

UNCOVERS CITY OF 2,500 B. C.

Pennsylvania Scientist Reports on Excavations at Beth-Shan, Palestine.

Philadelphia.—Remains of the ancient city of Beth-Shan in Northern Palestine, dating back as far as 2,500 B. C., have been uncovered by Dr. Clarence S. Fisher's research party...

Already several important discoveries have been made dating back to the time when the Semites are supposed to have entered Palestine, about 2,500 B. C., and it is believed that remains of an even earlier period will be located.

University museum authorities here believe Doctor Fisher's excavations promise to throw much light on Biblical times and perhaps even on the life of a thousand years before Abraham.

Went to Bury Wife; Found Her Remarried

George Doering, a McKitchen (Kan.) farmer, went to Pueblo, Colo., to arrange for the burial of his former wife, who had written Doering a letter, he said, intimating that she would be dead when he arrived, and asking him to take care of their boy Wilbur, eight years old.

Arriving in Pueblo, Doering read in a paper of her marriage to Fred Montes the day he arrived. Doering went to the home of his former wife and her newly acquired husband, and took charge of the boy, but his former wife failed to explain her letter to him.

Hurt in an unusual accident when a handcar on a railroad was thrown from the tracks near Tendoy, Ida., after striking a telephone wire laying across the rails, John Kelly, a section foreman, 62 years, is in a serious condition.

Bids have been called for on two miles of the state highway connecting Bonners Ferry with the Canadian border. The cost of the work is estimated at $28,000.

DON'T RISK NEGLECT

Don't neglect a constant backache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Doan's Kidney Pills as have your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor! A Blackfoot case.

Mrs. W. H. Palmer, 615 W. Pacific St., Blackfoot, says: "I suffered lots with my back. At times it was so lame and sore, I could hardly do my work. To lift the lightest thing caused sharp darting pains through my kidneys and my back felt as though it were broken. I also had dizzy spells and nervous headaches and I could tell that the trouble was from my kidneys by the way they acted. I found Doan's Kidney Pills the best remedy for that trouble. Doan's cured the complaint quickly." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Palmer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. PARLEY OUTCOME IS NOW APPARENT

MINOR DETAILS ALONE REMAIN TO BE WORKED OUT; RESULT CALLED U. S. VICTORY

Bitterness Between France and England Growing Intense As Sessions Progress; Japan Well Pleased With Conference

Washington.—The conference of Washington is practically over. All that remains to be done is minor and despite present superficial quarrels and bickerings, the results could be written today. These results will be:

1. The limitation of naval construction, plus measurably scrapping the existing units.

2. The postponement and not impossible prevention of an American-Japanese war.

3. The acceptance on the part of each country of a set of abstract principles in the far east without any form of guarantee for their application.

4. In some way, not yet quite clear, the elimination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The price of the first achievement is the surrender by the United States of the power placed in its hands by the last war to become the supreme naval country of the world.

The price of the second result will be the recognition of the special rights and interests of Japan in all of the far east, but particularly in Manchuria, such recognition duly testified to by the surrender on the part of Great Britain and the United States of that naval power which would permit successful challenge.

The price which the United States will receive in return for the acceptance of the third point will be a Japanese agreement to retire from Shantung and from Siberia. The disappearance of the Anglo-Japanese alliance will be the compensation that Mr. Hughes will receive for not pressing the far eastern question as it had been expected it would be pressed in the beginning.

These results will be regarded in the United States as a great victory for Mr. Hughes and for American diplomacy on the continent of diplomacy. On the continent of Europe the Washington conference has already been hailed as a victory for British diplomacy even more completed and far-reaching than that of the Paris conference.

In Great Britain there will be a tendency to depreciate British achievement and regret that no greater curb has been placed on Japan, no serious effort made to reduce French arms, and finally no closer association between the United States and Great Britain actually arranged. Nevertheless, the British people will rejoice in the escape from a naval competition with the United States, which they could not afford, or from a voluntary surrender of sea supremacy to which they could not reconcile themselves.

Not improbably the Washington conference will be instantly attacked by many so-called liberals the world over as offering no relief for existing afflictions of the world and representing no forward step toward international association or toward the league of nations.

On the other hand there will be a general disposition in this country and England to accept Mr. Hughes estimate and regard the Washington conference as a first step in the direction of international understanding. Mr. Hughes' conception that the way to begin was to begin, and that the limitation of naval armaments was the one specific and definite thing which could be done has prevailed, has made the conference what it has been, and the ultimate success or failure will depend on whether, as Mr. Hughes believes, the present session proves a beginning or an isolated incident.

One further consequence of the Washington conference is likely to be the final dissolution of Anglo-French ties. The bitterness here between the two nations has been more acute than is generally known. M. Briand and Mr. Balfour, for example, have never called upon each other or met except in the accident of the conference or on social occasion. French support of the American thesis in the matter of submarines has aroused a British resentment which is likely to disclose itself in a startling fashion after the conference.

Governor Assassinated

Buenos Aires—Doctor Amable Jones, governor of the province of San Juan, was assassinated Monday by a man armed with rifles as he was alighting from an automobile. A friend who was with him also was killed. The assassination is attributed to politics.

Boys Drink Wood Alcohol

New York—Three boys, two of them 14 and the other 13, were in a hospital Sunday at the point of death from wood alcohol poisoning. John Turillo, the only one who could speak, told detectives that five of them had found a bottle in the street containing something that smelled like whiskey and each took a drink. One of those in the hospital was found unconscious in the street. The other two have not been heard from.

IDAHO NEWS REVIEW

Capital stock and surplus of all state depository banks, numbering 185, total $11,532,696.58, according to a certification made to the state treasurer by the director of the bureau of public accounts.

The fact that the farmers of the Nampa section are being paid more than three thousand dollars a day in cash for their milk products, has stimulated interest in other sections both among the farmers and banking and business interests.

Births in Idaho were more than three times the number of deaths in the same time, according to the monthly report of the vital statistics section of the department of public welfare. Boys for the first time in months outnumbered girls in the birth record by totalling 509 as against 488 for girls.

Tales of unemployment, woodpiles and resultant distress were told the city fathers of Boise at a council meeting by E. L. McBride, self-termel "vagrant," when he presented a petition, signed by 100 jobless men, requesting some solution to the problem of the unemployed.

Maximino Silva, 35, shot and instantly killed his brother, Antonio, at Nampa recently. The shooting was the termination of a long standing difference between the two, a sum of money owed and the alleged threatening of Mrs. M. Silva by Antonio, being causes.

The State of Idaho now owns a forested area (including barren or grazing lands, young timber growth and merchantable timber within such area) of 723,000 acres. Of this acreage there is about 580,000 acres in northern Idaho and about 143,000 acres in southern Idaho.

Boise's poor and unemployed got a real treat just because a baker left out the salt in stirring up a batch of 1000 loaves of bread. Half of the batch was sent to the city welfare director and the rest to the Salvation Army. The supply was quickly disposed of, some mothers carrying home to their families as many as eight loaves.

The dairy survey being made by Ben H. Busman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is bringing in a great many requests for more cows from the farmers and dairymen of the community. This information is being received through the questionnaires mailed out to farmers and left at cream stations and the cheese factory for the farmers to fill out.

An organized ring of drug peddlers, has been broken up by the police at Pocatello. The raids were conducted with the utmost secrecy until all of the gang had been taken. Several hundred dollars' worth of morphine, cocaine and opium have been seized, as well as the paraphernalia for smoking and using various drugs.

Hugh Sproat, president of the Idaho Woolgrowers' association, returned from Washington, D. C., where he went in the interest of a permanent tariff on wool, declared the growers are satisfied with the emergency tariff, as it provides more protection on wool than they had ever hoped for. The duty on wool in the grease is 15 cents a pound, and 45 cents on scoured wool.

F. S. Moore of the Emmett forest office denounces as untrue and ridiculous the stories going the rounds concerning the burning of hay and homes belonging to squatters in Bear valley, in the Payette forest. Two huts that had been deserted and were practically worthless as places of habitation, and were a menace to the surrounding timber were burned by order of the forest service.

A committee has been formed at Rupert to launch an organization to furnish credit for farmers, to buy dairy cows through the war finance corporation. This committee will confer with the bankers in the county, take out incorporation papers and begin business at once. It is formed to encourage the dairy industry in this section. The paid up capital is said to be fixed at $30,000.

Mayor Ralph Louis and Chief of Police Carlson are taking drastic steps to put an end to the wave of hold-ups and house-breaking in Idaho Falls. Every man not being able to give a strict account of himself is being brought into police headquarters for investigation. In addition to this Mayor Louis has authorized the chief to put on as many men as are necessary to completely patrol the streets in the residence district.

Bids for the construction of that part of the Boise-Mountain Home road near Indian creek have been opened. The stretch is about four miles long and state highway officers expect to let the work soon and complete it this fall.

Receipts of the state fish and game bureau for the first seven months of 1921-22 biennium were more than $74,000, according to an audit and examination of the accounts of the department made by the bureau of public accounts.

STABILITY COMES IN WOOL MARKET

UTAH SECRETARY OF NATIONAL WOOLGROWERS' ASSOCIATION RETURNS FROM CAPITAL

Reaction in Market Line to Bring Wool Business Back to Former Days; No More Free Wool to Be Admitted to Country

Salt Lake—Woolmen throughout the United States have every reason to rejoice, according to Frank R. Marshall, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, who has returned to Salt Lake from Washington, D. C. The market has reacted strongly to the assurance that no more free wool now can be admitted to the country under the present administration through the unprecedented action of both houses in extending the emergency tariff law until the regular tariff bill can be passed. "This puts the market in a position of stability," said Mr. Marshall Thursday. "Until this action was taken there was always the possibility of a period of free wool. There is a huge quantity of foreign wool in bonded warehouses at ports of entry. If one hour elapsed admitting free wool there would have been a great flood."

"One small importer said that one hour of free wool would have netted him $10,000. The action of congress shows the government's interest in the agriculture of the country. It shows an appreciation of keeping our farms, herds and flocks in condition to supply our requirements."

"Prices have been improving gradually for several weeks. Now the uncertainty is removed, things are back to the basis of demand in relation to supply and possible imports. While the emergency tariff remains, grease wools must pay 15 cents per pound; skirted wools 30 cents, and scoured wools, 45 cents."

According to the department of agriculture's report issued on September 30 the amount of wool on hand in the country is four hundred million pounds, which is much less than many believed.

"This is a very little more than the normal stock for this time of the year. Wool is being consumed in this country at a rapid rate. Most of the large er mills have orders that will last only until February. It seems certain that the wool market must take a pronounced upward tendency.

"The woolgrowers were the first ones to feel the deflation of May, 1920, and it seems now as if they would be the first to recover. The regular tariff bill will be passed to the satisfaction of the woolgrowers."

Mr. Marshall was one of the committee of leading woolmen and agriculturists of the United States who appeared before the senate finance committee to urge the immediate extension of the emergency tariff bill until the passage of the regular tariff bill on wool.

American Falls, a modern city, developed in accordance with the principle of the latest and best practice in city planning, comfortable, beautiful and prosperous is the aim and object of the United States reclamation service in the plan made public there for the first time last week. Properly designed and conveniently located streets, large residential lots, spacious parks, intimate contact with the original town, general consolidation and accessible are some of the features of the new plan.
