

FEELING TENSE IN ENGLAND

EARLE C. REEVES
(STAFF CORRESPONDENT IN SERVICE)
LONDON, Nov. 27.—Both houses of parliament were ordered closed to all visitors today.

This extraordinary measure, taken only on rare previous occasions in Britain's history, is attributed to well-informed quarters to a "tip" believed to have been received by the government that the much rumored Sinn Fein attack is due to be attempted today.

JUST A PRECAUTION
The official explanation given shortly after the public announcement of the closing, was that the order was given as a "precautionary measure for the protection of the government offices in case of possible trouble."

The historic gray building at No. 10 Downing street, headquarters of the government and official residence of Prime Minister Lloyd George is thoroughly barricaded. A special force of guards, heavily armed, stands in front and both ends of White Hall are being patrolled by equally heavy guards.

BRITISH LEARN LESSON.
The government, it was pointed out, learned a valuable lesson on the occasion of the recent Whitehall riot by the army of the unemployed that came near culminating in the storming of the prime minister's official home.

The Globe flatly declares that the barricading at No. 10 Downing street is a precaution against a "Sinn Fein plot."

"When will they strike, and where?" is a question on all lips. Public feeling has been strained to a high pitch of nervousness and anxiety by the constantly recurring official utterances during the week to the effect that the government has in its possession convincing evidence that Sinn Fein planned—and probably still plans—to carry its fight to the heart of Britain's governmental authority.

PLOT AGAINST GEORGE.
Stories of a plot to kill Lloyd George, first exclusively called by the International News service early this week, and since officially confirmed in the face of original scolding in some quarters, are again making the rounds today and fear for the premier's life is the dominant note in the public tension. Newspapers are snatched up eagerly and scanned very carefully for news concerning the movements of the first official of the empire.

IRELAND IS STIRRED.
The arrest yesterday of Arthur Griffith, acting president of the "Republic of Ireland," and idol of the Sinn Feiners whose organization he founded, has stirred rebellious sentiment in Erin to fever heat, all Irish news dispatches show, and nothing in the way of separate acts on the part of his sympathizers would surprise London. Sinn Fein is known to have a remarkably efficient and thorough-going secret service in London, with ramifications extending even to government offices.

Not since the war has the public of this capital been in the grip of such anxiety.

wrest it from the other.

The alleged insult of a nurse by the physician is given by Burkhardt as the cause for the life and death grapple which lasted half an hour, ending only when both dropped from sheer exhaustion, bathed in blood. The doctor denies knowing the nurse. The doctor and Burkhardt admit they had never seen each other before.

Dr. McElroy says he was telephoning when Burkhardt entered unannounced, told him, "I come to get you," whipping out the razor. Burkhardt says the physician got the razor out of a trunk. While the battle went on the telephone girl downstairs heard moans and curses mingling with the clinking of steel and crashing of furniture.

She sent the hotel manager up.

Dr. McElroy, who spent four years in France, was gassed at Ypres and wounded twice, said the war was nothing as compared with his battle with Burkhardt.

"It was his life or mine," he added. Burkhardt may die.

FUR BEARING ANIMALS PROTECTED

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 26.—Game wardens of the state department of conservation report finding far less skunks and other small fur-bearers clogged up this year than usual prior to the open season, evidence that there is a better understanding of the law against keeping fur-bearing animals in captivity in this state. In the past it was frequently the custom for persons to catch these animals in the fall and closed season and hold them until early winter when the fur is prime.

Indiana game laws prohibit the taking of fur-bearers in closed or protected seasons. It is lawful to catch skunks and other fur-bearers in the open season, but if it is planned to hold them for propagating purposes, it is necessary at the state of the closed season to procure a certificate from the state department to show that the fur-bearers are being held in captivity for fur farming. Such fur farms so designated by the certificate are at frequent intervals inspected by officials from the division of fish and game.

LACEYS ENJOY VISIT FROM SON

Mr. and Mrs. William Lacey, 1211 Moraine avenue, Hammond, were able to enjoy a brief visit with their son, Raymond, who is attached to the U. S. battleship New Mexico, Sunday. They received a telegram informing them that he would pass through Chicago on his way to Providence, R. I., and that he would have a few minutes between trains.

Raymond was the fortunate man to be selected from 1,400 jockies to take the 12-months training course at the naval torpedo school at Providence. He has his choice of anything in the mechanical line, civil engineering, etc. He served two and a half years in the navy during the war and during that time visited France, England, Ireland, Panama and the west coast of the United States. After receiving his discharge every Saturday night at Unity Hall, music by "Husk" O'Hare, Gents 55 cents, ladies 30 cents. 11-26-

ORPHEUM SHOW

Twenty trained cockatoos, which go under the name of Nellie's Pets are the feature attraction on the Orpheum theater bill for today and Sunday. This without doubt the greatest bird act on the road. At the same time Lee Hing Ching, the Chinese wonder worker, will show off. The other acts on the bill are Irene and Douglas Carberry, singing and dancing specialists; Hamilton Walton, character impersonator; Copeland and Baryton, comedians; Hayden, Goodwin and Rowe, a musical number. Manager Michelstetter calls special attention to "Title Pages," the miniature musical comedy with ten people in the cast which comes for Monday and Tuesday of next week.

VICTIMS OF CAVE-IN ARE RECOVERING

Tony Kommit, 1231 Massachusetts street and J. D. Nichols, 4288 Massachusetts street, Gary, the two victims of the cave-in yesterday morning are reported much improved today and will be able to be at their work next week.

They were injured yesterday morning in a cave-in at 16th avenue and Grant street. They were engaged in digging a sewer and were caught beneath a small avalanche of earth when the supports gave way burying the two men beneath the earth and debris. They were rescued by other workmen.

JOSEPH MORRIS SELLS BOTTLING WORKS

One of the late real estate and business transactions to be consummated was recorded yesterday when Joseph Morris, owner of the Morris Bottling Works of Gary, disposed of his business for a consideration of $15,000. The new owner is Joseph Levak.

The Morris Bottling Works is located at 1825 Adams street and was organized by Mr. Morris about ten years ago. Mr. Morris, who is one of Gary's pioneer residents lost his wife several weeks ago, and if he does not change his present plans will probably leave the city.

RED CROSS DRIVE FIGURES FOR GARY

Additional members brought Gary's total in the Red Cross roll call up to $7,700 yesterday according to Chairman Robert Phillips at the county headquarters at the Gary Commercial club.

Although the drive has lagged a considerable extent, Chairman Phillips seemed confident that the county still has a good chance to go over last year's total, inasmuch as the work is still going forward throughout the county.

AT THE DE LUXE

Can you fancy beautiful Gloria Swanson dressed in rags and tatters? Remember the many gorgeous gowns which have become so much a part of Miss Swanson as a result of her success in "Don't Change Your Husband," "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?"

And yet rags and tatters are Miss Swanson's portion through a large portion of the story of Cecil E. De Mille's Paramount picture "Something to Think About" which will be shown at the DeLuxe Theatre for 5 days commencing Sunday.

"Something to Think About" represents a new departure in the type of role portrayed by Miss Swanson. As Ruth Anderson, the talented young actress had abundant opportunity to display her abilities. The role carries Miss Swanson through the entire emotional gamut and it is conditionally expected that this production will earn for her an additional host of admirers.

DOCTOR AND HOTEL MAN IN DUEL

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Dr. John W. McElroy, a six foot athlete, war veteran and member of a prominent Atlanta family, was resting on a $2,500 hotel today after spending the night in jail, nursing a score of razor wounds and bruises, and Ralph Burkhardt, a New York apartment house manager, lies in a precarious condition at St. Vincent hospital with deep razor slashes on the side of his neck and one across the Adams apple. The two men fought a terrific duel last night in Dr. McElroy's hotel room. Both are charged with felonious assault.

Both deny owning the razor which was the main weapon in the fight, changing hands whenever one could.
