Fruit Growers Attention

This is bound to be the biggest consignment year on fruits that we have had for years. By this we do not mean there will be no cash buyers in the field, as there will be some, but they will buy only as fast as they can sell and this will be limited.

Existing conditions, meaning the railroad strike and conditions following it over the country make it imperative that any concern that is going to handle your crop must know it very soon, so that they can prepare for it by buying baskets, boxes, paper, etc. to handle your crop to the best advantage, therefore the GEM FRUIT UNION taking this stand wishes to announce that it will not accept any additional tonnage after August 31st.

The GEM FRUIT UNION is owned and controlled by LOCAL FRUIT GROWERS, who claim the largest average returns on all their fruits for the past five years, and are willing to take on a few new accounts each year as is consistent with their growth in the industry.
