubs, smashing windows and tearing out the front of the joint establishments of S. H. Webb and Canario, the tailor. HILO JAPANESE RATIFY.

An Elaborate Celebration of the Fall of Port Arthur.

When the first official report of the fall of Port Arthur was made public in last Tuesday's TRIBUNE, the local colony of Japanese in Hilo and on nearby plantations, proceeded to celebrate the victory by a ratification meeting in Mookheau Park. Early in the day word was passed out that appropriate exercises would be held at Mookheau Hall, and with the permission of the Park Commission, the amphitheatre was turned over to them.

The celebration was of a peaceful, orderly character, the main features being speeches by Chas. M. LeBlond and leading Japanese citizens. All the afternoon and evening were devoted to geisha dancing, and oriental splendor held full sway throughout Hilo thoroughfares and Mookheau Park. At night there was an immense jubilee in which over a thousand Japanese marchers paraded the principal streets with lighted lanterns and banners, symbolic of victory. For once the tables were reversed, and instead of Asiatics lining the curbs to witness a parade of white men, all the white population turned out to watch the festivities of the joyful Japanese. It was an inspiring sight to those fortunate enough to view the processional party.

The line of march proceeded to the home of C. C. Kennedy, at Waikeka, who has been an especial friend of the Hilo Japanese, subscribing large sums to their war and charity funds. After paying their respects to the Waikeka "good boss," the revelers repaired to the Park, where was enacted a war drama in pantomime, which attracted a large crowd of interested spectators. Three days the jollification continued, till the loyal subjects of the Mikado had exhausted themselves and resumed their former employments. The celebration was unique in its way and deserving of much credit for its orderly character.

ENTERPRISE BACK AGAIN.

After Loading Refined Sugar in Honolulu, Returns to Hilo.

The S. S. Enterprise left Hilo last Tuesday for Honolulu, where she loaded 750 tons of refined sugar, the first output of the Honolulu plantation refinery. The manufacture of refined sugar is no longer in the experimental stage. So successful has the project been that the entire product of raw sugar from the plantation will, in the future, be shipped in the refined state. Wharf facilities are being planned at Pearl Harbor, so that there will be a minimum cost in handling.

The Enterprise got back to port at 4 o'clock a. m. Sunday morning, bringing 15 bags of coast mail, which arrived on Friday by the Alameda. She is now loading a large shipment of bananas from Hilo, which will be completed this morning, getting away about noon. The vessel will carry a number of cabin passengers besides Japanese steerage.

Piano Club Musicales.

The regular monthly meeting of the Piano Club was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. T. Lewis. There was a large attendance of members and friends and the program proved an exceptionally entertaining one. Miss Franc Potter and Miss Helen Severance gave a piano duet, Weber's overture "Peter Schmolli," which displayed splendid technique and harmony of expression. Miss Lilinoo Hapai gave a vocal solo "Ritornelle" from Chamade, in a pleasing manner. An instrumental solo "Etude" by Ravina, rendered by Miss Catherine Westervelt was warmly received. Mrs. Chas. Furneaux gave a reading of the composers "De Pachman and Paderewski," which proved interesting to those present. Mrs. Louise Hapai responded with a vocal selection from Verdi and Miss Caroline Potter followed with a piano solo "If I were a bird" by Henselt, both of which received hearty applause. The afternoon was closed with a magnificent rendering of "Frohlingensfranchen" from Lindling by Mrs. Jarrett T. Lewis, after which the meeting adjourned.

Salvation Army Changes.

Captain and Mrs. R. W. McLeod, who have been in charge of the local Salvation Army work, have received orders to report for duty at San Francisco and they are making preparations to depart for the coast on the Falls of Clyde. Captain Inex Barker will succeed Capt. McLeod, and Lieut. Jensen, who is second in command, will remain to assist her in the work here. Announcement is made that Col. French in charge of the work in the Hawaiian Islands will arrive overland next Sunday and will hold a meeting that night. On Monday evening Col. French will deliver an illustrated lecture, using stereopticon and moving pictures. He will also hold a meeting in Hilo on the following Thursday night, prior to his return the next day on the Kinau.

A Fashionable Milliner Here.

Mrs. John H. Lane of Battle Creek, Mich., who was formerly Miss Hutchinson, well known in Hilo and the Islands, has consented to take charge of the millinery department of L. Turner Co., Ltd. RAILROAD PROSPECTS.

President Peck of Kohala-Hilo Railroad Talks of His Trip.

Mr. Philip Peck, President of the Kohala & Hilo Railroad returned on the Mongolia from San Francisco, making close connections with the Kinau and arriving in Hilo Thursday night. He expressed himself as being much gratified with the result of his trip east, and while unwilling to make any definite promises as to the outcome of his visit to New York, he accomplished very much in the short time at his disposal. He was only three days in New York, but during that time took up the railroad project with eastern capitalists who assure him of their ability to dispose of the whole or part of the bond issue. Two trust companies, one in Pittsburgh and the other in New York are rivals for the privilege of placing the bonds, but he refused to give either a binding option for any given length of time.

Owing to the custom of banking and financial institutions in the east closing up their business for the year from January 1st to 31st, Mr. Peck said nothing could be accomplished by his remaining longer in New York, and he had returned to the islands to be present at the stockholders meeting, which occurs in Honolulu on January 23rd. At that time the proposition made by the two trust companies will be laid before the Company, and he hoped before the end of the month to close negotiations with one or the other of the parties bidding for the bonds.

Mr. Peck was much provoked by the two suits against the railroad which had been pressed to judgment during his absence, and was frank to confess the information which had been cabled to him that an attempt was being made to issue execution against the leasehold and terminal site, had very greatly embarrassed his operations in the East. If the persons behind these actions had the prosperity and best interests of the community at heart, neither would hamper the railroad project with embarrassing litigation. Referring to the merits of the two claims, Mr. Peck said the indebtedness for which these two suits were brought, were incurred prior to his taking hold of the project and if correct, they would ultimately be paid. The railroad is not now, however, in a position to meet these claims, and he regretted exceedingly that the parties interested had begun legal proceedings. The suits referred to were those of Walker & Howland and of J. E. Fullerton, in both of which cases judgments had been rendered against the Kohala-Hilo Railroad.

Mr. Peck spoke of the prevailing snow storms in the Eastern States, causing the City of New York an expense of $380,000 to remove the snow which had fallen in 24 hours. They employed 13,000 men during the day and 10,000 men at night and 4,000 teams to get the business streets clear of snow, which impeded railroad and street travel. He returns in the best of spirits, much improved in health and appearance and expects shortly to be able to make public a report of his trip which will restore confidence in the much delayed railroad from Hilo to Mahukona.

Dissolution of Partnership.

Frank E. Thompson of Honolulu came to Hilo last Thursday and formally took charge of the affairs of the Hilo Wine & Liquor Co., having been appointed temporary receiver by the First Circuit Court in proceedings in equity instituted by Seely I. Shaw for dissolution of partnership of the firm of S. I. Shaw and Co. The firm consists of Seely I. Shaw of Honolulu and J. S. Canario of Hilo, doing a wholesale liquor business in Honolulu under the name of Shaw & Co., and in Hilo under the name of Hilo Wine & Liquor Co. They also operate a general retail business with branch establishments in Hilo and Olua. There has been considerable friction between the partners for some time, to such an extent that they have been unable to agree as to the terms of dissolution.

The disagreement has resulted in throwing the whole matter into court, the appointment of a temporary receiver and a division of the assets of the firm. No question has been raised as to solvency of the firm and it is stated that there are no difficulties in the way of final adjustment of the differences between the two partners. E. E. Richards has been placed in charge of the local establishment, by mutual agreement between the parties, and as soon the difficulties between the two partners are arranged, J. S. Canario expects to resume business on his own account in Hilo. Both the Olua Saloon and the Hilo Saloon, as well as the Hilo Wine and Liquor Co., are open and doing business as usual. From outward appearances, an outsider would never suspect any change had occurred in the management.

Mattoon Rejected.

Governor Carter has sent an answer to James Mattoon, a Hilo politician who had registered a kick because he had not been given a job on the police force as a reward for political work, as had been promised him. Mattoon's application was endorsed by Sheriff Andrews and sent to the Governor for approval by the High Sheriff. The Governor looked up Mattoon's record and on finding that "the appointment of Mr. Mattoon would not be any credit to the administration," so informed the applicant.
