ANTICIPATE PROSPERITY

Atlanta merchants and others anticipate a lively and prosperous season this summer, and are preparing to meet increased demands of trade. The mercantile establishments are laying in unusually heavy supplies of stock, one prominent business house—Henry Crab—having contracted with John Burton to transport from the freight warehouse here 7000 pounds every 10 days, requiring the operation of two 4-horse teams. As a matter of fact, Freighter Burton is already exceeding this figure, being compelled to run three teams of four horses each.

In view of the growing business demands in the outlying mining districts—and, in fact, all of the territory within our natural sphere of influence—the merchants and others who have at heart the commercial development of Mountain Home should lose no time in forming a Board of Trade, or some similar organization, through which united and effective effort could be directed. This powerful lever, necessary to healthy growth and commercial stability, has already been delayed too long. Boise men are now engaged in raising sufficient capital to construct a first-class wagon road from their city to Atlanta, realizing the financial benefits following such improvements. With a good highway between the two places, Boise, of course, would naturally attract the winter trade; and unless some suitable effort is made in behalf of Mountain Home, to attract and hold the business which, under favorable conditions, would naturally come to us, Boise—and other progressive communities—will soon be fattening on the cream of commerce, while we—well, perhaps we may get a little of the skimmed milk.

The Walla Walla Daily Union conducts a "Prize Story Department" in each Sunday issue, the contestants being pupils from the various educational institutions. In the issue of May 21 appeared contributions from Edward Mason, Caroline Wasson and Grace Sweetzer, all in the Freshman class of Whitman College. Edward Mason's story, "A Baby Missing," was awarded first prize by the judges, who, on that occasion, were Prof. O. S. Jones, city superintendent of public schools; Rev. Austin Rice, pastor of the Congregational church, and Miss Elizabeth Hancock, of the faculty of St. Paul's school—all university graduates. Caroline Wasson's story, "The Dummy," received First Honorable Mention, and Grace Sweetzer's, "A New Experience With the Indian Race," Second Honorable Mention. Edward Mason's friends in Mountain Home will be pleased to know that the editor of the Story Department says that he "is regarded as one of the most popular freshmen in his division, and during his attendance at the institution he has attracted to him a large number of friends."

GOOD MAGAZINE

The May number of The Westerner magazine, published in Seattle, has made its appearance. The plans of the publishers are to represent, or interpret, the West with stories, sketches, poems, and articles of travel and research—the very best obtainable—and to sell the magazine at a subscription price of twenty-five cents the year.

The magazine contains the best photographs yet printed of the Igorrote tribe of dog-eating Filipinos, who will exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Fair. According to the writer in The Westerner, there are in the Philippines but two tribes lower in the scale of humanity than the Igorrotes. These are the Negritos and the Linguanes. It is only within the past sixty years that a feeble ray of civilization has fallen upon the savage darkness of these lives.

BRUNEAU, Idaho, May 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hawes and Miss Pearl Hawes have returned from Three Creek.
The postoffice inspector spent a few days in Bruneau last week.

Wm. Austin is in the valley.
Grover Marlatt returned to Three Creek Thursday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Caudle, who will visit there for a few weeks.
Mrs. John Pinkston went to the mountains the first of the week.
Several new members are to be initiated into the Rebekah lodge at the next regular meeting.

Don't let the children suffer. If they are fretful, peevish and cross, give them Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. The best baby tonic known. Strength and health follow its use. 35 cents. Roscoe W. Smith.

Word came from Chas. Magden and family, last week, to the effect that they had been on the go nearly all the time since they left here. They halted at Boise and points farther on, went over to Golden-dale, Washington, and then back to Hood River, Oregon, where they are now. Their little boy Paul, who was sick when they left, is well.
