SENATOR VAN HOESEN SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY

"The best education is the one that best fits us for our life work," State Senator D.W. Van Hoesen of Mesa, told University of Idaho students at their regular assembly in advocating the advantages of a small college or university. He urged university students to make their institution "not the largest but the best of its kind."

I have always been a firm believer in and I have always advocated the small college or university he continued in telling of his visitation with his son of all the institutions of higher education in the Pacific northwest and of the selection by his son and by himself of the University of Idaho.

Senator Van Hoesen praised the tendency toward practical courses in institutions of learning instead of the "old iron-bound classical courses."

Senator Van Hoesen's son, E.G. Van Hoesen, was graduated from the University of Idaho last year.

MARINES WILL COMB RANKS TO SELECT BEST RIFLEMEN

Washington—The crack shots of the Marine Corps who will be pitted against the best of the other service and national guard teams in the National Matches to be held at Camp Perry, O., in September, will be chosen this spring in what promises to be the keenest competition in the history of the leathernecks. A series of eight competitions, ranging from coast to coast and including the West Indies, will begin on May first at Guantanamo, Cuba, and will determine the personnel of the rifle and pistol teams of the Marine Corps, and also determine the individual championships.

Following a new rule barring a certain number of veteran shots from membership on the National Match team, fully fifty per cent of the marines selected by the series of competitions must be developed from raw material. Major Ralf S. Keyser, who was Intelligence Officer of the Second Division overseas, will pilot the Marine Corps team this year.

APROPOS OF SPRING.

We've stood the howl of winter, an' endured the dismal days, when the pesky zero stung us an' the gripe was everywhar, and the weather-man so reckless, piled it on us forty ways, as we coughed an' sneezed an' shivered every time we struck the air. We carried in the fuel, an' we set around the blaze, sorter wonderin' what would happen if the winter never quit, an' our mind went back to summer with its glorious fishin' days, especially the Sundays when the biggest suckers bit. Now at last we're on the threshold of another joyous spring, when the sun busts all the rivits that has held the clouds together, an' she'll warm the laughin' waters as they tinkle down the streams, sorter chordin' with the red-bird as he sings about the weather. Then rally round the pancakes, an' the luscious maple sap—a man could preach a sermon on the early mess of greens. The bluebells an' the butter-cups are wakin' from their nap—it's time to dig the sassafras an' plant our kidney beans.

Your own,
UNCLE JOHN.
